HEARST RANCH,
San Simeon, Cal., Nov. 30.

GREECE DOES not beat about the bush or ask Uncle Sam to forget her debt. She borrowed twelve and a half millions in 1927, and in good diplomatic language says she will not pay it. You will soon hear from others.

GERMANY IS all mixed up on government matters, no one thus far able to form a cabinet. But she has Von Hindenburg at the helm, and is rid of reparations payments. It might be worse.

THERE IS little doubt that Congress will say "pay or default." Senator Capper, of Kansas, says:

"The people in my state will never stand for modification or cancellation."

You would not either, if you had been selling wheat at the F. O. B. Kansas farm-price.

Senator Hiram Johnson says:

"They can and must pay."

They, at least the big ones, can pay, for they have the gold. But there is no "must." They can also default, and there would be no war about it.

THE AMERICAN Federation of Labor convention in Cincinnati yesterday denounced private workmen's compensation companies as "parasites, cancers and racketeers," and demanded a state fund compensation plan.

Ohio's state system is 37 per cent below charges by private companies.

SENATOR WAGNER, of New York, demands that men employed on government construction projects shall work only 30 hours a week. That would mean five days of six hours each, or any other arrangement of days and hours agreed upon.

Contractors should be consulted as to distribution of hours, in connection with effective use of building materials and machines. Let machines work as MANY hours, men as FEW hours, as possible.

In days to come a six-hour day will seem long.

It is not very long since women in New England mills worked from daylight to dark. They would have worked longer, had there been electric lights, then.

ADMIRAL NOGANO, chief of Japan's naval delegation at the disarmament conference, should be imported to deliver lectures on national common sense in Washington, D. C.

Says he, to the League of Nations and disarmament gentlemen:

"Japan will not accept or agree to anything that may weaken the defensive power or decrease the security of Japan."

WASHINGTON believes that England will make the $95,000,000 payment due next month "if the United States insists." Payment would be made in bar gold, enough ounces of gold to equal in value $95,000,000, at our dollar price of gold.

It is a business matter with England. Her Prime Minister's financial advisers believe that default would be more disastrous than payment of the gold bars.

GOV. ROOSEVELT, at Warm Springs, Ga., is working on problems of national economy. "Drastic consolidations within the Navy Department" are included in his program. Gov. Roosevelt knows the Navy, having been assistant secretary, and believes that economies are possible, without weakening our "first line of defense."

Some day, when airplanes and submarines are recognized as our first line of defense and 90 per cent of all our defense against aggression from across the water, national defense will not cost so much.

LEARN FROM Henry Ford that when you live temperately, wisely, as he has done, there is not much to fear from surgery. Only three days past a major surgical operation, his temperature, pulse and respiration are already normal, and he is safely past the period during which "post-operative infection" dedevelops in some cases.

Mr. Ford is in a hurry to get back to work, and his doctors promise to release him next week, which is good news for the whole country.

ANOTHER DAY of Wall Street sobs, with more "new low prices," for various things. Silver was cheaper than ever, but you might see a sudden change there. The British pound fell down again, lower than ever. Even the powerful French franc was wobbly in spite of the big operation that officially cut off 80 per cent of its value, and despite the huge gold treasure in the Bank of France.

Stocks, strangely, did not reflect other conditions. Wall Street has supped so full of horrors, since 1929, that no little scare has much effect.

THE GRAND champion lamb at the Los Angeles stock show sold yesterday for $4.10 per pound, interesting to sheep farmers everywhere. They would be more interested to hear of average lambs, not grand champions, selling at $4.10 a pound, or without the four dollars, just for 10 cents. Lambs are selling now at 5 cents a pound, top price for live weight.

The prize lamb, a Southdown, sold for $369, highest price paid anywhere this year. The sad thing is that the lamb does not know about it, and gets none of the money.

EATON PLANS ATTACK ON SHELBY'S SECRECY

Inquiry to Continue Despite Opposition Of P. S. C. Men

By E. W. PRENDERGAST
Staff Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 30.—The Rial Committee today, after an eexcutive session, instructed its counsel, O. K. Eaton, to proceed in all pending litigation against the committee.

It also ordered that members of the Public Service Commission be asked to recommend changes in public utility laws, and that Eaton and Dr. John G. Hervy prepare legislation.

The effect of three orders was to ackowledge the five restraining orders of the courts and the calling off of open hearings, one of which was slated for today.

BALK SHELBY RECORDS

This meant that the bank and other records of S. Ray Shelby, of Uniontown, Public Service Commissioner, will not be presented.

Eaton told the committee he would go to Uniontown tomorrow to seek to intervene in the injunction case of Shelby, and attempt to establish the legality of the committee's subpena.

Meanwhile, Eaton said, he would, with his assistants, continue the investigating program, adding:

"We are also trying to investigate another large utility system."

Eaton also told the committee that they had promised to return minute books of the Pennsylvania Electric Company on condition that the firm give him duplicates. The duplicates differed from the orignal, however, he said, continuing:

"If there was a meeting today, I intended to continue questioning W. A. Reiber, whose testimony was interrupted at the closing of the last hearing.

"I wanted to ask him about a certain page in the minute book, which differs from one certified to the Public Service Commission. I wanted to find if the company kept two sets of books."

TAKES FIGHT TO COURT

The committee's counsel also explained that the order of intervention, which he intended to ask in Fayette courts tomorrow, would make members of the committee defendants in the Shelby injunction suit, as well as the Second National Bank. The injunction prevents the committee from subpenaing Shelby's bank records.

Dr. John G. Hervy, of Temple University, economist with the committee, is already preparing recommendations to the Legislature on public utility laws, Eaton explained.

Kline Orders Aides to Cut Budget

SOCIETY GIRL 'TELLS ALL' ON STAND

Accuses Riding Master Of Betrayal; Shows No Emotion

By DOROTHY DUCAS
International News Service.

NEW CITY, N. Y., Nov. 30. — Charlotte Gibson, Rockland County society girl, faced the man the state is prosecuting for her betrayal before a judge and jury today.

Taking the witness stand as the first witness against Sidney Herbert Homewood, riding master, she began the exciting drama of her episode with her former suitor. She "told all" without a quaver.

Charlotte took the stand after District Attorney Henry V. Stebbins charged she yielded to Homewood because he made it appear her submission was a part of their troth.

HOMEWOOD UNMOVED

Homewood listened with stolid face while Stebbins told how he had won the confidence of the society girl by informing her he had broken his engagement to Miss Elizabeth Bishop, of Wheaton College, until then she would have nothing to do with him.

Miss Gibson, in a low, cultivated voice, told how she met Homewood at his riding academy five years ago, where she came with her mother for a lesson.

She looked steadily into Homewood's drawn face as the District Attorney inquired:

"Is this the man?"

"Yes."

VOICE TREMBLES

The only time her voice trembled was when she said "Yes, sir" to the question, "Are you unmarried?" She is to be a mother in three weeks.

She went into great detail about the lessons she took in jumping last year, referring always to the man she claims is the father of her unborn child as "the defendant." She rode one of his horses in a horse show at Cresskill, N. J., she narrated, then again in Stamford, Conn., a year ago last July—and at this show Miss Gibson herself made reservation at Cut City Taxes!

Mayor Kline has turned over to City Council an untrimmed budget which, it is estimated, if put into effect, would require a 7-mill increase in taxes.

Following are the opinions of some of Pittsburgh's leaders concerning the tax situation:

Francis S. Guthrie, president of the Home Loan Bank:

"I don't think there is a question in anybody's mind. Taxes must be reduced or we are going bankrupt."

R. L. McKallip, chairman Community Research Bureau of Pittsburgh Real Estate Board:

"We can only look with hope and confidence to the members of Council to reduce the budget as presented in keeping with necessities of the times and the ability of the people to pay. Luxurious activities and overlapping departments must be eliminated and the payroll must realize it can not longer continue on boom-day prices."

A. C. Robinson, president of the Peoples Pittsburgh Trust Company:

"The owners of real estate in the city of Pittsburgh simply cannot stand any increases in taxes. What they really should have is a reduction in order to compensate for the falling off in rents and in business profits."

Edgar J. Kaufmann, president Retail Merchants' Association:

"An increase in taxes would affect directly every householder, and very definitely would reduce further the purchasing power of the entire community. Not only would it decrease the purchasing power of the individual, but business would necessarily add taxes to the selling price of merchandise. Thus, an increase in taxes reduces the amount of merchandise that can be consumed, and consequently reduces employment. Therefore, we have a vicious circle which retards business recovery."

John S. Fisher, former Governor of Pennsylvania:

"I think that all possible means of reducing the cost of city government should be used before any additional taxes are levied."

Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of Carnegie Institute of Technology:

The question of reducing the cost of government is of the very first importance. Even if times were normal the expense of carrying on the federal, state and municipal administration would be too high. Recovery is being held back because of the many burdens that citizens are compelled to carry on account of taxation. Business, philanthropic and educational organizations are reducing their budgets. Taxes certainly must be reduced.

MAYOR BOWS TO COUNCIL DEMAND

All Departments Must Slash '33 Requests, Herron Declares

Mayor Charles H. Kline today told his department heads to reduce their budget estimates.

Following a three-hour cabinet meeting, the Mayor said:

"I told the department heads to cut things down to the core and comply with the wishes of council. That's all I have to say."

To reduce the budget sufficiently to allow for decreased tax collections estimated for next year and to absorb the existing $2,000,000 city deficit, it would be necessary for Council to cut about $4,800,000 out of the proposed appropriations.

The budget sent to Council by the Mayor totals $25,206,228. If it were passed at that figure, an increase of seven mills in city taxes would be necessary.

PAYROLL 'PROTECTED'

A study of the budget as it came from the Mayor's office shows that the payroll was completely protected and that all responsibility for payroll cuts was passed along to Council. And Council has accepted the responsibility of cutting it down to fit the city's income.

John S. Herron, president of Council, quickly made it clear yesterday that the budget must be cut drastically in every department. Herron declared that the budget that came from the Mayor's office might as well have been sent over two months ago for all the good it does at present.

Public Works Director Edward G. Lang, called before Council, admitted that bureaus can be consolidated and economies effected in his department. However, he asked for the co-operation of Council, saying:

QUESTION ON BUDGET

Councilman P. J. McArdle asked whether the budget that came from the Mayor's office was the estimate of the Mayor or that of the department heads. Herron said he did not know.

Safety Director James M. Clark was told he would have to reduce

PINCHOT BACKS WATER FIGHT

HARRISBURG, Nov. 30.—A delegation of Mt. Lebanon business men today met Gov. Pinchot and asked his "moral support" in their battle to reduce the rates of the South Pittsburgh Water Company.

Pinchot, declaring he could take no direct action, expressed his sympathy. A hearing before the Public Service Commission on the rate project has been slated for December 7 in Pittsburgh.

Following the Conference with the Governor, George P. Kountz, counsel for South Hills consumers, met Chairman Clyde L. King.

Dr. King told him, Kountz said, that Commissioners Samuel Walker and P. S. Stahlnecker would hear the protest. Kountz added:

"The Governor gave us all the encouragement he could. We told him what our case is, and told him we were sympathetic to his utilities program."

Others in the party were L. C. Clark, chairman of the Mt. Lebanon Township Commissioners; Commissioner Ronald Thompson and W. H. Babbitt, president of the Community Association of Mt. Lebanon.

THOMSON RITES TOMORROW

Funeral arrangements were being completed today for Federal Judge William Henry Seward Thomson.

The services will be held at the family home at 5435 Aylesboro avenue at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow.

The Rev. Dr. Robert MacGowan, pastor of the Bellefield Presbyterian Church, assisted by the Rev. Hugh B. Speer, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church of Erie, formerly of the Third United Presbyterian Church of Pittsburgh, will have charge of the services. Burial will be in Beaver, Pa.

Judge Thomson died at 10:30 last night. Members of the family were at the bedside.

Judge R. M. Gibson, senior jurist of the Federal District Court, announced the death of Judge Thomson when court convened this morning. He said the court will recess tomorrow afternoon for the funeral, and that an appropriate memorial service will be held later.

Judge Thomson was stricken Thanksgiving Day, shortly after returning to his home from Wildwood, where he had spent the day

MOVE TO BRING SPINELLI HERE

Official machinery was set in motion today to bring back from Italy Giuesppe (Big Mike) Spinelli to face trial on the charge of slaying Johnny Volpe and on other racket murders.

The County Commissioners authorized District Attorney A. T. Park to arrange for sending two men to Salerno, Italy, where the reputed gangster is held. Park will submit an estimate of the cost later.

Extradition papers are on their way to Harrisburg for Gov. Pinchot's signature. Park informed the Commissioners. They will be forwarded to the State Department. Park said:

"Under a new treaty we anticipate no complications in bringing back Spinelli for trial. We understand there is another fugitive over these, wanted in an old murder case. We may as well bring him back, too."

Commissioner C. C. McGovern interjected:

"Yes, take over the whole force and bring all of them back. That is a haven for men who commit crimes here."

Insull Plans Fight On Utilities Film

ATHENS, Nov. 30.—(INS.)—Reports from the United States that an American film company planned to make a motion picture based upon collapse of his utilities kingdom aroused Samuel Insull to a pitch of indignation today. He said:

"I'll take steps to halt that. Remember I have not been convicted yet."

Chicago Gets Tax Cut; Phila. Demands Slash

Business Men's Plan Wins Reduction In Illinois

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Chicagoans will pay 25 cents on the dollar less in taxes for 1933—and to a committee of civic-minded and dollar-wise business men has been given much of the credit.

In addition, members of the committee pledged themselves today to do something about the millions of dollars the city owes its 14,000 school teachers, its policemen, firemen and other employes.

From the head of the committee—Fred W. Sargent, president of the Chicago and North Western Railway—came today the story of how the committee was formed and the results it hopes to accomplish.

There was no precedent for the committee, but there were a multitude of matters clamoring for attention.

The committee directed its attention toward every phase of the city's intricate taxation and budget-making problems. Those activities brought a pledge of cooperation from all city and county departments.

Wholesale Payroll Pruning Aim of Economy Drive

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30. —(AP.)—Wholesale dismissal of city and county workers, protest meetings and legal action to force a reduction in the school tax rate loomed today in the complex picture of Philadelphia's financial affairs.

Struggling to pare the 1933 budget estimates to a point where a tax rise will be unnecessary, and at the same time eliminate a $20,000,000 deficit, City Council leaders have decided upon a return to the 1922 scale of budget operation, entailing loss of jobs for hundreds of municipal employes.

An application for a temporary injunction to restrain the Board of Education from levying for 1933 a school tax of 95 cents for each $100 of assessed realty valuation was filed today in the United States District Court.

The constitutionality of the board's tax levy is attacked by the equity proceedings, filed on behalf of taxpayers by John J. McDevitt, Jr., president of the Philadelphia Taxpayers' Association.

JUDGES SCORED ON VOTE CASES

Common Pleas Court judges were scored today by County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern, for their alleged laxity in handling election fraud cases. He said:

"One thing wrong is that when our 14 judges have an election case to try they bring in some tramp judge from outside. If our judges were courageous enough to try the cases themselves we might get somewhere. Instead they bring in "Judge Booze" who tries the case and then apologizes to the defendant after the jury convicts."

Today's hearing was a continuation of the "open house" discussion on election fraud. At the suggestion of W. T. Reese, election bureau head, the Commissioners decided that in the future public schools be used as voting precincts wherever possible; that school janitors are not to be paid for handling election paraphernalia and that no city fireman be paid as a caretaker when elections are held in engine houses.

The Commissioners agreed they have done something toward cleaning up election matters and then discussed portable booths suggested by Commissioner McGovern, whereupon Mansfield remarked:

"Some of the districts would walk away with the polling places."

Trotzky Abandons Lecture in Sweden

Signor Al Smith Scores in 'Opera'

'Sidewalks' Solo Throws Critics in Panic

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—The music critics were in a lather of laudation today over the debut of a promising new singer—Mr. Alfred E. Smith, of the Brown Derby Smiths.

Mr. Smith gave his singing voice the air for the first time publicly late yesterday at the weekly community sing, a benefit affair. He said his participation was "just a happy thought that dawned on me."

"Il Signor Alfredo Smeet," as one critic in a swoon of excitement called him, sailed right up to a challenging D without shifting gears, and his voice rose above those of the 600 others who had joined in the chorus.

The critics thought it was great. Even headline writers became ecstatic and called him "The Happy Warbler."

Herr Smith presented a limited repertoire from some of the early musical hall composers. His "wow" number, which spilled the critics out of their seats, was "The Sidewalks of New York." He seemed to put everything he had into it. As one reporter put it:

"'The Nightingale of Oliver Street' threw into his work all he had in voice, spirit and body—especially the last mentioned. He kept time with his head and his hands. When he wanted volume he bent over, stooped down and then jumped like a cheer leader. It was a good idea. He got volume."

An unfortunate phase of the affair was the failure of the critics to agree on the range of the artist's voice. The Times called him a "promising tenor." The Herald-Tribune referred to him as the "Brown Derby Baritone."

Critics on other papers had not quite made up their minds.

When the "Sidewalks" was over, Signor Smith modestly moved as though to call it a day, but the applause was uproarious, and he obliged with "The Bowery" as an encore, then repeated "Sidewalks" twice.

As he departed, amid such "bravos" as Caruso might have envied, Mr. Smith twisted the cigar in his mouth, grinned happily, and said:

"I'm glad you liked it."

HOOVER VETO OF BEER BILL LOOMS; EXTRA SESSION SEEN

SENATORS HINT OPPOSITION AT WHITE HOUSE

President Reported to See No Mandate at Polls for Change

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Reports that President Hoover will veto the pending proposal to legalize beer today raised the prospect of a special session of the new Congress right after March 4.

Democratic leaders have hoped the administration would balance the budget through a tax on legalized beer at the short session of the lame duck Congress. If these were accomplished, the Democrats could sit back for nine months, reorganize the executive branch of the government and be prepared for the next regular session of Congress in December, 1933.

BUDGET AFFECTED

If Mr. Hoover should veto a beer bill after its enactment at the short session, there would be little chance of a balanced budget in the first year of the administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt. Indeed, Mr. Roosevelt would be forced virtually to call an extra session of the new Congress for the purpose of balancing the budget. He would have the choice of urging Congress to legalize beer, as pledged in the Democratic platform, or of raising fresh federal revenue in some other manner.

An effort will be made at the short session by some administration leaders to gain enactment of a general sales tax, with food, clothing and necessities of life exempt. Such proposals have been overwhelmingly defeated in the past and there is little likelihood of a change of sentiment in the old Congress.

DEMOCRATS CONFIDENT

Confidence of Democratic House leaders in passage of a resolution submitting repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment on Monday increased perceptibly today. Speaker Garner, who has refused to predict the action of the House, said there is "a decided swing for the resolution."

Garner said he was certain the matter would be called up Monday, adding:

"A great many changes have been found among the members, if the balance of the members who are not yet here, are of the same mind, it looks pretty favorable for passage."

The Speaker said "great numbers of Southern Democrats will vote to submit the Eighteenth Amendment to the states, although they will work to keep their own states dry.

Rep. Milligan (Dem.) of Missouri, assistant whip, was designated by Garner to canvass the sentiment of House Democrats.

Democratic delegations from many southern states, Garner added, are planning to hold state caucuses with a view of voting as a unit.

JOHNSON AIDS DEMOCRATS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(INS.)—The working Senate majority which President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt can count on was boosted today with the return of Senator Hiram Johnson (Rep.), of California.

At the same time, the problem of reorganizing the Republican party took on added difficulties as Johnson pledged himself to a program of bi-partisan co-operation with the Democrats to carry out progressive policies.

An implacable foe of President Hoover, he jumped the Republican traces and worked actively for the Democratic presidential nominee in the general election.

Like Senator Norris (Rep.), of Nebraska, who also bolted Mr. Hoover, Johnson waved aside the prospect of retaining an important committee chairmanship after the Democrats take control.

RIDING MASTER FACED BY GIRL

the hotel for Miss Elizabeth Bishop, the girl to whom Homewood was then engaged.

The brown-eyed girl went on with her story.

CARROTS FOR HORSE

Homewood, it appeared, acted in many capacities. He taught her how to drive and to skate. He sold her a car, he sold and delivered feed for her horses. At Christmas he sent her a card speaking of "Radiant paths through the New Year." And he sent a box of carrots to Starlight, her horse. Everyone smiled as she spoke of it—except Charlotte.

Early in 1932, Miss Gibson solemnly said, Homewood assured her he was "not engaged to anyone." But it was not until March, just before she yielded to Homewood, that he said definitely his engagement was broken.

District Attorney Stebbins had told the jury, before the girl took the stand, that he would prove it was Miss Bishop who broke the engagement, although Homewood had made it appear he had severed relations because he was in love with Charlotte Gibson.

Stebbins' opening told a tempestuous tale of the girl's credulity when she submitted to Homewood because she was told it was "a matter of their troth." Stebbins said Miss Gibson later refused to try to avoid motherhood, at Homewood's insistence, threatening suicide instead.

NEW PROMISES

Homewood, the District Attorney declared, took her riding after that and once, when she was thrown from her horse, expressed his satisfaction. But by June he was quieting her with new promises of marriage, Stebbins said.

When the girl's father learned of his daughter's betrayal, the people's attorney said, he asked Homewood to marry her and the riding master reluctantly agreed. But he kept putting it off, until finally the irate father took the matter to the District Attorney.

Several women openly wept as the girl climbed into the witness box.

The name of Mary Charlotte Ross, 10-year-old friend of the Gibson family, was brought into the story by Miss Gibson. The child, she said, heard Homewood ask her to come to see him on the night of February 29, 1932, as he "had news for her." The little girl, solemn as Alice in Wonderland, has been a puzzled spectator.

As she approached the climax of her story, Miss Gibson appeared, if anything, calmer than at the start. Her white skin seemed almost transparent. Her voice was childishly clear.

Homewood, blinking his hazel eyes, seemed calm, too, but not so detached as she.

Modern morals are being tried in the $1,000,000 courthouse.

'NEW' MORALITY

A shift in viewpoint of the much-talked-about younger generation, to whom liberties no longer are lifelong vows, is the social phenomenon upon which Homewood's defense pins its case. His counsel will seek to prove that young women do not surrender in the twentieth century simply because they have been promised marriage.

The married jurors, all over 40, who can send the short blond horseman to jail for five years, showed themselves amazingly broad-minded in moral interpretations. They all answered "no" to Homewood's attorney's question:

"Do you believe no unmarried woman today would become familiar with a man unless he promised marriage?"

Miss Mooney today had sued for divorce James Anthony, who is also a flier. She eloped secretly with Anthony several years ago.

Miss Mooney is a stenographer, a flier and a beauty, having once placed second in a beauty contest. She lives in Millvale. Today she said:

SEARCH ELUDED BY KIDNAPERS

RENSSELAER, Ind., Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Search for Patricia Pearl Tripp, 4, spread through two states today, spurred by the story of her grandmother, Mrs. Hamlin Smith, of how a squat, swarthy man abducted the child at the point of a gun.

The orphaned girl, over whose custody a legal fight was carried to the Indiana Supreme Court, was hunted throughout Northwestern Indiana and northeastern Illinois. Officers guarded roads into the Calumet district and the Chicago metropolitan area.

Patricia made her home with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hamlin Smith, after they won the guardianship from her great-uncle and great-aunt, Mr. and Mrs. August Johnson, of Porter County, Indiana.

BRITAIN SENDS SECOND NOTE ON DEBTS

Chamberlain Denies Gold Shipment To America

Capper Approves Hearst Debt Views

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—William Randolph Hearst's views on the foreign debt situation were praised today by Senator Arthur Capper (Rep.), of Kansas. Senator Capper said:

"Mr. Hearst's cablegram to to Reynolds' Illustrated News, of London, is a clear and concise presentation of the true facts about the debt situation."

LONDON, Nov. 30. — (AP.)—Great Britain is sending a note to Washington today in reply to the American note refusing postponement of the $95,550,000 debt instalment due December 15, Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, told the House of Commons this afternoon.

The cabinet finished writing it at a two-hour session this morning and it will be published here and at Washington in a day or so.

Mr. Chamberlain said there was no truth in reports that £3,000,000 in bar gold is being shipped to the United States in connection with the debt.

It was explained that Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British Ambassador at Washington, probably would not receive the new note in time for delivery to Secretary of State Stimson before tomorrow.

HERRIOT VICTOR

PARIS, Nov. 30.—(INS.)—Premier Edouard Herriot scored a victory in his war debt clash with the Chamber of Deputies today when the Finance Committee approved his refusal to discuss debts in the Chamber until after his negotiations with Washington are completed.

The committee sanctioned Herriot's decision not to submit the problem to the Chamber for a vote until after he has formulated some definite solution of the problem.

In line with this action, the committee decided to ask Louis Marin, Nationalist leader, to hold in abeyance until December 9 his resolution aimed at placing the Chamber on record against further war debt payments.

FINDS HUSBAND IS BIGAMIST

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Mrs. Frances L. Hundred, of Washington, a dental hygienist held in high esteem in the Capital, stood in the police lineup today, a prisoner, and heard the man she thought her legal husband admit he had a wife and three children living in the Bronx. Both were held in $5,000 bail.

Kenneth M. Hundred and the woman whom he married in Washington last July were arrested last night as Hundred greeted the woman in the Pennsylvania Station on her arrival from Washington.

In the lineup today both denied any knowledge of a series of robberies in Baltimore and Washington in which Hundred admitted he participated.

Besides telling of his wife and children in the Bronx, Hundred also said he had kept from the second woman he married all knowledge that he had escaped from jail in Lexington, Ky., and from a prison camp in Georgia, and that he had jumped bail in Mt. Vernon, N. Y., in 1929.

American Acrobat Injured in High Dive

PARIS, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—P. J. Ringen, American acrobat whose partner, Anne Booker, was fatally injured during their act at Vienna last year, is in a hospital here recovering from injuries which resulted from a similar mishap.

He fell in his high diving performance, but escaped without broken bones.

Hunters Declare War on Blue Law

GREENSBURG, Pa, Nov. 30.—Westmoreland County sportsmen want to take the Blue Law angle out of the game laws.

The Greensburg Sportsmen's Association meeting last night went on record as favoring Sunday fishing and expressed their approval of shooting with small bore rifles on the Sabbath.

U. S. ATTORNEY ASKED TO ACT IN VOTE CASE

Lawrence Requests Graham to Probe Fraud Charges

United States Attorney Louis E. Graham today was called upon to investigate charges of alleged election fraud in the Thirtieth Congressional District and also in regard to the election of a United States Senator.

The request was made by Democratic County Chairman David L. Lawrence after, he said, the opening of ballot boxes in the First and Second Districts of Sharpsburg had shown tampering with the returns.

LAWRENCE CHARGES

Lawrence said when the boxes were opened by the recount board several ballots, apparently changed, had been laid aside for the consideration of the judges.

In the First District, Sharpsburg, the district board returned 89 for Edmund F. Erk, Republican incumbent, and 355 for Twing Brooks, Democrat, while the recount figures were Erk 314 and Brooks 134.

In the Second District the board's figures were Erk 50, Brooks 392 and the recount figures Erk 291, Brooks 125.

Judge James H. Gray yesterday ordered gve Sharpsburg boxes recounted and today made an order for recounting all of the Twenty-third Ward with the exception of the Fourth District.

DEMOCRATIC STRONGHOLD

Brooks said:

"Sharpsburg is the one outstanding Democratic stronghold in this vicinity and we are not going to let anyone get away with anything, even if it means the penitentiary for some one."

Lawrence in his letter asked Graham to have a representative present at the recount board until the count is completed, "with a view to prosecuting in the Federal courts all those connected with this attempt to steal this election from Mr. Brooks."

TAX INCREASE OPPOSED

the estimates for his department, Herron said.

Director W. R. Dunlap, of the Department of Supplies, and St. Clair Cooper, chief clerk of the Department of Health, were told that appropriation requests for those departments must be reduced.

Councilman Robert Garland demanded cuts in salaries all along the line, beginning with Council. He admitted that Council had no power to reduce the salary of the Mayor.

REVENUE PROBLEM

Herron mentioned the special taxation committee originally appointed to seek new sources of revenue. He declared the committee is going over everything "with a helpful attitude." McArdle pointed out it will be impossible to obtain any new sources of revenue in time to relieve real estate next year, and Herron went further and expressed the fear that Council "will not be allowed" to figure on any new sources of revenue.

Ask Special Term To Cut N. Y. Salaries

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—The City Board of Estimate at a special executive meeting today adopted a resolution requesting the Governor to call a special session of the Legislature to enact legislation permitting salary decreases.

The proposed legislation would empower the Board of Estimate and Board of Aldermen to fix salaries of city and county officials, and would repeal all mandatory provisions now on the statute books relating to salaries.

Da Vinci Painting Involved in Suit

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 30.—(AP.)—"The Lute Player," a canvas purportedly painted by Leonardo da Vinci, which for the last seven years has reposed in a bank vault here, was the subject of litigation today.

In a suit filed in Common Pleas Court, Gurdon W. Bentley, of the Potter Bentley Studios, sougnt to obtain lien on the painting for $2,353 in debts he alleges are owing from the Baroness Ally von Magnus Schwartzenberg, of Cleveland.

Jury Indicts Youth For Woman's Slaying

WEST UNION, O., Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Virgil Yankee, 22, former inmate of the Mansfield Reformatory, yesterday was indicted for the alleged first degree murder of Mrs. Josephine Hawes, 40, whose nude body was found in an abandoned well near Peebles Thanksgiving Day.

Yankee twice has been arrested for contributing to the delinquency of Annie Hawes, daughter of the slain woman. Prosecutor E. S. Young said Annie told him Yankee killed her mother so he could live with the daughter unmolested.

Mother Drowns Baby And Self, Girl Saved

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 30.—(INS.)—Tying their hands behind them, a young mother today tossed her two children into a cistern and then committed suicide by leaping into the water. One of the children, a baby boy, was drowned, and his 5-year-old sister was saved by their father.

The victims were Mrs. Rose Burger, 29, and her 6-month-old son, Clarence. Virginia, 5, was rescued.

Fire Levels Church, Ex-Employe Sought

BROCKTON, Mass., Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Fire believed of incendiary origin today virtually destroyed St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Loss was estimated at between $60,000 and $75,000. Police are seeking for questioning a former employe.

The Rev. David B. Matthews, pastor of the church, braved smoke and flames to save church vestments and vessels.

Morganza Fugitives Caught After Crash

Four inmates of the Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza were back in the institution today after they are alleged to have stolen an automobile in Mt. Oliver and wrecked it in trying to escape police on Library Hill last night.

The four escaped yesterday from the school, police reported. One of them was injured in the automobile smashup.

World Leaders' Notes Spur Ford Recovery

DETROIT, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Henry Ford's recovery from the major surgical operation he underwent last Saturday has been so rapid that his friends expect he will be able to leave the hospital not later than December 10.

A bulletin issued at 10 a. m. today brought continued reassurance that Ford is well on the way to recovery.

The automobile magnate was operated upon for a strangulated femoral hernia and an infected appendix.

Friends of Ford who called on him at Henry Ford Hospital reported that he seemed to be his "regular self" and looked as well as he did before the operation.

They said he sat up in bed for a time yesterday and listened with pleasure as messages from well-wishers all over the world were read to him.

Two reported to have evoked particular pleasure were from the Prince of Wales and President Von Hindenburg of Germany. He also was informed of telephone calls received from George V, King of England, Mussolini and other personages.

William J. Cameron, spokesman for Ford, told newspapermen that he expected Ford to be able to leave the hospital within the 14-day period usually allowed for such cases.

Healthiest Boy, Girl Preach Moderation

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—(INS.)—"Everything in moderation."

That, in three words, sums up the simple rule which guides Ross Allen, 20-year-old college student of Salem, W. Va., and Dorothy Eiler, 16-year-old high school pupil of Hill City, Minn., who today possessed the titles of America's healthiest boy and healthiest girl.

Ross dances a little and is interested in pretty girls, he admitted shyly. Dorothy uses a little powder and a little lipstick and is interested in boys. Both like to attend dances and go out on "dates."

But social activities do not overshadow the other aspects in the lives of these two near-perfect specimens of American boyhood and girlhood, who were crowned the country's health champions at the National 4-H Club Congress being held here in conjunction with the International Livestock Exposition.

Dorothy never drinks coffee or tea. And when Ross was asked whether he ever imbibed spiritous liquids, he replied:

"No. Not that I'd admit it, if I did. A national health champion couldn't be expected to say, 'beer made me what I am.'"

4 UNIVERSITY HEADS WILL AID PROBE

Pitt Chief Joins in Scholarship Sale Inquiry Pledge

HARRISBURG, Nov. 30.—The heads of Pennsylvania's four universities that grant state senators free scholarships for needy constituents last night pledged their co-operation to "any effort made by a responsible legislative group to eliminate the selling of scholarships."

A statement issued by the four deplored the practice of selling the scholarships. It followed publication of the statement of Senator William D. Mansfield that he would institute a senatorial investigation into charges made in Philadelphia that some had been sold.

Meanwhile, the statement attributed to State Senator W. C. Hunsicker, of Philadelphia, that Dr. Clyde L. King, chairman of the Public Service Commission and former head of the Department of Revenue, had suggested that college scholarships be distributed through the revenue department, was emphatically denied by King today.

King said the statement was "false in every particular" and said he had urged that the awards be distributed through competitive examinations.

The educators, Chancellor John G. Bowman, of the University of Pittsburgh; Dr. Thomas S. Gates, of the University of Pennsylvania, Dr. Ralph D. Hetzel, of Penn State, and Dr. Charles E. Beury, of Temple, refused to amplify their statement, which asserted:

"Knowledge of the alleged sale of certain senatorial scholarships has come for the first time to the four institutions which grant these privileges under the provisions of the joint resolution passed in 1925.

"As the heads of these institutions, we deplore the practices which have been exposed and stand ready to co-operate fully and freely in any effort by responsible legislative groups to eliminate such practices and prevent their recurrence."

1,500 HUNGER MARCHERS ON WAY HERE

Committee to Provide Aid for Group Bound For Washington

More than 1,500 hunger marchers, on their way to Washington, were en route to Pittsburgh today, according to word given City Council by a representative of the City Welfare Department.

Plans to take care of the marchers have been made by the United Front Committee here, which will provide food, lodging and 1,300 gallons of gasoline.

Maj. Lynn G. Adams, head of the Pennsylvania State Police, has characterized as "bunk" reports that he has ordered the troopers to halt the marchers at the Pennsylvania-Ohio border. He said:

"We're not helping nor hindering them, and as long as they behave themselves they'll be treated like any other citizens."

A contingent of more than 400 of the marchers left Cleveland this morning for this city. They refused free meals of bread, bologna and coffee offered by the city of Cleveland and further decided not to sleep on the concrete floor of the public hall basement assigned to them. Hot meals and better quarters had been offered them elsewhere.

Washington Police Arm To Halt Hunger March

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—(INS.)—Hunger marchers converging on the national capital for demonstrations at the Capitol Monday, are due a frigid reception.

They will not receive free food or lodging, they will not be allowed to solicit aid from citizens, and there is a question whether they will be allowed to come near the Capitol.

A policy of open opposition to the marches has been adopted by the police on the basis that the district's relief burden already is too heavy.

Police will meet the incoming groups at the district line and allow the marchers to enter only in small numbers. The authorities are convinced the marchers will number nearly 3,000 if all the groups now on the road arrive.

The police are prepared to meet any emergency. New stores of tear gas have been supplied. Meanwhile soldiers at nearby army posts are ready for call if the police are unable to handle the visitors.

She's No Guarantor!

NORMA TALMADGE..DENIES GUARANTEEING JESSEL'S $100,000

Miss Talmadge, screen actress in private life Mrs. Joseph Schenck, who today denies emphatically that she guaranteed the $100,000 settlement between Actor George Jessel, stage comedian, and his wife, Florence Courtney Jessel, recently Reno-divorced.

SCREEN BEAUTY SAYS ACTOR CAN PAY

$10,000 Weekly Salary Ample to Meet $100,000 Fund

Universal Service.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—The story that Norma Talmadge, noted screen beauty, guaranteed the divorce settlement of George Jessel, stage comedian, with the former Florence Courtney Jessel, had been emphatically denied today by Miss Talmadge.

Miss Talmadge said at her home here:

"I have not guaranteed any property settlement. With Mr. Jessel's ability to earn $10,000 a week it seems ridiculous that anyone should be asked to guarantee a paltry $100,000 property settlement.

"There has been no million dollar alienation of affection suit.

"I have no intention of marrying Mr. Jessel. I am still married to Mr. Joseph Schenck and I have no intention of getting a divorce.

"I am getting quite bored by this whole business. Never, it seems to me, has there been so much attention directed to any one thing. It probably is because Mr. Jessel and I have been so much together on the stage.

"As a matter of fact, he and Mr. Schenck and I have been friends for many years.

"I have not received a written release of any kind from Miss Courtney as reported in New York."

JESSEL EXPLAINS

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(Universal.) — How Norma Talmadge aided George Jessel in his divorce settlement with the former Mrs. Florence Courtney Jessel, was revealed last night.

Miss Talmadge became Jessel's vaudeville partner, and the joint contracts the two signed with Paramount-Publix and other theaters were put up as security that Jessel could and would earn the $100,000 he promised. Jessel, himself, so stated after it was revealed his attorneys, Theodore J. Lessor and Frank L. Ippolito had dissolved partnership.

Mrs. Jessel obtained a Reno divorce last month. The $100,000 settlement was to be paid off in several sums, and to date, it was said, almost $80,000 has been paid. Jessel, who returned to New York recently after playing out-of-town engagements with Miss Talmadge, said:

"I have just read where Miss Talmadge is supposed to have put up stocks and bonds to secure that $100,000. That's untrue. That's ridiculous.

CONTRACTS SATISFY

"There was some security that I could pay that much money. I had to prove I would make it. So Miss Talmadge and myself signed several contracts and I took these to my wife and her attorney. They saw the contracts. They were convinced. That's all there was to it.

"Of all the stuff I read about myself and Miss Talmadge! Not long ago I read where I was supposed to be married to her in Miami. I never have been in Miami. If anybody prints I shot McKinley, then I will be burned up—but I expect it."

The Lessor & Ippolito law firm have asked Supreme Court Justice McCook to appoint a receiver to liquidate the firm—including Jessel's fee for advice in the divorce and agreement.

HITLER SHUNS BERLIN MEET

BERLIN, Nov. 30. — (AP.) — Adolf Hitler, the Nazi leader, sprang a political surprise today when he failed to appear in the capital for a conference on the cabinet crisis with Gen. Kurt von Schleicher, the defense minister.

Reports last night said the Nazi had agreed to meet the power behind the present Junker government today, and that he boarded a Berlin sleeper at Munich.

The brown shirted Fascist left the train at Jena, however, and took a train for Weimar. Meanwhile, several of his political lieutenants were summoned from Berlin to Weimar. When they arrived they were told Hitler would decide later whether he would meet von Schleicher.

President von Hindenburg, anxious to achieve a winter's political truce, had commissioned acting Chancellor Franz von Papen, Gen. von Schleicher and Dr. Otto Meissner, his political secretary, to see what could be done. The meeting between the defense minister and the Nazi was then arranged.

A. F. L. VOTES JOB INSURANCE

CINCINNATI, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Told that "we have warned employers we could wait no longer to restore hope and revive the spirit of the masses," the American Federation of Labor convention today approved plans for state unemployment systems paid for by industry.

The vote came after a full morning of debate. Only three delegates voted against the proposal in a show of hands.

By its action, the federation is committed to work in each state for a system of unemployment insurance supported financially wholly by industry; compulsory and all-embracing in its benefits, and administered by state commissions.

Douglas Injunction Order Continued

Judge James H. Gray's order restraining John Douglas, Jr., from entering more suits against George Vang in their wharf controversy, was continued today that the court may study the evidence submitted in previous hearings. At today's hearing, Assistant City Solicitor Thomas M. Benner said he was doubtful if a private citizen has the right to bring actions for violations of city ordinances, and he felt the suits belong in civil, rather than in criminal lists.

Sokoloff to Conduct New York Orchestra

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Nikolai Sokoloff, conductor of the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra, has accepted an invitation to become the permanent conductor of the New York Orchestra.

The executive committee of the New York Orchestra, formed a year ago, in making the announcement, said the inaugural concert under Sokoloff's direction would be in January.

Newlywed Daughters Of Utility Head to Meet in Bermuda

Bertha Jane and Martha Estelle Phillips, sisters, will be married tomorrow afternoon at a joint wedding ceremony in the Third Presbyterian Church, Fifth and Negley avenues, but they will go separate ways to and from the altar to a joint honeymoon in Bermuda.

The girls, daughters of Frank R. Phillips, president of the Philadelphia Company, "just wanted" a double ceremony because they "thought it would be nice." No other reason.

And they are going their separate ways just "because they want to." No other reason for that.

Bertha Jane is marrying L. Hamilton Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Phillips, of Cleveland. Martha Estelle is marrying Charles R. Ellicott, Jr., of Glen Ridge, N. J.

After the ceremony they will be feted at a reception in the Pittsburgh Athletic Club annex, following which both couples will leave for New York on separate trains. They have booked passage on separate boats, but look forward to the reunion in Bermuda next week.

Santa Claus Gets Higher P. O. Rating

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(Universal.) — Santa Claus has been promoted.

The postoffice in the little Indiana village of this name today was raised from fourth to third class.

LONG RETURNS AS WITNESS

Rocco DiPippa, alias Roxie Long, the government's chief witness in the liquor conspiracy trial before Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, today returned to the witness stand for continuation of cross examination by defense counsel. He was on the witness stand nearly eight hours under direct examination.

After court adjourned yesterday DiPippa sent word to Assistant United States Attorney Raymond D. Evans that he had been threatened and was afraid to leave the courtroom. Under escort of a deputy marshal the government's star witness, who has pleaded guilty to the conspiracy indictment, was taken to the federal District Attorney's office.

He asserted a man had said to him:

"We will get you."

Long said he had recognized several men from the Hill district in the corridor outside the courtroom. Later he left the building, declining the proffer of a guard.

Friends of Zinovieff Uphold Death Report

MOSCOW, Nov. 30.—(INS.)—Despite denials from the Soviet foreign office, close friends of Gregory Zinovieff today declared reports that Zinovieff had died were true.

They added the exiled revolutionist had been suffering from heart trouble.

WARNING GIVEN MYERSCOUGH

Thomas Myerscough, Communist Party organizer, was haled into court today and warned to cease alleged inflammatory utterances under penalty of being recommitted to the workhouse to serve the second year of a two-year sentence. He was convicted of rioting and inciting to riot more than a year ago in connection with the fatal Wildwood mine strike riot. He was paroled recently.

When brought into court on order of Judge Frank P. Patterson, Myerscough was confronted with a letter from the Sheriff of Fayette County, who attributed these statements to Myerscough:

"Instead of this being the land of the free and home of the brave it is the land of the scab and home of the slave. There will be plenty of bloodshed befor these hunger marches are over."

Myerscough denied making the statements.

EAGLE LOTTERY CASE OUTLINED

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—The government laid the ground work of its lottery prosecution against Conrad H. Mann, Kansas City business leader; Frank E. Hering, Bernard C. McGuire and Raymond Walsh today, presenting to the jury in their trial, books of alleged lottery tickets and literature sent to all members of the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

The tickets produced by the government offered $75,000 in prizes and said "money donated to charity is money well spent." The tickets were ostensibly for frolics and dances given by local Eagle aeries.

The literature offered the Eagle members, for selling the tickets, it was charged, "opportunity of gaining a magnificent reward for yourself and of alleviating suffering and disaster among our members."

White House Doctor Wins 2 More Medals

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Already possessor of prized World War decorations, Capt. Joel T. Boone, U. S. N., White House physician, today received the Purple Heart medal and the Silver Star medal.

They were pinned on him by Secretary Hurley alongside the Congressional Medal of Honor and the Distinguished Service Cross. He served as a medical officer with the marines in France and twice was wounded in action.

CRASH OF CARS SHAKES UP 7

Three persons were injured, two others were knocked out of bed, another pair was toppled from chairs, two automobiles were almost irrepairably damaged, a fire plug suffered and a frame confectionery store lost about $100 of its value when two automobiles collided at West North and Manhattan avenues today.

Involved were a sedan and a coupe. Injured were W. L. Anderson, 37, of 232 Berkley avenue, Forest Hills, and A. K. Cornelison, of the Forest Hills address, both of whom were sedan passengers, and suffered bruises and minor lacerations, and William Haynes, 24, of 1530 Center avenue, driver of the coupe, who received severe head cuts.

Knocked out of bed were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Corten, proprietors of the confectionery at 1400 West North avenue. Toppled from chairs were Miss Marie Barker and Harry Barker, of 1310 Juniata street, who sat in the confectionery. Arrested were Haynes and M. J. Murray, 56, of 1321 Virginia street, by Woods Run police on charges of reckless driving.

The sedan ran over the fire plug, both cars hit the store.

Gold Dog Collar Sold At Baker Auction

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—A gold engraved dog collar, once worn by one of Mrs. George Fales Baker's pets, was the object of brisk bidding as Mrs. Baker's personal effects went under the hammer yesterday to settle her $4,000,000 estate. The dog collar brought $46.

The eastern high pressure area developed farther southward and diminished further in intensity. It is now centered over the Mississippi delta section and extends northeastward over the Ohio Valley states to Canada. The highest barometer this morning is 30.36 inches, at New Orleans. The high pressure is producing clear skies over much the greater portion of the country and frost formation over the Upper Mississippi Valley and the lake region, elsewhere temperatures are rising. Mild weather prevails over the western plains and the Rocky Mountain states. There was no precipitation during the last 24 hours except along the North Pacific Coast. The northwestern low pressure is now centered over Saskatchewan.

Cleveland Sees Cornell Premiere, Minus Doors

CLEVELAND, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Cleveland theatergoers, enjoying one of their rare "first nights," cordially received Katharine Cornell's American premiere of "Lucrece," the French play by Andre Obey, last night.

But, as the final curtain descended, they appeared slightly baffled by a bit of stage technique new to them.

William F. McDermott, dramatic critic of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, described the play as "one of the finest productions ever made in America," but added that it appeared to lack "dramatic momentum." It was very much "off the usual routine," he said.

Archie Bell, of the Cleveland News, termed it a "magnificent production and a beautiful gesture in the right direction." He asserted it would not be a popular success as compared with "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," in which Miss Cornell also made her premiere here in January, 1931.

Imaginary stage properties piqued the curiosity of the audience. The opening of a door, when no door was visible, caught their attention. The spinning of an invisible spinning wheel was another item of stage technique they found new.

Backstage gossip had it that the cast was ready to open "Lucrece" Monday night, but that Miss Cornell insisted on waiting for the 29th, the same day of the month her previous success had its premiere here. Cleveland and the 29th, the star actress was said to feel, were lucky for her.

TROLLEY LINE PROSPERS ON NICKEL FARE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Faced with competition, times like these and the old-time nickel fare, a street railway here has built new cars and a new line, replaced considerable track and still returned a net profit without laying off workers.

Losses of revenue, due mainly to automobile competition, have forced most of America's street railways to higher fares in recent years, but the Market street railway here held to the 5-cent fare, as did its competitor, the San Francisco Municipal Lines.

REVENUES DROP

The traffic slump hit the Market Street Railway in the early summer of 1930. It reduced the 1930 passenger revenue 4.2 per cent below 1929. Next year it dropped another 6.9 per cent and this year 8.9 per cent.

An official said today:

"All the pyramidal decrease in earnings had to be met by decreases in expenditures without laying off employes."

The company made one pay cut, but it was less than 4 per cent. Most economies were made by increasing efficiency and speeding up schedules.

IMPROVEMENTS MADE

Meanwhile improvements were made. An entire new line was built and other large sections of old track were replaced. These improvements cost $560,000. Two new bus lines also were started and more than a score of new "comfort" cars with automatic ventilation, leather upholstered seats and noise-reducing devices were built.

No employes have been laid off on account of loss of business, but shops and maintenance departments have been reduced to a five-day week.

Operations on this program have left a small net return after payments of fixed charges, including bond interest and setting up a reserve against depreciation. The municipal railway, which has also maintained the nickel fare, has had help from the city the last two years.

WHITE HOUSE PROBES 'LEAK'

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—A new "White House leak investigation" is in progress.

At least two of President Hoover's triumvirate of secretaries were engaged today in attempting to run down the source of a seemingly routine story about executive office affairs and the green carpets were being worn threadbare as employe after employe was called to task in an effort to ascertain what each might know about this new "loophole" in the closely meshed screen the Hoover aides have woven about their "chief."

The offending story—carried into virtually every newspaper in the United States—had to do merely with the fact that all employes on the executive office payroll must suffer a three-and-a-half-day furlough each month for the remainder of the fiscal year, in addition to their 8.3 per cent pay cut, because Congress had lopped some $6,000 or more from the bedrock of the White House appropriation bill.

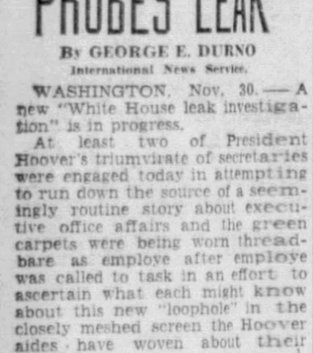
MORTON DOWNEY GIVES "INSIDE TIP" ON NEW DODGE "6"



MORTON DOWNEY

New York, N. Y.—Morton Downey, star singer of the Columbia Broadcasting System, whose dulcet tenor songs hold millions of radio listeners enthralled, was given an advance showing here today of the new Dodge Six.

"I have an inside tip for America!" he exclaimed. "Wait for the new Dodge. Talk about a car! Wait till you see this one. It's as modern as television. With such looks, such performance, and such features, it will certainly occupy the spotlight next year."

The Dodge organization withholds official announcement of a new car, but it is reliably reported that there will be shortly presented to the public a Dodge Six whose quality and low price set a revolutionary standard for value in the field of motor cars.

Judge Dead

W. H. S. THOMSON
U. S. Judge Thomson, dead today at his Aylesboro ave. home.

THOMSON RITES TOMORROW

with his daughter, Mrs. George O. Reemsnyder, wife of the pastor of the Wildwood Presbyterian Church.

NOTED AS JURIST

Judge Thomson, one of the best known jurists of the country, retired from regular service in November, 1927, after 13 years in the United States Court for the Western District of Pennsylvania.

After retiring from active duty his services in other federal courts were in great demand, and at various times he sat in the United States Court of Appeals in Philadelphia and other places. He was recognized as one of the outstanding authorities on federal law; a jurist who met with few reversals in the higher courts, especially in criminal proceedings.

PATENT LAW AUTHORITY

On retiring Judge Thomson referred to the heavy duties imposed on members of the Federal Court by liquor case prosecutions, and pointed out a younger man than he was needed to carry on the steadily-increasing duties.

Judge Thomson was appointed to the district court bench July 7, 1914, to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Judge James S. Young. He was born in Beaver County, son of Dr. Alexander R. Thomson, a prominent Democrat. He was educated in the public schools, the Academy of Cailettsburg, Ky., and Washington and Jefferson College. Admitted to the bar in Cabell County, W. Va., he later moved to his native Beaver County, where he formed a law partnership with J. Rankin Martin. In March, 1894, he came to Pittsburgh and continued to practice law with his brother, the late Frank Thomson. He married Miss Mary Imbrie, daughter of State Senator Lorne Imbrie. Mrs. Thomson died October 22, 1928. Besides Mrs. Reemsnyder, he leaves another daughter, Miss Marguerite Imbrie Thomson, and a brother, J. Morgan Thomson, of Beaver County.

P. S. C. PROBERS FIGHT COURT INJUNCTIONS

hold hearings until the injunctions or restraining orders—five of them—are broken down in court, it was considered likely likely that its service was virtually at an end. At today's secret executive session, President Pro Tem. James Boyd, member ex-officio, sat in to prevent the question being raised that there was not a quorum. Today is the expiration day of four members.

Constant delays through court procedure are considered likely to confine the activities of the committee to preparing recommendations for the next convening of the Legislature.

WRITS SERVED

Writs were served on members of the committee today as they assembled at 10 o'clock for an executive session. Shelby and others have been subpenaed to appear at an open hearing. Instead, deputy sheriffs carrying the legal papers came, signifying that the committee, until the courts hear the arguments, cannot subpena records, bank accounts or other material necessary.

Some members of the investigating committee felt it meant the doom of the investigation—that nothing remained but to prepare recommendations for changes in the public service laws.

John M. Core, Uniontown bank president who was reported to have started for the committee hearing with some of Shelby's bank accounts, did not appear. It was understood he was told not to bring them to the meeting, following the issuance of the injunction.

SHELBY'S SUIT

Commissioner Shelby's suit in equity in Dauphin County, asking that the committee be restrained from subpenaeing books, records or bank books of the members of the commission. Hearing for the argument was set for December 13.

Former Commissioner Benn's injunction, in Philadelphia, aims to prevent securing his bank books and those of members of his family.

A suit in equity in Dauphin County, filed by Ira J. Williams as a citizen, attacking the legality of the $100,000 appropriation by the Senate on the basis that this was not within the bounds of the special session—which had been called for welfare relief.

An injunction in Dauphin County, asked by the Associated Gas and Electric Companies, to prevent subpenaeing of records.

With the next session of the Legislature in the third week of January, little more than six weeks remain in which to fight the five injunctions or suits. In the event the committee lost one, the argument in the higher court would, in all likihood, not be made for several months.

To complicate the legal nooses that have been slipped over the committee, three of the members of the committee of seven are no longer Senators after today.

"Lame ducks" William S. Rial, chairman; S. H. Earnest and Charles H. Clippinger, after today, will be citizen member of a purely senatorial committee, with the chairman also named as such by the Senate body, and Senator James J. Coyne, of Pittsburgh, while re-elected, will not take his oath until the new Senate convenes. His term also expires today.

Utility Defends Writ Blocking Senate Probe

The Pennsylvania Electric Company in a statement today following the preliminary injunction granted by the Common Pleas Court of Dauphin County restraining the Senate committee from forcing the Pennsylvania company, Metropolitan Electric Company and others to produce their books, records or other papers and documents, said:

"At the beginning of this investigation the company, having nothing to conceal and wishing to co-operate with any legally constituted committee, did its best to assist the committee and the committee's counsel by permitting examiners of the committee to go over its books, records and such accounts at the company's office. Every facility was afforded to such examiners, although our counsel advised the company that such examiners had no legal right to go Eaton requiring us to appear with practically all of our original account books and papers at a public hearing. To comply on what was plainly a 'fishing expedition.'

EATON ORDER HIT

"We then received peremptory orders, by telegraph from Mr. with this request would have required us to transport a truck load of books to the capitol and would have completely hamstrung the operations of the company.

"We voluntarily appeared before the committee, however, and protested against the unreasonableness of this demand. The committee told us to take up the matter with Mr. Eaton and see if we could not agree with him as to what papers should be produced. Our counsel endeavored to do this but could not get anywhere with Mr. Eaton, who threatened to issue subpenas.

"On November 18, 1932, we appeared before the committee, without subpena, and Mr. Reiber, comptroller of the company, in response to questions addressed to him by Mr. Eaton, gave certain testimony from one of three minute-books which he had produced. Upon the adjournment of the hearing Mr. Eaton and one of his associates, J. Julius Levy, as counsel for the committee, seized all of the minute-books and removed them from the hearing room and took them to a room on the fourth floor of the Capitol Building, used by the committee as its counsel's offices, and locked themselves, with the minute-books, in the room, refusing to produce the books or to allow our attorneys to have access to them.

"The committee, when appealed to by counsel for the company, refused to direct its counsel to return the books, and since that time the committee, through its attorneys, has refused to surrender the same, although same are needed by the company in the conduct of its regular business.

RESORT TO COURTS

"This last demand of Mr. Eaton for the actual production at the hearing of millions of dollars' worth of securities, coupled with his refusal to accept certificates from reputable banks or safe deposit companies or to avail himself of our offer to permit his own examiners to inspect them in their place of safekeeping, together with his demand for the production of large numbers of original books and records which, if they were impounded by him as occurred heretofore, would denude the company of its working records and render it impossible for it to carry on its business appears to the company so highly unreasonable as to require a resort to the courts."

M'ARTHUR ASKS BIGGER ARMY FOR SAFETY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Terming America's preparatory program for land defense far from adequate, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff, advocated increasing the Regular Army to 14,000 officers and 165,000 enlisted men as soon as the government's treasury permits.

In his annual report, made public today, Gen. MacArthur cites both the far eastern situation and European disarmament difficulties as reasons for avoiding any further reductions in American military forces.

The "untrustworthiness of treaties as complete safeguards of international peace," he says, was emphasized again by the Sino-Japanese conflict in Shanghai last winter and "gave rise to a feeling of apprehension among portions of our population and was reflected in expressions of anxious concern as to the adequacy of our defensive structure."

BELOW SAFETY POINT

Turning to Europe and the disarmament conference, the Chief of Staff says:

"Unquestionably there has crystallized among important elements of our citizenry a strong sentiment in opposition to further weakening of American military strength unless accompanied by sweeping and drastic cuts in the armies of other nations."

On June 30 of this year, the Army's strength was 12,180 officers and 119,888 men—a strength reduced by economy below the safety point, MacArthur says, comparing it with the national defense act's provision for approximately 18,000 officers and 280,000 men and with the strength of other powers, showing the American forces to be the smallest per 1,000 population.

The report recommended that present appropriations for Army activities be continued, and that additional funds be granted to buy reasonable amounts of specialized equipment, particularly for anti-aircraft units.

OPPOSED IN HOUSE

That the general's recommendations would arouse widespread interest on Capitol Hill where efforts have been made to cut all appropriations was seen in the prompt statement by Representative Collins (Dem.), of Mississippi, who said MacArthur "seems to be imbued with the European continental idea that only manpower is essential to provide military defense."

He asked for reduction in the Army's officer strength by eliminating the over-age and physically unfit, attacked what he termed the chief of staff's promotion plan for continuing over-age officers as "mere deadweight."

Midgets to Attend Giant at Wedding

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—A bridegroom 7 feet 6 inches tall will claim a bride of 5 feet 5 inches Sunday and they will be attended by a husband and wife each under 4 feet tall. Notice of intention to wed was filed today by Ralph Madsen, lengthy former Texas cowboy, and Miss Verna Marie Rice, of Bell, Cal.

Madsen traveled recently with circuses and has been in motion pictures. The wedding attendants will be Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Winters, circus employes.

COX ASKS JOBS FOR NEEDY

It is generally conceded that Father Cox did a good job among the poor for the Thanksgiving holidays. Now he is working out plans to repeat these activities for Christmas. In his radio appeal over WJAS yesterday he spoke of the fact that many of those who depend upon him for aid are anxious to find work—something that will divert idle hands to a good purpose. Following this appeal he asked for broken or discarded toys, not necessarily absolute wrecks, but toys that can be restored to such a condition that they will be welcome to poor children at Christmas time.

Father Cox also said that he didn't look for a very happy Christmas for himself with $60,000 in debts hanging over his head. He hoped that friends would wipe out a great deal of this before Christmas.

Yesterday the long breadline at Old St. Patrick's took on a somber hue as it moved along in the cold, gray damp fog that hung over the city—a fog that seemed to accentuate the misery in this one spot. Nearly 3,000 hungry men were in that line.

These are some of the reasons why the Sun-Telegraph has again inaugurated a subscription drive for the benefit of the Father Cox relief fund. Every subscription that comes in on the blank on this page or on the cards he and his helpers are distributing, brings to this fund a liberal cash commission.

COUGHING BABY BAFFLES AID

Mary White, only 18 months old, had her mother and father and doctors and nurses wondering about her in the Presbyterian Hospital today.

In her home in Sharon, Monday, Mary suddenly was seized with coughing. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. James White, rushed her to Sharon's Buhl Hospital, then to Pittsburgh's Presbyterian Hospital.

Perhaps, the parents suggested, she had swallowed a button from her overalls—if not a checker.

But the X-ray showed nothing. Fortunately, Mary seems in good enough condition. So the doctors will simply mark time.

SUSPECT PAIR IN BOND THEFT

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(INS.)—Two smartly dressed youths today were believed to have made off with five $100,000 Liberty bonds which vanished from a teller's cage in the Continental Bank and Trust Company.

Investigators said the youths argued in front of the cage at about the time the bonds disappeared. The teller left his cage several times while the men were talking. A sticky substance found on the cage window indicated they had used a cane or stick spread with mucilage to draw out the bonds.

OLD BLUE LAW DOOMED, SAYS MUSMANNO

The time has come for modification of the Blue Laws of 1794, Judge M. A. Musmanno declared at an American Legion banquet in the Penn-Lincoln Hotel, Wilkinsburg, last night. He added that he did not think it should be done in such a way as to make Sunday the same as a week day.

Judge Musmanno said:

"I am opposed to the commercialization of the Sabbath, but I can see no harm in music, innocent sports and entertainments on Sunday, so long as they take place at such a time as not to conflict with church services.

"While a member of the 1931 Legislature I introduced a bill which covers this subject. It provides for a state-wide referendum whereby each community determines its own attitude on this question. The bill, in my opinion, is entirely fair.

FREEDOM OF CHOICE

"Communities not in favor of any liberalization of the Sunday laws will not be disturbed in the present enjoyment of the Sabbath, and, by the same token, they should be satisfied to permit the other communities to decide for themselves whether they care to have athletic sports and some innocent diversions and entertainments on Sunday afternoons and evenings, so long as they are not contrary to the spirit of religion and of the day.

"I intend to give this bill to a member of the 1933 Legislature to introduce on the first day of the session. I am satisfied that it will pass this time."

OPPOSE POPULAR RULE

"Those who oppose legislation of this kind do not oppose modification or repeal of the law of 1794; they oppose letting the people decide this question. They say, in effect, that the people are not capable of determining for themselves what they want.

"What the people want, so long as it is based on morality, fairness and common sense, cannot indefinitely be kept from them. Sooner or later the great commonwealth of Pennsylvania will take its place in the ranks of the modern and progressive, states on this subject of Sunday observance."

SHIP IN FLAMES, CREW RESCUED

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(INS.)—The crew of seven men aboard the Nova Scotian schooner Edith Dawson were rescued today only a few minutes before the ship burned to the water's edge, according to a radio message received here by the Radio Marine Corporation.

The rescue was effected by a lifeboat crew from the Sylvan Arrow, Standard Vacuum Oil Company vessel, which sighted the schoner at 5 a. m. off the Florida coast.

The radiogram from the Sylvan Arrow stated the schooner, bound for Nova Scotia from Turks Island with a cargo of salt, lost a sail during the recent three-day gale in these waters. Then fire broke out. The pumps failed.

The crew was taken off the schooner at 9:30 a. m. Half an hour later the craft was awash in the seas, it was reported. The Sylvan Arrow said she would proceed to Beaumont, Tex., her port of destination, with the rescued schooner crew aboard.

Dougherty Funeral.

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock tomorrow in All Saints Church, Etna, for Mrs. Elizabeth B. Dougherty, 71, mother of Thomas A. Dougherty, Democratic jury commissioner, who died Monday at her home, 4 Fisher avenue, Etna. Burial will be made in St. Mary's Cemetery, Sharpsburg. Honorary pallbearers will be David L. Lawrence, James J. Houlahan, Roy S. Morton, P. D. Haggerty, Dennis Casper and Martin Metzger.

THAT'S HER 'DUCKY'

PRINCESS MILLER, 4 . . . . . "CAN I HAVE PRECIOUS, TOO?"

Miss Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Miller, 2318 Fairland street, Overbrook, with "Ducky Darling" and the bathinette and 11-piece layette she received from the Sun-Telegraph Doll Lady. Miss Miller has now set about the task of getting the Doll Lady to give her "Precious," another dolly. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

5 BABIES SLAIN, COUPLE HELD

ROSSBURN, Manitoba, Nov. 30.—(INS.)—A stable fire, a quarrel, an anonymous letter all emerged today as elements in the strange mystery surrounding discovery of the bodies of five murdered babies, buried in apple boxes.

Provincial authorities worked diligently to piece together the chain of events which led to exhumation of the tiny bodies and arrest of Mrs. Peter Yachup and Fred Stowisky on murder charges.

Stowisky is a widower, 45, and has two sons and a daughter. Mrs. Yachup, who came to his farm daily, ostensibly to cook his meals, is an American woman, deserted by her husband in 1927.

An anonymous letter, written by Mrs. Yachup, according to police, led to finding of the bodies.

Angry in tone, the letter was received by Justice of the Peace C. H. Staples at Angusville, 14 miles west of Rossburn, the only village near the Stowisky and Yachup farms. The letter linked Stowisky with disposal of the bodies.

Royal Canadian Mounted police went to the stipulated locality and, after digging, unearthed four apple boxes containing the bodies. In one of the crude coffins the bodies of twins were found.

Bernard Shaw Visits N. Y. in Name Only

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Shaw arrived in New York today—in name only. Their names appeared on the passenger list of the liner Empress of Britain, which stopped here today to pick up American passengers for a world cruise, but they were not aboard.

It was explained that they will board the ship when it returns to England and will make the trip to the Far East.

Retirement of 8 Patrolmen Approved

Applications for retirement of eight patrolmen were approved by the Police Pension Fund today.

They are Samuel Logan, James Gallagher, William Huss, Peter McCormick, John McGonigal, Phillip Rimlinger, Michael Ryan and James Tanney.

Director James M. Clark said, in filling the vacancies, preference would be given furloughed patrolmen and sub-patrolmen with large families.

Calm Beauty of Nearby Landscapes Portrayed

—By PENELOPE REDD—

The Buckeye Art Club, a long-established organization of Youngstown, O., presents an exhibition of 30 paintings by seven members through December 10 at the Elliott gallery. Charles D. Hoover's autumnal landscape of golden oaks in Mill Creek Park strikes the general note of sincerity in this exhibition. J. Harry Leedy paints high summer in the rolling countryside.

Miss Redd

D. S. Hawkins has a brisk marine, and Ivan Hoon sends several water colors of boats at the Cleveland Yacht Club. Philip J. Thompson's "Cornfield - Canfield Road" is a pastoral well worth isolating in the medium of paint. James Porter's opalescent landscapes are exquisite in mood.

Morgan Morgan, one-time Pittsburgh resident, contributes the greatest number of canvases. A former student of Chase, Mowbray, Brush and Metcalfe at the Art Students' League in New York City, he carries on the American tradition of painting which they represent. His work emphasizes the interrelation of the Buckeye Art Club. In their concentration upon landscape themes, they communicate a genuine love of their home country without affectation and without the over-emphasis of form now current in this type of painting.

The canvases of Mr. Morgan remind one of a pleasant drive through the countryside. Painting after painting such as "The Cement Bridge Between Sharon and Middlesex," "The Old Mill at Wheatland," "The Pymatuning River Near Orangeville" and "The Shenango River at Clarksville," with meandering streams wandering through valleys cloistered amid tall trees, rouses that nostalgia which anyone who loves the country feels when imprisoned within the city.

Almost any of these paintings would stir the possessive instinct in those who respond intuitively to the calm beauty of our nearby landscapes. The show is to be recommended for its unselfconscious and appreciative approach to an aspect of the beautiful that most of us take for granted as we rush on to more spectacular phases of nature.

STATE SALES TAX FOUGHT HERE

Businessmen were urged to take a more active part in politics as a safeguard against excessive taxation by Arthur C. Kaufmann, regional vice president of the Pennsylvania Retailers' Association, last night at a dinner of the Pittsburgh Hotelmen's Association in Hotel Schenley.

Support of the hotel men was asked in assisting the Pennsylvania Retailers' Association in its efforts to prevent re-enactment of the sales tax.

Mr. Kaufmann cited the increase in expense of running the national government from 1890 to the present, and the huge sums set up in budgets for state, county and municipal expenditures.

Austria Finds Rays To Disable Planes

VIENNA, Nov. 30.—(INS.)—Experiments conducted at Bruck, Austria, with rays capable of disabling fighting airplanes were revealed today by the newspaper Sonn und Montagzeitung.

The rays were described as ultra-short electric waves.

Charity Coal Mine Guard Disappears

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Nov. 30.—Traffic Officer A. R. Hodkinson, detailed two weeks ago to superintend the municipal charity coal mine, has disappeared.

Police Chief Emery Gintz said Hodkinson reported off sick November 22.

W. Va. Miner Held In Aged Man's Death

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 30.—J. D. Taylor, 35, Triadelphia miner, is in jail here charged with the murder of Mike Kish, 76, miner, found with his skull crushed.

HOSPITAL HEAD'S WILL FILED

Dr. J. W. Macfarlane, former president of the medical board, chief of staff and vice president of the board of directors of the West Penn Hospital, by his will distributes his $10,000 estate to the same heirs who would share had he left no will.

The will probated today reads:

"To those entitled to take the same under the laws of Pennsylvania in force at the time of my demise as though I had died intestate."

The widow, Ida J. Macfarlane, will receive half the estate and the remainder will be divided among four children. Mrs. Macfarlane and a son, James W. Macfarlane, Jr., are named executors.

Probation Officer Named in Armstrong

KITTANNING, Pa., Nov. 30.—For the first time in the history of Armstrong County a probation officer has been appointed by Judge J. Frank Graff here. He is B. L. Barnhart. He will work under the advice of District Attorney William A. Ashe in the collection of costs and fines in criminal cases and investigate the life of boys and girls held in juvenile crimes and parole applicants.

Town's Dog Hero Dies of Old Age

SHARPSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 30.—Smarty, a dog owned by Jerry Saul, grocer, and a pal of hundreds of boys and girls, is dead, a victim of old age. The dog saved the life of Rudy Ashe, 18, last summer, when the latter was taken ill from eating toadstools and fell unconscious in a field where he was located by a posse headed by the dog.

Christmas Cards Unsealed Take Less Postage

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—You can mail your Christmas cards this year for a cent and a half each—provided you don't seal the envelopes.

Postmaster General Brown today sent instructions to all postmasters to consider as third class matter all Christmas greeting cards bearing a simple inscription and the name and address of the sender. When the envelope is sealed, the charge is three cents.

Postcards, not enclosed in envelopes, require only one cent postage.

DEER HUNTERS CROWD WOODS

DUBOIS, Pa., Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Thousands of hunters were entering the forests today, ready to spend the night in cabins waiting for dawn and the opening of the deer season.

The solitude of the vast tract of woodlands extending from Dubois eastward into Elk, Cameron and Clinton counties was disturbed as nimrods scattered themselves over its wild expanse in the hope of bringing down deer.

Conflicting opinions exist over the condition of the herd. Some veterans say last year's combined buck and doe season wiped out so much of the herd it will take years to build it up again, but game protectors say bucks of legal size will be plentiful.

Last winter's mild weather and the comparatively dry summer and fall were favorable for the development of the herd, the gamekeepers say.

BELIEVE KISS KILLER BANDIT

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., Nov. 30.—(AP.)—State troopers today attempted to link Charles Arnwine, who police said confessed the slaying of 15-year-old Frances Rempfer as he kissed her, with the holdup of several couples in automobiles parked along lonely roads in Bucks and Montgomery counties.

Other investigators said they would attempt to prove that the girl might have been slain because of her knowledge of the activities of the bandits.

Anthony Russo, Bucks County detective, said he had further proof to explode Arnwine's claim that he killed the girl in a suicide pact, and then lost his nerve. His proof, he said, is the discovery that he has been sought since January, 1931, on charges involving another girl.

Chief of Police Earl Swayze, of Willlow Grove, Pa., said he holds the warrant for the arrest of Arnwine, twice married at 25 and once divorced. Chief Swayze said the warrant charged Arnwine with beraying the girl.

'Ax-Grinders' Force House Ticket Order

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(INS.)—So many persons have axes to grind that most of them will be on the outside looking in when Congress convenes Monday, Joe Sinnott, House doorkeeper, has revealed. Admission will be by ticket only, and each congressman will be allowed but one ticket.

This is the first time since President Wilson delivered his message in person that admission has been limited to ticket holders.

SCHOOL BOILERS GET WATER

A fire hose was carrying water from a city fire plug to hot water boilers in Cathedral High School, Fifth avenue, today, in order that school might be continued.

When a water main broke yesterday the boilers were shut off. Because of the cold, classes were discontinued after the first period and the 1,100 students dismissed. The hose connection enabled classes to resume today.

Men were working on the water main and it will probably be repaired this afternoon.

State Saves $1,886 In Mailing of Tags

HARRISBURG, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—The Bureau of Motor Vehicles announces it has saved $1,886 in money and 3,157 hours in time in its mailing of applications for 1933 motor vehicle registrations.

Mailing this year cost $6,932 through use of smaller envelopes, and the time required was 11,518 hours.

Dentist's Fingers Shot Off by Gun

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 30.—(AP.)—The career of Dr. Carl C. Smith, 38, as a dentist was ended yesterday when a shotgun accidentally discharged, blowing off the middle and fore fingers of his right hand. Smith formerly lived in Fairmont.

Woman Pays Taxes With 1,310 Pennies

ANDERSON, Ind., Nov. 30.—The 1,310 pennies a woman brought to the county treasurer's office were as good as gold. She paid her taxes with them.

END DANDRUFF—ITCHY SCALP—FALLING HAIR

EIGHTY-FIVE per cent of all cases of hair loss result from two causes—(1) lack of nourishment for the growing hair and (2) local scalp disorders.

Both of these causes of baldness can be eliminated by Thomas treatment. It stimulates the dormant sources of nourishment (increases the blood supply in the scalp) and overcomes abnormal scalp conditions, such as dandruff.

If you have any of these aggravating symptoms of approaching baldness—dry or oily hair, itchy scalp, falling hair, or thin hair—consult a Thomas specialist today. No charge will be made for the consultation or scalp examination. He'll show you how Thomas treatment is ending dandruff, stopping hair fall, and growing hair for thousands of others, and how it can produce the same results for you.

Patricia Pitt

Today I have some important bridal news for you. A while ago, you'll recall, the engagement of Marion Larue Davis, of New York and Las Vegas, N. M., to Charles Neale Brown, son of the James E. Browns, of Sewickley, was announced.

I have word from New York that yesterday they obtained a marriage license in New York, and that they'll be married January 14.

The ceremony, an important one in the annals of the fashionable world, will take place in St. Batholomew's Church, New York.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of the Stephen S. Davises.

Do you recall the grand time all the youngsters and some of their parents, for that matter, had at the dances given during the holidays at Fox Chapel for the young school set?

Junior Dance

Mrs. Harry J. Miller is chairman of a group of mothers who are going to arrange for a Fox Chapel junior dance. The date will be December 29, and of course the place will be at the Fox Chapel Golf Club.

Aiding Mrs. Miller are Mrs. J. Frederic Byers, Mrs. George Berger, Mrs. J. Hartwell Hillman, Jr., Mrs. W. Terrell Johnson, Mrs. John Gibson, Jr., Mrs. Augustus K. Oliver and Mrs. Howard Heinz.

Many Pittsburgh friends are anticipating the arrival in a week or so of Mrs. W. Harry Brown. Mrs. Brown arrived in New York on the Berengeria, accompanied by her son, William H. Brown, Jr., and is spending a short time there before coming on to Pittsburgh.

Arrives In U. S.

Mrs. Brown has quite recovered from her illness, I hear. Her daughter, Mrs. C. A. Painter, Jr., who returned some time ago, went abroad early in the season when her mother was ill.

Mrs. Painter's likeable young daughter, Margaret, is now in school, by the way. She's studying at the Fermata School.

Have you heard that the Clarence Watson Wheelwrights, of Baltimore, have a daughter, born November 19? Mrs. Wheelwright is the former Martha Chalfant, daughter of Mrs. Henry Chalfant, whose old family home is on Ridge avenue, North Side.

Future Debutante

* * *

A group of the society women will attend the annual tea of the Waldensian Society Friday afternoon in the Twentieth Century Club.

Mrs. E. W. Schauffler, of Chicago, who's just back from Italy, will be the speaker, and during her stay will be the house guest of Mrs. James I. Kay, who's in charge of the meeting. Mrs. Edward O. Tabor will sing Italian songs.

Assisting Mrs. Kay will be Mrs. James Lockhart, Mrs. William Scott, Mrs. William Watson Smith, Mrs. George McKee, Miss Martha Jamison and Mrs. Robert Withers.

* * *

Mrs. Alex Hunter, of Sewickley, will give a dinner in her home tonight for Mrs. Pleasants Pennington, of Oyster Bay, L. I., the house guest of Mrs. Hughart Laughlin, Woodland road. Mrs. Pennington is here with a collection of mid-winter French dresses, being shown at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Pickering.

Miss Williams Marries in Temple

At an elaborate ceremony at 6 o'clock last evening in the Rodef Shalom Temple, the first temple wedding in years, Miss Helen J. Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob A. Williams, of Northumberland street, became the bride of Joseph A. Shenkan. Officiating was the Rev. Dr. Samuel H. Goldenson. The pulpit was decorated with ferns, palms, candelabra and vases of yellow chrysanthemums. So was the organ loft.

The bride wore a lovely gown of dull white velvet and imported white Boncera lace, having a high neckline, long, close-fitting sleeves of the lace, any a tiny cap of the lace from which was draped a nose veil of tulle, and long veil of tulle which extended the length of the full court train of the gown. She carried a white Bible with a marker of white orchids and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Leroy L. Williams, as her sister-in-law's matron of honor, wore gold velvet banded at the neck and arms with Kolinsky, and Miss Jane Oppenheim, of Monongahela City, as maid of honor, wore banana heart velvet having puffed sleeves of Kolinsky. Both carried bronze and yellow chrysanthemums with the bronze predominating.

The bridesmaids were Miss Gertrude Lasday, Miss Ruth Williams, Miss Doris Shenkan, of New Castle, cousin of the bride; Miss Naomi Wolk, Miss Ruth Berkman, Miss Frieda Danzinger, Miss May Cohn and Miss Betty Cohen, who wore gowns of Patou beige crepe having brown velvet girdles and capes of the crepe caught up at the left shoulder with brown velvet bows having streamers extending the length of the gowns in back. They all carried yellow and bronze chrysanthemums with the yellow predominating. The bride's mother wore lame having a short train, and a cape caught at the shoulder with orange velvet flowers, and she had a girdle of the velvet to match.

Allen Denis was his cousin's best man, and ushers included LeRoy L. Williams, brother of the bride; Alvin Shenkan, of Aliquippa; Bernard Williams, cousin of the bride; Maurice Finkelhor, Richard Hohenstein, Joseph Falk, of Detroit, and Jerome and Sidney Rosenberg.

There was a dinner dance in the Hotel Schenley after the ceremony, with the bride's table centered with mounds of yellow and gold chrysanthemums lighted by yellow tapers, and the individual tables for the guests were similarly decorated.

After a cruise of the West Indies on the S. S. Columbus, sailing Friday, Mr. Shenkan and his bride will be at home in Northumberland street, about December 17.

A DEBUTANTE RIDING TO HOUNDS AT THE ROLLING ROCK HUNT

MISS NANCY BYERS (LEFT), DEBUTANTE OF THE SEASON, AND MISS JANET COOK RIDING WITH THE HUNT AT EXCLUSIVE ROLLING ROCK COUNTRY CLUB

President Named Third Time by G.O.P. Women

HARRISBURG, Nov. 30.—For the first time in its history, the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women nominated a president for a third term, when Miss S. M. R. O'Hara was chosen yesterday to again head the ticket. Election is being held today.

The nominees, all unopposed, are: President, Mrs. O'Hara, Wilkes-Barre; vice presidents, Mrs. Worthington Scranton, Scranton; Mrs. Charles F. Eetter, Harrisburg; Mrs. Mary Flinn Lawrence, Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Hanna M. Durham, Allentown; recording secretary, Mrs. William R. Straugh, Mansfield; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Joseph H. Hinkson, Ridley Park; treasurer, Mrs. Charles B. Long, Lancaster; directors, Mrs. William Anderson and Mrs. C. A. Verner, Pittsburgh; Mrs. H. Tatnall Brown, Jr., Haverford; Mrs. Charles Chick, Uniontown; Mrs. Augusta Brown Fleming, Erie; Miss Bessie A. Miles, Milesburg; Mrs. Denna C. Ogden, Greensburg; Mrs. Barlay H. Warburton, Wyncote; Dr. Mary M. Wolfe, Laurelton; Miss Martha G. Thomas, Whitford; Mrs. Clarence Beck, Easton, and Mrs. John W. Cooper, Pineville.

Unemployment relief and reduction of governmental costs were stressed by Miss O'Hara, in her opening message to the convention.

Three hundred members from all parts of the state heard the president, a deputy attorney general, appeal for "clearer vision, less hesitation and more unanimous action" on the part of the 1933 General Assembly when it convenes to consider these and other problems next month.

Gov. Gifford Pinchot appealed to the council to give first thought to children in all unemployment relief work. He said:

"The worst sufferers of the depression are the children, because they will suffer longest. I do not under-estimate the bitter anxiety of the bread winner who cannot provide for his family, or the grief of the mother who sees her children lacking the very simplest and most necessary things they ought to have. But when the depression is over their suffering will largely disappear.

"The children, on the other hand, who are not receiving the food they need for their growing bodies, in whom vitamin deficiency and other forms of semi-starvation are working out in bodily defects, whose physical growth is stunted for lack of proper food, and whose mental growth suffers a corresponding injury—these children will continue to pay the bill throughout their lives."

Crafton Club to Hold School Lunch Benefit

To provide hot lunches for undernourished children in the community the child welfare committee of the Crafton Woman's Club will hold a benefit dance and card party Friday evening in the Knights of Columbus clubhouse. The expenses of the affair have been underwritten so that the entire proceeds will be used for the children. The committee rendered a conspicuous service in this way last winter in both public and parochial schools and is contemplating a larger program of service this year.

Amelia Earhart To Lecture in Wilkinsburg

The Amelia Earhart lecture, "Flying for Fun," is being sponsored by the Wilkinsburg Rotary Club, for the Welfare Fund, and will be given tomorrow evening in the auditorium of the Wilkinsburg High School, North avenue.

At 5:30 p. m. a reception is being given in honor of Miss Earhart in the Penn-Lincoln Hotel.

These Wilkinsburg women compose the reception committee: Mrs. Guy D. Engle, Mrs. W. C. Hawley, Mrs. James G. Chalfant, Mrs. W. E. Brinker, Mrs. John R. McDowell, Mrs. William C. Graham, Mrs. Floyd Carson, Mrs. O. G. Liechliter, Mrs. Robert E. Beaton, Miss Martha Black, Mrs. Harry Mitchell, Mrs. Harry Walmer, Mrs. George C. Blair, Mrs. George Rankin, Jr., Mrs. William K. Clutton, Mrs. Edward Kregar, Mrs. George Felger, Mrs. Thomas Allen, Mrs. William M. Turner, Mrs. S. B. Cuthbert, Dr. Mary E. Coffin, Mrs. D. A. Eneix, Mrs. John Hooper, Mrs. J. W. Adams, Mrs. Edward F. Ege, Mrs. Arnold M. Replogle, Mrs. E. C. Miller, Mrs. H. P. Meeds, Mrs. E. J. McCoy, Mrs. Karl R. Maerker, Mrs. William L. Goffe and Miss Matilda Graham.

Greensburg Girl Chosen To Lead Sophomore Hop

Miss Mildred Foight, of Greensburg, has been chosen by Wilson Brooks, chairman, to lead the annual sophomore hop of the University of Pittsburgh, which is being given Friday evening in the Urban Room of the William Penn.

The color scheme will be in black and gold for the dance, the first hop ever to be held off-campus.

The chaperons include: Dr. and Mrs. J. H. McFadden, Dr. and Mrs. Gustav L. Schramm and Mr. and Mrs. James H. Potts.

Benefit to Be Given For African Mission

A benefit card party for the Rev. P. Coenen's African mission at Nangina, will be held tomorrow evening at Utility Hall, Sixth avenue. Bridge, "500," eucher and bingo will be played.

The benefit is being sponsored by Miss Mary Sauers. Miss Mary Anstead and Mrs. J. A. Neuhart.

Next to acting, in the interests of young Ruth Haverty, daughter of the Aylesboro avenue John M. Havertys, is riding. Her "riding ground" is in the Fox Chapel district. And she hates to miss a polo game.

Ruth, who appeared the past week with Blanche Ring starring at the Pitt Theater, will have a good part, I hear, in "The Devil Passes" next week at the Pitt.

Thanksgiving night Ruth entertained at dinner in her home for Blanche Ring and Betty Hanna, the leading lady.

Members Enjoy Chat at Club Luncheons

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

There's always a by-product of the Friday Morning Club lecture to which some of the club members look forward with especial eagerness and that's the luncheon which follows the lecture. Here the conversation is altogether informal and opportunity is afforded to know the speaker better. Especially is this true of the luncheons when Mrs. Ida Wright Bowman comes to town, as coming she is for her first lecture on Friday of this week.

Mrs. Samuel Hamilton, Jr., will be hostess at the luncheon in the Hotel Schenley. New names appearing on the hostess committee for this year's lecture course are Mrs. George S. Oliver, Mrs. William Reed Thompson, Mrs. E. P. Buchanan, Mrs. A. E. Braun, Mrs. D. N. Carlin and Mrs. J. M. Simpson.

Those serving on the greeting committee this week are Mrs. J. O. Miller, Mrs. W. A. Durell, Mrs. Robert J. Cleland, Mrs. W. A. Montgomery and Mrs. Carl J. Behrhorst.

Westminster Club To Be Guest of Mrs. Trimble

The Westminster College Women's Club will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Thomas P. Trimble, Howe street, on Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Trimble will be assisted by her daughters, Mrs. Robert Peebles Rhodes, and Miss Frances, Miss Mary Annetta and Miss Euphemia Trimble.

An interesting Christmas program arranged by Miss Plauda Schenck will be presented. It includes several groups of songs and Christmas carols, which will be sung by Mrs. George R. Roble, of Aspinwall, and a dramatic presentation by young women attending the school of speech at Westminster College. Prof. Albert T. Cordray, director of the Little Theater of the college, is directing this part of the program.

A brief business meeting will be conducted by the president, Mrs. Scott N. Watt. During the social hour which will follow, Mrs. H. H. Donaldson will pour, and these members of the social committee will assist: Miss Laura Turner, Miss Elizabeth Gilmore, Miss Dorothy Neven, Miss Sylvia Jamison and Mrs. Merle Burke.

Chairmen, Aides Named For Hospital Benefit

Miss Agnes Brown, who is the treasurer of the Columbia Hospital Auxiliary, will be the cashier at the annual sale Saturday in the Hotel Schenley.

Mrs. Louis Gerber will preside over a table of cakes, rolls, pies and other home baked articles. She will have as aides, Mrs. J. Vernon Wilson, Mrs. Orland Lytle, Mrs. Joseph Johnston, Mrs. J. E. Andrews, Mrs. George Kesel and Mrs. Horace Shurer.

Mrs. John Packer, who will sell candy, salted nuts and stuffed dates, will be assisted by Mrs. Boone Groves, Mrs. Hartin Boyd and Mrs. James L. Gilmore.

A table of aprons will be in charge of Miss Beatrice Brown.

THE SUIT WITH JACKET-BLOUSE LIKED FOR ITS INFORMALITY

—Sketched in Paris—

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Nov. 30.—The suit with the jacket-blouse, introduced a few months ago, has been taken up by the younger set in Paris. The same young people who, in holiday time, wore dark blouses with white linen skirts at Biarritz and Antibes, like the informality of these suits which look for all the world like a wool blouse worn with a separate wool skirt.

* * *

INVARIABLY THIS suit is made of two different materials. Sometimes the skirt is plain-colored and the jacket plaided; sometimes the skirt is striped, and the accompanying jacket in solid color matching one of the stripes. Sometimes both are solid color, with the skirt of light-weight jersey and the jacket of some sturdy tweed or homespun.

* * *

AT MAGGY-ROUFF'S this type of suit is made with an eye on the accepted Paris costume of black and is tailored with sufficient attention to classic lines to make it appropriate for town wear. There is a plain black skirt, topped with a slightly formal blouse which is suited to restaurant wear—the whole combined with a blouse-like jacket of black fabric in some variation.

* * *

THE MODEL in the sketch uses an indefinite white plaiding against a background of black for this variation. The jacket is made with a widened shoulder line, achieved by a half-moon cording put in at the top of the sleeves. Belt and lower part of the jacket are fastened closed with tabs of fabric and metal clips.

* * *

THE BLACK and white scarf of fine knit matches the tuck-in blouse of white banded across the front and back and down the arms with black. The separate skirt is of thick, loosely woven homespun.

MUSIC

String Symphony Ensemble

Carnegie Lecture Hall

PROGRAM

Dvorak, Op. 22—Serenade.
Dall'Abaco (1675-1742)—Concerto da Chiesa.
Pergolesi—Preludio from Stabat Mater.
Beethoven—Minuetto from Quartet No. 4.
Cherubini (1760-1842)—Lodoiska (Overture).

The second concert of the String Symphony Ensemble in Carnegie Lecture Hall last night was as delightful a concert as ever given by any local chamber music organization. The fiery Del Bianco conducted with assurance and offered his audience quite a classic program.

Mr. Lissfelt

The Dvorak Serenade opens with a prolix and wearisome movement but with the valse takes on interest which throughout the scherzo larghetto and final allegro never lags. The work is singularly devoid of the national color so closely associated with this composer, but is no less beautiful for that.

The Concerto da Chiesa of Dall'Abaco is a new work to us. It makes use of the piano (four hands), perhaps to replace woodwinds, but nevertheless in a most effective manner. A concerto for the church, it has the dignity of the cathedral, while its compact structure is most attractive to the musician.

Pergolesi's "Stabat Mater" remains as vital as when it was written and the prelude gives a string orchestra unusual occasion to display its technique. The arrangements for the Beethoven Minuet and Cherubini overture were below the standard of the rest of the program, and the fine playing of the ensemble wavered somewhat in both.

J. FRED LISSFELT.

Triangle Club to Give Yule Gifts Tomorrow

Members of the Triangle Club of Wilkinsburg will exchange gifts when they meet tomorrow in Mrs. C. H. Blaine's home, East End avenue. Mrs. J. T. TELL IT TO SALLY

It Isn't Wise to Monopolize A Friend's Time

The jealous girl friend—

That's Sadie.

But Sadie doesn't call it jealousy. She calls it "loyalty;" and she's frightfully upset at Ida's "disloyalty" in stepping out with another girl.

Ever had a girl friend like that? Ever been one? Then here's something that will be good for what ails you.

Dear Sally:

I feel so low, and so darn bad, that I just don't know what to do. Here is the problem that is confronting me.

My girl friend, Ida, and I have been such good friends that I just can't remember an instance when she or I went out without the other, until just lately; and she's the one who has started doing it.

I have been invited out many a time and wouldn't go, because if I went I wanted her to be with me. And the thanks I've got for it ! ! !

She lives with a foster mother, and doesn't like her very well, so many a time she has slept, eaten and practically lived at my home. But she seems to be forgetting all that.

Last week I was invited out by a fellow I like, and who will be from a different state to visit his folks and me. I refused his invitation because he couldn't get another fellow for her. Then, when I saw her in the evening, she told me she was going out the next night with a fellow who had been introduced to her by a certain other girl. Well, we'll let that go.

FEELS HURT

But what is getting me is that she will go for a walk or to the theater with me, and then she'll meet this other girl and talk to her, because she thinks this other girl is more popular than I am.

Maybe she is; but I have thought we were friends. And now I've come to the conclusion that "your best friend is your enemy," and "your enemy is your friend."

Please help me. What do you think about this? I'd like to have your opinion and the opinion of your readers, as to whether I am right or wrong in feeling hurt over it all.

SADIE.

SHOULD SHARE PAL

You want my opinion?

All right—here goes! Frankly, Sadie, you're being just a selfish, ornery, jealous little sap.

Because you were friends you've tried to own this pal of yours. You've tried to live her life. You've insisted on her living yours. You've been two-timing both of you. You've been two-timing life.

For no two people, however fond they are of each other, have any right to try to shut the rest of the world out.

So long as you were children, it worked. But you're grown now. You are each of you ready to step out and take your place in the Big Parade, and it's up to you to do it. And you have no right to feel peeved or hurt because she was wise enough to realize that before you were.

So stop your grousing and learn to be a real friend—a real enough friend to share your pal—real enough to be glad to see her have other friends, and be happy.

If you can go places together, all well and good. Go. But stop gypping yourself or your friend out of fun because you can't be together.

You're a woman now. Act like one.

Fay King Doubts Wisdom of Wife Who Drives Her Husband

HER HUSBAND LOOKS SO WORRIED AND WORN OUT FROM OVER-WORK
I COULDN'T BEAR TO SEE YOU SLAVING AWAY TO PROVIDE US WITH NEEDLESS LUXURIES
I DON'T SEE WHY YOU CAN'T MAKE AS MUCH A YEAR AS HE DOES!
FAY KING

By FAY KING

It is true that many husbands might never have attained the success they have if it had not been the prodding and driving their wives did.

But I wonder sometimes if it was worth it. True, you see their wives gowned and jeweled in a way that proclaims their husbands' financial success to the world. But too often when you look at them they have grown so weary and tired looking.

The wife who holds up another husband's greater success in the business world to urge her husband on to do likewise may see him achieve that goal, but I think the wife who loves her husband so much she does not want him to slave for such great success has a happier man in her home.

Madge Gets New Theory About Girls' Coats

I knew only too well that what my husband meant when he said that he "had a hunch he could do better work in a different branch of the service," than scouting the roads leading from Sacketsville for traces of the missing girls.

He meant to go to the nearest airport where he was known, charter a plane and fly over the mountainous country surrounding Whitney Hall, in an endeavor to get some clew undiscoverable otherwise.

"Oh!" I said involuntarily, then covered it up with a banal, quick question: "Will the car be back so I can start on the roads by daylight?"

Dicky smiled at me, a sort of "You're-a-good-scout" grin, and my throat constricted till I thought my breath would stop.

"I hope so," he said, and then Harry Underwood asked with apparent casualness, masking what I knew was real apprehensive tension:

"Going to take a boat up?"

"Looks like the best thing to do, don't you think?" Dicky rejoined, and as the other nodded Ronald cried eagerly:

"Couldn't I help, sir?"

Dicky looked at him speculatively, and I knew he was sympathizing with the lad's patent desire to essay the most dangerous task possible for Marion and his sister. But Harry Underwood shook his head promptly.

MADGE IS UNEASY

"You must think of your mother, boy," he said. "She's pretty near the breaking point now, and if she thought you were making an air flight it would be the last straw. Sometimes it's the hardest thing to do, to play the apparently cautious role."

He was trying to hearten himself as well as Roland. I saw that, and knew that he, too, was wild to go with Dicky, but that he would add no feather of weight to Lillian's burden.

"Yes, I know," Ronald said dully, and then Dicky spoke directly to me.

"If you'll come out here, I'll tell you some things you ought to know about the car," he said hastily, but I don't think anyone was deceived as to the real meaning of his summons. Just outside the door, he caught me roughly in his arms.

"Going to be my brave girl?" he asked.

I choked back a tearing sob and put my arms around his neck.

"Yes," I answered. "But Oh! please be careful!"

"As a church," he said, then kissed me quickly and was gone to summon Wynne. I waited for a few seconds, whipping up my courage, then returned to the sitting room, hoping that my panic did not appear in my face.

"And nobody saw them after they started for their walk?" Ronald was asking as I entered the door.

ASKS ABOUT COATS

"There was a story that two girls were seen getting into an automobile," Dr. Barnes said, "but we find that the coats of of the girls seen were different from those Marion and Carolyn wore, so it doesn't seem much of a clue. However, Mr. Underwood assures me that one of his men will check it completely tomorrow."

With sudden decision I spoke to Mrs. Barnes.

"May I see you for a minute in your own room?"

"Of course." She rose promptly and went with me into her bedroom, where I went to the point at once.

"I want to check that coat question," I said. "This man in the village told Rose that the girls he saw were wearing red coats. The pupils here said Marion and Carolyn were wearing plaid ones; yet Mrs. Underwood and I both know that Marion had neither a red coat nor a plaid one when she left home. That being settled, and Mrs. Brixton being so nervous, I did not ask her about it before she left for the hotel. But tell me! Surely coats can be bought here in your village?"

"I see," she said, her bright, attentive eyes fixed upon my face. "Yes, there are two or three smart shops that cater to the pupils."

I drew a long breath.

"Would it be possible for me to talk to the saleswomen of those shops before morning?" I asked.

Fashion Flashes

By ALICE ALDEN

One cannot forget hair this season, for the way it is dressed is an integral part of the mode. Inspired by the racing cyclists, Antoine makes a coiffure which is brushed back from the face, as though wind-blown. It is short and smooth at the nape, and curls are massed high in back.

Regal wraps are again making their appearance. An exquisite model is done in geranium red velvet, with immense sleeves with shirred sections marked by a spiral application of brown sable-marten done in bands with the shirrings between the fur. The middle band turns into a cape at the back.

At home one can wear such lovely things when entertaining. A new hostess gown is of graduated frills of black cire lace, with long, widening sleeves. Like a coat, it opens in front and is worn over a skirt or pyjamas. It has revers, a foundation top and huge bow at the waist of pink silk organdie in a heavy weave.

A pleasing frame to the face is easily acquired even if one wears the simplest of evening frocks. Worth, the French dressmaker, makes huge crestruches of dark-colored velvet ribbon and these can be clipped on the shoulder straps of evening frocks. Any simple velvet or crepe frock can be beautifully dressed up this way.

We must be shallow when it comes to the hat crown. For the shallow line is seen in every important hat, no matter what the type. A very shallow black bagheera sailor has rows of stitching on the brim. It is trimmed with African white crepe ribbon over and under the brim, where it is loosely lopped against the hair.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Note of Greeting

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1—My brother, who has married recently in California, has asked me to write to his wife. Should I write to her first, or should she write to me first?

2—I have never met the girl and have no idea what I should write, although I've seen her picture. Will you please help me by giving me an idea of what I should write? T.

1—Your brother is right in asking you to write a note of greeting and friendliness to his wife. It is the family of the groom who welcome into the family the finacee or wife. As a matter of fact, the members of the young man's family should write to his fiancee at once after he has told them of his engagement. If this wasn't possible, in your case, then you should write at once to his wife.

2—In your note tell how heartily you welcome her into your family, how happy you are about your brother's marriage. Tell her too, how deeply happy you are about your brother's love of her, what charming things he has said about her, and how very much you are looking forward to knowing her. And it would be natural, too, for you to tell her of your devotion to your brother, and of your happiness in the thought of his happiness. Your letter should not be a bit formal, just because you have not met this young lady; but should be richly friendly and warm-hearted and welcoming. This kind of letter is, remember, one of the most important kind that we are ever called upon to write.

Walking Together

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When two young ladies and one young man walk together how should they be "arranged" on the sidewalk? L.

The man walks on the side of the pavement nearest the curb. He should not "sandwich" himself between them.

A Friendly Note

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I wish to present a birthday gift to a young man with whom I have been "keeping company" for seven months, but I am in doubt as to whether it would be proper for me to do so, as he has never given me a gift.

What would you suggest besides books? T.

Since this young man has never given you a present . . . if for no other reason . . . don't you think that it would embarrass him to receive a gift from you? It certainly will if he knows what's what. And I don't want to have you put yourself in this position. Don't allow your enthusiasm and generosity to take this form of present-giving. Instead, write the young man a fine, friendly note of congratulations and good wishes for his birthday.

Contract Bridge

HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

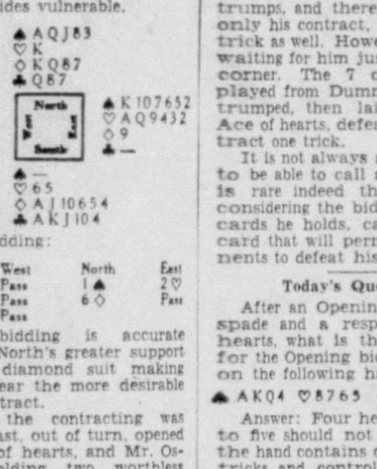
Calling a Lead

One of the most difficult situations which faces a Bridge player is that created when, after the auction is ended, an opponent makes a lead out of turn, giving to the Declarer the option of naming the suit which he desires to have led. Often what appears to be obviously the best lead turns out to be something entirely different, and a lead that on its face appears bad is the one that would have made the contract.

Mr. Lewis Osborn, a young player in New York City, bitterly rues his choice of a penalty on the hand below:

South—Dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.



The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ◇	Pass	1 ♠	2 ♡
4 ♣	Pass	6 ◇	Pass
Pass	Pass

The bidding is accurate enough. North's greater support for the diamond suit making that appear the more desirable final contract.

When the contracting was ended, East, out of turn, opened the Ace of hearts, and Mr. Osborn, holding two worthless hearts, feared the defeat of his contract. He pondered over the penalty he should impose. Gazing at his strong club holding, which was good for 5 tricks if the Queen could be captured or finessed against, he decided that a club lead would make his contract easy.

"Lead a club," he directed.

His West opponent complied, and the Dummy was exposed on the table. Mr. Osborn could see that the precaution he had adopted was unnecessary, as he had five straight leads for the clubs, but he still congratulated himself on his choice of penalty, as he could probably discard his losing hearts on the clubs, after drawing the adverse trumps, and thereby make not only his contract, but an overtrick as well. However, fate was waiting for him just around the corner. The 7 of clubs was played from Dummy, and East trumped, then laid down the Ace of hearts, defeating the contract one trick.

It is not always an advantage to be able to call a lead, but it is rare indeed that a player, considering the bidding and the cards he holds, calls the one card that will permit his opponents to defeat his contract.

Today's Question

After an Opening bid of one spade and a response of two hearts, what is the proper bid for the Opening bidder to make on the following hand?

♠ A K Q 4 ♡ 8 7 6 5 ◇ K J 10 9 ♣ 6

Answer: Four hearts. A Raise to five should not be made, as the hand contains only 3 honor-tricks and control of but one suit.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Time was when little children were told to point toes out. Now we know that's all wrong, leading to foot weakness and deformities, because too much weight is thrown on the inner portion of the human pedal, tendons are strained. Place the foot so that the great toe and the inner portion of the heel will be on a straight line. With toes pointed straight ahead, the weight of the body is distributed on those little dogs that serve faithfully and well if given half a chance.

Eyebrows, though mere wraiths of their former selves, need glisten. A good way to get it is to apply a mixture of one ounce of castor oil and one ounce of rubbing alcohol. Put it on every night with an eyebrow brush. For darkening the little scimitars there are three choices, the crayon pencil, mascara or a permanent dye. Not safe to do the dyeing oneself. Operators in beauty shops are trained in this line of work, the expense amounts to little. Coloring must be put on every four months.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Periodic Examinations Pay Health Dividends

In a recent newspaper interview, Dr. Charles W. Mayo stated that protection against human ailments has developed so that there is little excuse for the continued existence of some diseases. This eminent surgeon believes that within the next 50 years the development of preventive methods will materially aid in the progress medical science has made in the last half century. Certainly we are foolish to disregard the benefits of health information.

Dr. Copeland

Within recent years one of the most important of modern advances has been the development of that branch of medicine known as "preventive medicine." Preventive medicine encourages the periodic health examination. This should be made at regular intervals, regardless of whether it is believed disease is present or absent.

The object of these examinations is to discover disease in its early stage. At this period most ailments are painless and give no warning of their existence. It is important to get the truth because a disease that is discovered early can usually be cured quickly.

Many serious chronic diseases develop slowly, causing little disturbance to the body health. When neglected and allowed to run their course, it is often difficult to give permanent relief. Detection can be made by careful periodic health examinations. In this way cancer is frequently found. Cancer recognized at an early stage is usually, if not always, curable.

Preventive medicine increases the life span and prevents the occurrence of many constitutional diseases. Epidemics which in former years destroyed huge armies are rarely heard of in these times. There are still many diseases that can be and should be prevented. I refer to those infectious diseases, diphtheria, scarlet fever, typhoid fever and smallpox. They are preventable by modern methods of immunization.

Unfortunately, most persons are careless concerning their health. They will visit a doctor only when they have a definite complaint. This is the wrong attitude towards health. I can not over-emphasize the importance of periodic visits to a doctor. Visit your doctor before you are sick, and thus prevent unnecessary loss of health, time and money.

It is hoped that the general public will appreciate the effort of the medical profession to stimulate interest in periodic health examinations. It is only by co-operation between the physician and the patient that existing diseases can be eradicated and the health of the nation be improved.

If you have not had a physical examination recently attend to it at once. Take inventory of your health. Certainly that is more important than your property.

Answers to Health Queries

A Daily Reader. Q.—I am annoyed with a kind of soft callous under one of my finger nails, which seems to be spreading slowly. What can be done for this?

A.—Consult your doctor or go to one of the skin clinics.

Q.—What are the main symptoms of tuberculosis of the lungs?

A.—Loss of weight, pain in the chest region, coughing and expectoration, night sweats and afternoon temperature. An examination is necessary in order to determine whether or not a patient is suffering from this disease.

R. M. E. Q.—I have pale yellow blotches around my eyes and it is more prominent at times. My skin is also yellow. Can you tell me what causes this?

A.—Your trouble may be due to a sluggish liver. It would be wise to consult your physician and have an examination.

Household Hints

A few drops of turpentine in the water when washing white silk stocksings will keep them from turning yellow.

As soon as there is a cut or break in the skin of any member of the family, just for safety's sake paint it with iodine.

Summer cretonnes may be washed without fear in warm water in which soap and bran water are mixed. You will be surprised how much dirt can come out without affecting the colors of the material.

One housewife keeps a package of picnic spoons in her medicine chest. She uses these for measuring, as there is no action of medicine on metal to be considered, and they may be thrown away after the dose of medicine is taken, thus eliminating any spread of germs.

Are your teeth only 1/5 protected?

Use Squibb's—the 5-way dentifrice

1 There are scores of products to clean your teeth . . . but none that will do it as effectively and safely as Squibb Dental Cream.

2 You can find dozens of materials to polish your teeth . . . but few that will do it as well and safely as Squibb's, with its complete freedom from grit.

3 To prevent bleeding of the gums . . . the safe way is the Squibb way, which keeps the gum tissues healthy and avoids injury from astringents or other irritants. No dentifrice can cure frequently bleeding gums. Such a condition requires the attention of a dentist.

4 Squibb Dental Cream is always most economical because it gives greatest protection. It is the purest and safest that can be made, and is sold at the lowest price manufacturing cost permits. Its use is true economy.

5 Squibb Dental Cream will help to prevent decay by combating the germ acids which cause decay.

You have a right to demand a dentifrice that will benefit your teeth, not in one or two ways only, but in every way that can contribute to oral health. That is why millions are choosing Squibb Dental Cream. It is really five dentifrices in one.

In the Squibb scientifically balanced formula all the purposes of an effective dentifrice have been served. Each ingredient is carefully selected and repeatedly tested. When you buy such a product as a dentifrice, you can only take the manufacturer's claims on faith. But in buying Squibb Dental Cream you need have no doubts. It contains the Priceless Ingredient—the Honor and Integrity of its Maker.

Visit your dentist regularly. And give your teeth all-round protection by brushing them at least twice a day with Squibb's.

VOTE CHARGES FAIL UNDER RECOUNT

The numerous complaints of irregularities in the conduct of the recent election in the Forty-Third Senatorial District have not been substantiated by the returning and recount boards. The final vote as compiled by the returning board returns Senator James J. Coyne winner over George H. Rieke as predicted by political leaders and political editors. The final vote was: Coyne 21,112, and Rieke 14,748.

Edwin J. Wuerthele, candidate on the Independent ticket who has made some of the charges of fraud so far unsubstantiated, received only 1,232 votes in the entire district. Mr. Wuerthele failed to appear at the county commissioners' public hearing for those who believed they knew of election frauds although he had promised to be present.

The Sun-Telegraph is printing the detailed official results of the election in the Forty-third District. The figures will enable those, who on election night obtained figures from election boards, to check those against the official totals which reached the returning board. Numerous differences in the figures as given out by the boards to watchers, candidates and other interested persons or recorded on the return sheets posted at polling places and the official figures would be evidence of irregularities.

Many honest members of election boards keep for their personal record the figures compiled on election night. The publication of the following district returns will enable these persons also to determine if the election returns as they were compiled by them were tampered with between the time they left the hands of the election board and were compiled by the returning board.

Famous Garner Percolator Vanishes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Mrs. Garner's famous coffee percolator, the handsome one given her by Representative Kleberg, which bubbled in her Capitol office all last session, has disappeared.

For several days after arriving from Texas, Mrs. Garner was too busy to make her customary coffee.

And when today's brisk weather brought tantalizing thoughts of hot coffee—Mrs. Garner hunted high and low, but no percolator could she find.

Gone, too, was the pendulum on the clock and the electric cord from the pressing iron.

Mrs. Garner suspects souvenir hunters were at work during the summer.

WASH OUT YOUR K-I-D-N-E-Y-S— SLEEP FINE

No More Getting Up Nights

So you feel achy all over, miserable and blue? Your head feels "crowded" your nerves quiver, you have pin-and-needle cramps—your appetite has gone and you feel weak as a cat. Don't fill your stomach with tonics or laxatives or rheumatism remedies. How can they help if it is your kidneys.

The job of the kidneys is to strain the uric acid and other poisons out of your blood. They purify your blood, that's it. Now you must not let these acids stay in the kidneys or they'll get back in the blood and poison your whole body. That's why your kidneys must pass 3 pints of "water" a day. Let them fail and you know it. Your appetite goes back on you, so does your pep, your sleep, and your nerves—your back hurts, your ankles and feet may swell up and you feel cranky and sick.

Now see what a wonderful change takes place after you start on Foley Pills. Kidney action increases at once. Out go those acids. Burning stops. Sleep is sounder, and none of this getting-up business. You feel like "somebody".

Your druggist has Foley Pills. Sells a lot of them, because most people know how good they are. Don't cost much either—but they certainly do a grand job. If they don't, your money back any time you want it. ©1932

Woodin Suite Introduced By Rapee

The world premiere of the "Covered Wagon" suite, much-discussed orchestral work from the pen of W. H. Woodin, industrial magnate, during an all-American program by a concert orchestra under the direction of Erno Rapee, headlines tonight's radio offerings. The program is scheduled on WCAE at 9 p. m. to continue for an hour. It features, in addition to Woodin's composition, Shilkret's "Skyward," Guion's "Turkey in the Straw" and "Sheep and Goat Walking to the Pasture," Hadley's "Atonement of Pan" and a march by Grisselle. Woodin is president of the American Car and Foundry Company, director of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, and an official of other large industrial organizations.

Mr. Woodin

A thrilling dramatic version of Rex Beach's short story, "Cool Waters," over an NBC network including KDKA tonight at 7:30 inaugurates the series of weekly radio dramas offered as the Thursday night feature of the new Five Star Theater. Immediately preceding the dramatization Beach makes a brief curtain speech.

Program Pointers

Nellie Revell, famed American woman journalist, interviews Paul Whiteman during her weekly broadcast over an NBC-WEAF network including WCAE tonight at 11 o'clock. Miss Revell is the author of several books and is one of the few newspaper writers in America ever to obtain an interview with the famous opera singer, the late Dame Nellie Melba . . . Speaking in the English language, with which she was unfamiliar six weeks ago, Margaret Bach, veteran woman broadcaster of Europe, discusses her radio experiences over WCAE tomorrow afternoon at 2:45.

Miss Revell

Kiviette, well-known designer of stage and screen costumes, tells "How the Stage Influences Fashions" when she broadcasts as guest speaker during the Women's Radio Review on WCAE at 3:30 today.

"Lost at Sea," the story of a captain who scuttled his own vessel, and of the strange way in which retribution came to him, is the Cape Diamond Light dramatization on KDKA at 8 p. m.

Ruth Etting turns from her "blues" to sing Stephen C. Foster's "Old Folks at Home," with Nat Shilkret's orchestra on WJAS at 10.

A group of the best known old time favorites, requested by listeners from time to time, compose the Corn Cob Pipe Club program, scheduled over WCAE at 10. Highlights are "Standin' In the Need o' Prayer," "A Man Rode a Mule Around the World," "Casey Jones" and "25 Years from Now."

"Abby Saves a Life"—in which Abby braves the elements to carry serum to a diptheria victim in a thrilling race against time—is presented during "Friendship Town" at 9:30 over KDKA.

Grid Champions' Coach With Seals

Moe Rubenstein, football coach at Ambridge High School, whose team came through the season undefeated to win the championship of the W. P. I. A. L., is interviewed by Julius Levin, editor of scholastic sports for the Sun-Telegraph, as a highlight of the Trained Seals program on WCAE at 7 o'clock tonight. Harry Keck, Sun-Telegraph sports editor, is master of ceremonies.

A group of talented Pittsburgh youngsters present a program for the children under the direction of Jane A. White at 4:45 on WCAE.

Louis L. Kaufman, Globe-Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News, flashes the latest news to WCAE and WJAS dialers at 9:05 a. m., 12:15 p. m., 2:15 p. m. and 6:30 p. m. today.

GLOBE-TROTTING

With Louis L. Kaufman

Globe-Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News

Hello, Ladies and Gentlemen—

Say, I certainly started something the other day when I waxed so enthusiastic about a rope-skipping record of 12,000 jumps in an hour and a half. As a result of that statement comes a challenge to all the globe trotters from Fire Captain Fred Neppach, of Engine Company No. 9, who claims the championship with 15,000 jumps in the same length of time. In fact, this is the way the captain keeps warm while waiting for fires.

A cherished memento of one globe trotter is the blue satin cape which was given to Mrs. Mary E. Russell. One hundred and fifty years ago it was part of her grandmother's wedding gown. Mrs. Russell is 82 years young.

A helpful suggestion came from Mrs. S. F. concerning emergency cases. She relates a harrowing experience of sudden illness during the night and inability to locate a doctor. So that no one else need endure this anguish she tells of the Physician's Exchange, Montrose 3200. This exchange, which is used by many leading physicians, operates 24 hours a day and can provide a doctor immediately.

Heinie—Officials still undecided regarding opening of Duquesne Garden for ice skating this winter. Chances look slim unless some action is taken very shortly.

John W. Latchem, Jr., Charleroi—There were no races at Altoona on Labor Day, 1932.

Thanks to Genevieve Warren, of Gastonville, we have a grand idea for the birds this winter when the snow covers the ground. The shell of half an orange makes a gay and attractive holder in which to place the bread crumbs, seed and suet. Tack it on the limb of a tree or place it in the shrubbery. Shellac or varnish will help preserve it.

Dry those tears, girls—and here's how. When peeling onions always place said vegetable under the cold water faucet and those big starry eyes will never become dimmed or reddened. This suggestion comes from a bride of a few months, Mrs. G. Dixon Shrum, who has learned the art of keeping tearless.

Show Boat Stars On WWSW

Principals of Ziegfeld's "Show Boat" will come to the microphone tonight in a half hour broadcast at 7 o'clock coming from the Nixon restaurant over station WWSW. Helen Morgan and Norma Terris are scheduled to be heard. George Hirst, musical director, will conduct the broadcast. The Shafer-Englert Orchestra, which is playing at the restaurant, will furnish the music.

Romance of King Dramatized

"Sheer Romance," presented over an NBC-WJZ network from the studios of KDKA at 6:30 tonight, dramatizes the romance of King Henry of Navarre and Margaret Valois. Alma Lind, Ruth Aston and Claude Morris play the leading roles.

Listening in on Radio Gossip

Thumbnail sketch of Evelyn Herbert, Magic Carpet songbird: Bobbed golden hair, blue eyes, 5 feet 1 inch tall, 115 pounds; born in Philadelphia, attended schools in New York and Chicago, has no favorite author, raves about Greta Garbo; likes all sports, particularly football, and often goes horseback riding; favorite color—Cerulean blue; likes limburger cheese.

Miss Herbert

If you don't believe Mr. Radio Public is a stickler for details: Josef Bonime, musical director of the Death Valley Days programs was preparing songs for a scene laid in 1902, but inadvertently selected a ditty that wasn't written until 1905—and did a listener, just to show him up, give him a terrific going over!

Freddie Rich is still a die-hard football fan, although he hasn't won a bet all season.

That bugle call signature theme for Death Valley Days is played by Harry Glanz, first trumpeter for the New York Philharmonic Orchestra .... Josef Bonime, who sits up nights working out the musical details of the same programs, was born in Vilna, Poland, the birthplace of Jascha Heifetz, Godowsky and Cesar Cui, and before entering radio was accompanist for Mischa Elman for 10 years.

In a single evening, Teddy Bergman, CBS actor, was heard as a Chinese houseboy, a cockney peddler, a French detective and a German museum guide . . . which is nothing for Ted—he's the master of about 22 dialects.

Arnold Johnson, the band leader, is augmenting his orchestra preparatory to theater work . . . Singin' Sam has his name painted in small letters on the door of his car . . . Billy Hillpot narrowly escaped serious injury the other night when his taxi overturned after a collision.

Singin' Sam coughed during one of his recent programs and apologized to his listeners . . . so now he presents his programs with a bottle of cough syrup resting prominently on the piano.

A collection of Vaughn de Leath's children songs has been published . . . It amuses observers to see Eddie Duchin, as he plays the piano, stand up from time to time to survey his orchestra . . . The Funnyboners, while rushing from a Jersey City theater to a broadcast in New York the other night, forgot and beat their special police escort to their destination.

AT LAST! PILES

ACTUALLY REDUCED WITHOUT SURGERY!

Now it is possible to do more than merely soothe Piles. Now it is possible actually to reduce the swollen or enlarged blood vessels which Piles are, without the need of an operation. Now, the first time, a home medicinal treatment is available which not only stops the pains and itching of piles, but at the same time, actually shrinks the enlarged veins.

Pazo Ointment is a complete and effective treatment for Piles because it does three things. It soothes the sore and inflamed parts. It heals the irritated and torn membrane and tissue. It shrinks or reduces the swollen blood vessels. Thus, it not only merely relieves Piles, but actually tends to correct the condition as a whole. Whether your Piles are painful or itching or whether they are bleeding, blind or protruding Piles, the relief you seek is supplied in Pazo Ointment—and the method of application. (See picture below.) Thousands say that Pazo gave them the first real relief they ever had from Piles. Thousands say that it saved them the need of a painful operation. One trial of Pazo will convince you that it is YOUR relief, too! All drug stores sell Pazo Ointment in the Collapsible Tube with special Pile Pipe, complete for 75c. Try it today.

Perforated Pile Pipe Attached to Collapsible Tube Makes Application Correct and Easy

The PAZO Collapsible Tube and Perforated Pile Pipe makes it very easy to apply the Ointment high up in the rectum where it can reach and thoroughly cover all the affected parts. Complete interior treatment in all cases of Piles is plainly important.

COUNTY VOTES FUND FOR 'CHILD-FARMING' INQUIRY

PUBLIC'S VIEW OF HOME BANK ASSAILED

Federal Institution Not Santa Claus, Whitlock Says

Public conception that the Federal Home Loan Bank is a Santa Claus rather than a sound business enterprise was condemned here today by Ward B. Whitlock, of Springfield, Ill., president of the United States Building and Loan League.

Mr. Whitlock, director of the federal bank branch in Illinois, said though the bank is serving as an emergency measure, it should remain a permanent institution such as the Federal Reserve Bank.

NO 'SANTA CLAUS'

He said:

"We'll need the bank even more so as time goes on. But the public must not be led to believe it is a Santa Claus. It serves a purpose aside from building and loan associations and banks in that long term loans are provided.

"It is regrettable that actual operation was long in starting. However, communities now will benefit. Through the loans home owners will see their property values increase and the money will circulate to tradesmen."

Mr. Whitlock will be principal speaker tonight at the ninth annual banquet of the Allegheny County League of Building and Loan Associations in the William Penn Hotel.

TO MAKE FIRST LOAN

The Pittsburgh branch of the Federal Home Loan Bank today was to make the first loan from the new bank system to a member building and loan association.

The loan, which is really a line of credit, has been approved by the Home Loan Bank board at Washington, and will be an item of business before the directors of the Pittsburgh branch at their meeting today.

A resolution directing the manner in which the branch banks should lend their funds has been passed by the federal board, according to a wire from Washington. Preference is given as follows:

First—To member institutions and non-member borrowers who will make mortgage loans for construction leading directly to employment of labor.

Second—To member institutions and non-member borrowers who will make mortgage loans to assist borrowers to pay taxes.

Third—To member institutions and non-member borrowers who will make mortgage loans.

Fourth—To member institutions and non-member borrowers who will make loans to mortgagors hard pressed for payment.

SPEED MORTGAGE AID

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(INS.)—Hope was expressed today that within 60 days the Federal Home Loan Bank system would begin to pour millions into the home mortgage market and thaw the frozen situation in the financial fabric.

Complaints still were reaching the Home Loan Board of Mortgage Foreclosures because of the inability of owners to get new advances. Franklin W. Fort, chairman of the board, declared home owners, with property of sufficient value to serve as collateral, could get direct loans from the home loan banks, provided credit was not otherwise available.

Pennsy Veteran's Rites Tomorrow

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning in St. Luke's Catholic Church, Carnegie, for Simon Clary, 77, holder of the all-time record for continuous service with the Pennsylvania Railroad, who died Monday in his home at 311 Fifth avenue, Carnegie.

Mr. Clary began his railroad career June 1, 1864, at the age of 9 years as a water boy with the old Steubenville and Indiana line, which later became part of the Pennsylvania system. He retired in 1925 after serving 61 years. He leaves a son, Michael Clary, and two daughters, Mrs. John Monohan and Margaret Clary.

'Mirrors' Her Formula for Drama Writing

MISS GRACE MOORE PRICE

Prize Winner Has Odd Explanation Of Success

"It's done with mirrors."

This unique method of accomplishing the impossible is Miss Grace Moore Price's explanation of how she won the $1,500 prize in the nation-wide "Phantom of Crestwood" radio contest recently conducted by Radio-Keith-Orphem.

And to Miss Price winning a prize in the "big money" is no novelty. In fact she has to resist the impulse to enter such contests where "big money" is so easy, as she explains it.

The contest in which Miss Price received her $1,500 check involved the presentation of a fitting finale to the unfinished radio drama which has since been made into a moving picture and which is showing at the Davis Theater this week. Miss Price, graduate of Fifth avenue High School and Vassar College, has written a number of things since her high school days—mostly plays.

She says she has always been interested in drama. She says:

"Since the age of 4, when I gloried in the nursery drama, I have always enjoyed the dramatic situation."

Did the breath-taking murder climax of "The Phantom of Crestwood" keep her awake at nights trying to solve the mystery?

"No—it's just a trick. You can tell your readers I did it all with mirrors. It's so simple that way."

WELFARE DRIVE EXTENDED WEEK

Campaigners Still Short of Goal By $345,000

Still short of their $2,500,000 goal by $345,000, Welfare Fund campaigners today extended their drive for their 1933 running expenses for another week. The extension was the second since the campaign reached its originally-slated goal on November 23.

Reports of contributions today brought only 6,728 pledges for $63,662 in the face of Campaign Chairman W. P. Witherow's insistence yesterday that the goal must be reached today. Total pledges in the campaign so far have been for but $2,135,574.

The campaigners had been working since yesterday noon with this challenge from Chairman Witherow:

"Ringing in our ears are the cries of people who are slowly starving. To them, this Welfare Fund means life. They are pleading, begging for help. Their number is daily increasing.

"There are 40,000 people in this community who have not yet been heard from who can afford the sacrifice of giving $10 apiece to this fund. We have counted on getting contributions from them. We are holding the front line for their security and protection through the most critical days in the history of this city and county. What more can we say?"

Reports of yesterday noon were of an additional 3,472 pledges for $52,380, boosting the total to $2,071,911.

MOTHER SAVES CHILD IN FIRE

Four families were driven to the street, a fire captain was injured and a mother carried her 4-year-old son to safety when fire broke out in a four-apartment house at 850 Vista street, North Side today.

Capt. Albert Phillips fell on the slippery pavement, suffering a fractured knee.

Mrs. Clara Altman carried her son, Joseph, Jr., to the street after the fire had started in the adjoining apartment of F. E. Jones. These two apartments and those on the first floor occupied by Samuel Scholes and the Joseph Sinclair family, were damaged by fire and water.

An overheated flue in the Jones kitchen was blamed by Fire Chief Richard Smith, who estimated the damage at $2,500.

MRS. ELMER A. HAMBURG OBSERVING HER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY BY PRESENTING A RADIO TO THE INDUSTRIAL HOME

E. E. MORTICIAN SLAIN AT DOOR

Summoned to the rear door of his undertaking establishment early today, Canada Adams, 35, a Negro, of 7617 Frankstown avenue, was shot to death by an assailant who escaped after dropping his gun five feet from the body of his victim. Adams was shot once, the bullet piercing his heart. Two Negroes arrested as suspects today, were later released.

Mrs. Marie Adams, wife of the slain man, told police her husband had worked late as a postal clerk last night and upon his return to their home at 7406 Monticello street, went back to his parlors. When he failed to return after an hour, she investigated, found his body lying across the sill of the open door. Police said they found a 38-caliber revolver in Adams' pockets. The murder weapon had one empty chamber.

Morgue Supt. John P. Black, who had taught Adams when the latter was a student undertaker at the morgue, prepared the body for burial.

County G. O. P. Head Reports on Funds

HARRISBURG, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—C. J. McBride, Pittsburgh, treasurer of the Republican executive committee of Allegheny County, today reported to the state elections bureau that his committee received $35,567, spent $33,533 and has $2,034 in unpaid obligations.

The contributions included $10,245 from the Republican National Committee and $350 each from the following: H. S. Whetett, A. E. Braun, E. T. Weir, E. R. Crawford, G. T. Ladd, J. C. Trees, F. A. Leoby, S. G. Down, H. D. Williams, L. Iverson, H. J. Heinz, J. H. Hillman, I. F. Lehman, E. W. Mudge and F. D. Bell.

Woman's Anniversary Gift Goes to Cripples

Those Good Old Night Club Raids Will Be Missed

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

The lame ganders of Congress make their final web'ooted excursion in December.

They can't do much against the combined Republican and Democratic wets who will vote on beer next Monday. Making headaches legal on Tuesday.

Now that it's almost here we are starting to miss the good old days. Jolly times in New York night clubs where the entertainment was a tenor, six Russian dancers and a government raid.

We can almost visualize the Monday scene in Congress. After the vote the Speaker will rise and shine. We can hear his voice as he says:

"Beer is in motion and carried. See what the boys in the back room will have."

It will mean repeal, modification, life, liberty and the pursuit of fermentation.

The writer feels he had some small share in the victory. But he is modest and desires no honors or citations. Just bring on the legalized amber flood and he will join the floating population.

Squirrel Hill Home Benefits by 'Celebration'

Mrs. Elmer A. Hamburg celebrates her wedding anniversary in giving presents, rather than receiving them.

In observance of her seventeenth anniversary yesterday, she presented a radio to the boys and girls of the Industrial Home for Crippled Children, Denniston avenue.

Mrs. Hamburg's husband is president of Hamburg Brothers, radio distributors. When Mr. Hamburg asked his wife what she would like him to give her for an anniversary present, she replied:

"I don't think you should give me anything when there are so many people who need things so much worse than I. Can't I give away one of your radios?"

Troopers Reopen Truck License War

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—(INS.)—Renewal of the truck war between Pennsylvania and New Jersey, which was waged several weeks ago on a broad front, appeared likely today with an announcement from Capt. William K. Lumley, commander of Troop E, Pennsylvania State Police, that every out-of-state truck driver violating the 15-day privilege would be locked up.

Patrolmen were on duty today at all bridges between New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

SUN ROUTS FOG LIKE LONDON'S

Bright sunshine replaced the gloom that had hung over downtown Pittsburgh for the last two days, as a four-mile wind swept away the blanket of "smog" today.

Yesterday the city experienced virtually a dead calm, the air movement falling to less than two miles an hour.

Smoke from countless chimneys, trains and factories collected in the tri-river valleys and caused the London-like murkiness according to the Weather Bureau.

The air was so dense yesterday only one couple could find the Marriage License Bureau—and they came from Cleveland. The scarcity of permits broke a 21-year-old record. The Clevelanders were Eugene Frey and Jennie Deutsch.

Governor Pardons Man Once Doomed

Once sentenced to death for a murder he claimed was provoked by blackmail, Jack Gustaferra today had been pardoned by Gov. Pinchot.

Gustaferra was convicted of the murder of John Cappa by an Allegheny County jury on May 2, 1917. The death sentence was commuted to life imprisonment in 1919 and on January 20, last, it was further commuted to a minimum of 13 years and nine months. He was paroled last March.

Suspect Acquitted In Fatal Home Row

A jury in Criminal Court today acquitted William Rosemond, 35, of Water street, of murder in the death of Thomas Humber, 22, Negro. The prosecution had charged Rosemond shot Humber after interfering in an argument between the victim and Mrs. Humber.

Man Faces Court On Arson Charge

Jacob Spirer, Baywood street, was arrested on a charge of arson by county detectives and held for court by Alderman Thomas M. Geary today. Detectives accuse him of firing his store and apartment building in East Railroad avenue, Verona, to collect $40,000 insurance.

William Desmonds Parents of Girl

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—A daughter was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. William Desmond. Mrs. Desmond was Mary McIvor in the films and Desmond is a motion picture actor.

THREE WOMEN TO SIFT CARE OF WARDS

Old Hospital Urged As Home to Replace 'Boarding' System

The way was clear today for the hiring of three women to investigate homes "in and out of Allegheny County" where it is charged that juvenile wards of the county have been farmed out. In a brief meeting yesterday, preceding the regular County Commissioners' session, the salary board approved salaries of $125 a month for three women investigators.

It is understood that the women will be appointed immediately. The salary is to begin December 1. It was last week that County Commissioner, C. C. McGovern moved to appoint the women. His action followed the receiving of a report from C. M. Conick, auditor for Main & Company, concerning the operation of the County Department of Maintenance of Juveniles.

In a 43-page report, Conick disclosed unwarranted conditions existed in the maintenance of juveniles. The following day Commissioner C. M. Barr announced that he was in favor of a home for neglected dependent and abandoned children. Commissioner W. D. Mansfield is expected to sponsor legislation legalizing the building of such a home.

A letter from a Harry M. Neely to Senator Barr was introduced at the commissioners meeting yesterday. The letter suggested that the commissioners inquire into the disposition of the Presbyterian Hospital, North Side, after the new hospital in Oakland is completed. The writer suggested that this building could be utilized as a home for the wards of the county such as Commissioner Barr had suggested.

SHOUP DEFENDS BUS CRUSADE

The Pittsburgh Railways Company cannot intimidate the Community Service Association in its fight for lower bus fares, C. V. Shoup, executive director of the association, declared at a meeting of North Hills citizens in West View Junior High School last night. He said:

"We are prepared to fight to the finish in defense of the people's rights to organize to serve themselves."

The meeting was to organize a North Hills unit of the Community Association.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Did you read about the woman up in the Northwest that swallowed a turkey bone four days after Thanksgiving, then got in an airplane, got sick and got rid of the bone? Well, I was going to try to write a little joke about it showing how many days it took to reach the bone of the gobbler, when lo and behold, yesterday our own cook come dragging in turkey hash. We won't reach the bones till about Thursday. If I run for something that will be my platform—"Boys, no part of any turkey served later than Sunday night after Thanksgiving." Yours,

WILL.

Park Workmen Support Boy's Torture Story

Detectives Joseph Jackson and Saul Fromme were pushing their search today for three kidnapers, reported to have taken Kenneth Cook, 12, of 1203 Richmond street, to Frick Woods yesterday, there slashing his hand with a razor blade.

According to Park Policeman C. Klaus, the boy's story had been substantiated by Paul Brady, a workman in the park, who said two men stopped to warm their hands by his fire. Their clothes and the time, about 10:30 a. m., corresponded with Kenneth's description. Five other laborers noticed the men.

The two, apparently frightened into releasing Kenneth by the apperance of a passerby, were, when seen by the workmen, retracing their steps toward the end of Lancaster street where, by Kenneth's story, they had left a companion waiting in a blue sedan, which lacked license plates.

At 11:15 a. m. there was no car at the park entrance according to Mrs. Marietta Keil, 1027 Lancaster street. She noticed a blue sedan parked there earlier, but had not observed whether it had license paltes, she said.

MEDICAL LEADER HERE OPPOSES 'SOCIALIZATION' PLAN

Mining Heir Denies European Love Affair

MRS. NELL MAXINE BALDWIN . . . HER HUSBAND ANSWERS

ROBERTS ASKS RETURN TO JOB

County Commissioners today had under consideration the petition of David B. Roberts, Hill District political leader, asking that his suspension as county building supervisor be lifted and for payment of his salary since it began, September 6.

Roberts was suspended after being indicted in a grand jury investigation of wholesale delivery of tax receipts. Tried two weeks ago, he was acquitted. He asked that the Commissioners remove from their minutes the record of his suspension and place in the records a notation of the verdict.

Roberts informed the Commissioners he would rather be discharged than permanently suspended. He declared he is unable to collect from the county pension fund the amount he has paid in, as no definite action had been taken on his suspension.

Woman Accused In Home Burning

Mrs. Mina Zaluski, 37, was jailed by county detectives on an arson charge, yesterday. She is accused of firing her two-story house in Monroeville road, Patton Township. The house was insured for $8,000, the detectives said.

Information also was made against her husband, John Zaluski, on the same charge.

Fights Wife's Suit; Suzanne Lenglen Mentioned

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Denying that he had an affair with "any European woman," Galdwin M. Baldwin, grandson of the late E. J. (Lucky) Baldwin, early day mining magnate, has filed an answer to the $2,000 monthly separate maintenance suit brought against him by Mrs. Nell Maxine Baldwin.

Baldwin, in answering Mrs. Baldwin's assertion that his divorce was illegal, said he had secured a legal divorce last March 17 in Riga Latvia. Mrs. Baldwin charged he had not established legal residence there.

The answer stated Baldwin left Mrs. Baldwin, but that he did so by mutual consent, as their "temperaments were not suited." He denied he has $750,000 and said his only income is $300 monthly which he ostensibly "earns" from his mother, Mrs. Anita Baldwin.

About the time Mrs. Baldwin filed her separate maintenance suit, cable dispatches from Europe stated Baldwin and Suzanne Lenglen, internationally-known French tennis star, were seen together frequently. Miss Lenglen once visited Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin in their Los Angeles home.

Mrs. Baldwin charged in her original suit that they entertained a "European woman" and that after she returned to her home Baldwin followed her.

DAPPER THUGS GET ONLY $4 IN HOLDUP

Among bandits sought by police today was a nattily dressed pair that held up the Hanover Shoe Store at 508 Market street during the rush hour last night.

The thugs, one wearing a derby and a dark overcoat, walked into the store as a customer left. They drew revolvers and ordered E. S. Laffer, of 172 Parkfield street, the manager, to open the cash register, which contained $1. Taking the dollar, they ordered Laffer into the washroom, robbed him of $3 and fled after locking him in.

Laffer kicked in the door and summoned police. Shortly before the holdup men entered, Laffer had taken the day's receipts from the register and locked them in the safe which the thugs overlooked, police said.

The cash register in the Fashion Hosiery Shop, at 6236 Frankstown avenue, was looted of $20 by a thug who kept his hand on an object in his pocket with which he threatened Miss Goldie Cohen, of 4 Miller street, the clerk, last night. She was forced into the rear room by the thug.

Two bandits held up Andrew Hrach, of 841 Vista street, in his home and robbed him of a ring valued at $8 and a carton of cigarets. The bandits fled after ransacking the entire house, police said.

While walking down the Watt street steps, Max Aber, of 34 Trent street, was confronted by an armed Negro who took his wallet containing $1.75 and his watch. Returning the wallet, empty of course, and the watch, the Negro remarked:

"It's cold and I need an overcoat."

Aber surrendered his overcoat and the Negro fled.

Mrs. Geneva Matter, of 38 Trent street, was robbed of her purse by a Negro who snatched it from her arm as she was walking in Center avenue near Fullerton street last night. The bag contained $2.

LYSLE TO REMIT PUPILS' FINES

Fines of six McKeesport High School pupils and one from Clairton given hearings in McKeesport Police Court as an aftermath of McKeesport's celebration of a football victory over Clairton, will be refunded to their parents, Mayor George K. Lysle said today.

The Mayor said:

"While I do not condone their offense, I do not think their parents should be penalized with economic conditions as they are."

Benefit to Be Held For War Veterans

A card party and dance for the benefit of needy and disabled Spanish-American War veterans to be held tonight at the Elks' Temple, McKeesport, by the John C. Gregg Camp No. 93, United Spanish War Veterans. The committee includes E. H. Richards, Joseph Wighard, Barbel Hetcher, Wallace Brown, M. J. Keating, Roy R. Reed, Michael Jory, F. A. Kelley, Frank Striffler, Edward Kane, E. M. Haddle, Albert L. Ludwig, Foster Flegal, Patrick Flaherty and Robert L. Klingensmith.

Congressional Beans Quoted at 15 Cents

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(Universal.)—The famous bean soup served in the House and Senate restaurants has been reduced from 20 to 15 cents a bowl.

Legislators returning to the winter tasks found that prices of other foods have been reduced in proportion. Pie is a dime instead of 15 cents.

HECKEL AGAINST COMMUNITY CENTERS

Pittsburgh doctors today studied the report of the committee on the cost of medical care which yesterday advocated "socialization" of medicine and hygiene through community medical centers.

The recommendation came after five years of study costing about $1,000,000.

Dr. E. B. Heckel, former chairman of the executive committee of the American Medical Association, was outspoken in condemnation of the report, branding it "state medicine."

SUPPORTS MINORITY

The recommendation to pay for medical care and health preservation through taxation and insurance meets, he said, with his disfavor. He added:

"I sympathize with the minority report. Physicians always have advised their people how to prevent illness—to the detriment of their own business."

The minority report had opposed the "corporate practice of medicine" as "wasteful, inimical to high quality, or productive of unfair exploitation of the medical profession."

With it was the sympathy of the Journal of the American Medical Association, which will publish an editorial, December 3, opposing the majority report.

MISS STEVENS FAVORS

Miss Helen Stevens, of the Public Health Nursing Association, said of the report:

"I'm in accord with it. We feel public health efforts will meet, more and more, the urban situation.

"I don't see why hospitals can't be developed into health centers where the great mass of people can afford medical care."

Other physicians of prominence in the city and county refrained from comment until they could read the complete report of the committee.

The committee on costs was composed of economists, representatives of the public, doctors and nurses.

FATE OF DOCK CHIEF WEIGHED

The report of Controller James P. Kerr, recommending elimination of the job of City Dockmaster, now held by S. A. Michalski, goes today to Public Works Director Edward G. Lang and to the city Law Department for study.

Council yesterday voted for a thorough investigation of the report, with recommendations to Council.

Kerr also said the waterfront between the Seventh and Ninth Street bridges should be leased by the city to a private firm or individual.

WIFE DIVORCES PRINCE MDIVANI

By SYLVIA LYON

PARIS, Nov. 30.—The romance of the former Louise Astor Van Alen, of Newport, R. I., and New York, and Prince Alexis Mdivani definitely broke up yesterday when a Dutch court at The Hague granted her a divorce on grounds of incompatibility.

Prince Mdivani, who is now in the chateau country, did not contest the action, which will be no surprise to friends of the couple, who have been separated for some time. Prince Mdivani has been reported most attentive to Barbara Hutton, Woolworth heiress and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklyn L. Hutton, of New York. Miss Hutton has just returned to the United States.

The former Miss Van Alen, who is now in Paris, declined to comment on the news of the granting of the divorce. The couple was married at Wakehurst, the bride's Newport home, on May 15, 1931.

Miss Van Alen is the daughter of Mrs. James Laurens Van Alen and a descendant of John Jacob Astor.

Prince Mdivani is a son of Gen. Prince Z. Mdivani, who was a general at the court of the late Czar of Russia. Prince Alexis is a brother of Prince Serge Mdivani, former husband of Pola Negri, film star, and Prince David Mdivani, who married another screen star, Mae Murray.

MINOR PARTY VOTE NEARLY TRIPLED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—The minor party vote in the recent elections, with one-twelfth of the nation's precincts unreported, has almost tripled that of four years ago and rolled up big gains over 1928 for the Socialist and Prohibition parties.

The complete official figures from 31 states and unofficial tabulations from the remainder, as compiled by the Associated Press, show seven minor party presidential candidates polled 1,008,164 votes as against only 378,457 in the Hoover-Smith election. The figures are based on returns from 110,147 of the national total of 119,643 voting precincts or districts. Here's the way the seven line up so far:

Norman Thomas, Socialist, 805,813.

William Z. Foster, Communist, 69,104.

William D. Upshaw, prohibition, 59,656.

William H. Harvey, Liberty, 45,045.

Verne L. Reynolds, Socialist-Labor, 21,858.

Jacob S. Coxey, Farmer-Labor, 6,465.

James R. Cox, Jobless-Liberal, 219.

Four votes for the "Populist" ticket in South Carolina brings the total to 1,008,164.

SOCIALIST NEAR RECORD

Keeping pace with the total gain, Thomas tripled his vote of four years ago and may approach the record Socialist vote of 919,799 for Eugene Debs in the first election after the war.

Before the recent election, Thomas said he would be surprised if he polled 1,000,000 votes. His 805,813, with about 10,000 precincts still unheard from, compares with 267,835 in 1928.

The Socialist nominee made his biggest sweep in New York, where he polled 176,045 votes. In Pennsylvania he received 48,258.

VIRGINIA GIVES COX 15

The Rev. James R. Cox, of Pittsburgh, who headed the Jobless-Liberal party ticket for president, but withdrew before the election, polled 204 votes in 2,787 out of 8,199 precincts in Pennsylvania, and 15 in Virginia.

Upshaw's approximately 60,000, with about 16,000 precincts unheard from, is the largest polled by the Prohibition party since the first election after constitutional prohibition was adopted and is nearly double the 1928 vote. He polled 3,126 in Pennsylvania.

JAILED KIDNAP HOAXER SUED

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—A suit for divorce from Elliott B. Thomas, former Redondo Beach school superintendent and kidnap hoaxer, had been filed today by Mrs. Olive Stouffer Thomas, who made but one charge—that he had been convicted of a felony.

Thomas is serving one to 14 years in San Quentin Prison, having pleaded guilty to forging school warrants. He perpetrated a kidnap hoax and fled to Seattle, where he sought to marry another woman.

When Thomas was located in Seattle, Mrs. Thomas declared she would stand by him.

Steel Worker Killed As Huge Girder Falls

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—H. A. Beebe, 50, a structural ironworker, was crushed to death and two other workmen injured when a 28-ton steel girder fell 95 feet from a crane on the Third Street Bridge, which is under construction here.

Witnesses said the crew of 22 workmen scattered when they saw the derrick arm buckle. Beebe miscalculated the direction the falling beam would take and ran directly to his death, they said.

Awards for Safe Driving Tonight

Safe driving awards will be given winners in the interfleet safety contest of the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council and the Better Traffic Committee in Council chambers tonight.

Tom Campbell, of the Bell Telephone Company, will preside and introduce City Traffic Engineer Lewis W. McIntyre. Thomas Fitzgerald will present the awards.

Feeney Pensioned, Veteran Detective

Michael J. Feeney, veteran city detective and head of the Missing Persons Bureau for the last four years, retired on pension today. He had been on the force for 26 years. He had handled 29,542 cases of missing persons, of whom 85 per cent had been found. Joseph Linden is said to be slated as Feeney's successor.

Soviet's Teaching Method Criticized

Aesthetic teaching in Soviet Russia's schools was decried by Rabbi Harry S. Davidowitz, of the Cleveland Jewish Center, who gave an account of a recent visit to Russia last night to the B'nai Israel Congregation. He said the condition of Jewry is vastly better under the Soviets than during the czaristic regime.

WILD CARGO

By FRANK BUCK
With EDWARD ANTHONY

CHAPTER XLI.

Mitzi, quickly sensing the situation and seeing the opportunity for a romp, was off before her assistant keeper, whom she dragged after her, could figure out what it was all about. With an instinctive feeling for genteel surroundings she headed down Chouringhi avenue, the Fifth avenue or Michigan boulevard, or what you will, of Calcutta. Dodging gharries and rickshas (there's plenty of such traffic in this part of the town) she kept going until she wound up in front of Peleti's, the restaurant made famous by Kipling. Unable to get in, she decided to investigate the window, in which there was a most inviting array of cakes and pastries. There she stood in the manner of a small boy gazing at a candy store display. Glass was something new to Mitzi. She kept running her trunk against the window in an effort to reach the cakes and doubtless was considerably puzzled when she failed to get results.

That's how Lal found her when, after his ablutions were over, he returned to his post near the hotel and, finding his ward among the missing, started a frantic search for her. The gathering crowds guided him in following the little fugitive.

MITZI GETS CAKES

Lal was a regular demon in handling natives that got in his way. I can readily credit his statement that he made short work of the curious Hindus that crowded around to see what was going on. Just as he was gathering up his runaway, a young woman, touched by the picture of the baby elephant trying to reach the cakes in the window, advanced with a bag of them she had hurriedly purchased in the restaurant.

How could he, poor humble Lal Behudar, refuse a mem Sahib (white woman)? It was all right for Buck Sahib to refuse such a person, but one of his (Lal's) lowly station was hardly in a position to pursue such a course. He hoped that Buck Sahib would not misunderstand his conduct for he knew only too well what pains in the stomach resulted when little elephants permitted themselves the luxury of too many cakes.

Lal was happy when I assured him that I understood his position. Mitzi was little the worse for her experience and that was all that mattered.

A few days later I loaded the little lady, along with my many other animals, aboard the old Santa Cruz which plies between Calcutta and San Francisco. Mr. Singer, whose act was playing in St. Louis at the time, had a representative on the dock at San Francisco when we arrived.

PROVES A SUCCESS

This chap was greatly pleased with the little elephant. From the standpoint of height she was ideal, standing only three and a half feet (only six inches taller than Baby Boo, the smallest elephant ever seen in America, which I secured for a movie company when it needed a three-foot pachyderm). Her disposition and general appearance were right, too—just the sort of creature designed to make the ladies in the audience chorus, "Isn't she cute!" And that, of course, was Mr. Singer's aim. Subsequently this veteran showman ecstatically told me that Mitzi was the perfect elephant for his purpose—which was only giving the little girl the credit due her, for she proved a great find, working splendidly with the midgets.

It was a sad day in the troupe when Mr. Singer, some years afterward, was forced to the conclusion that Mitzi had outgrown the midgets and would have to be disposed of.

A year and a half after I sold Mitzi I arrived in San Francisco with another collection of animals. I noticed by the papers that Singer's Midgets were playing at the old Orpheum Theater and I thought it would be amusing to run in and see the elephant. I had heard of her success on the stage and it seemed only decent to drop in and congratulate her.

I 'phoned the theater to find out when the midgets were due to go on and arrived about 10 minutes in advance. I went backstage and joined Mr. Singer who was standing in one of the wings. He greeted me cordially and again I heard Mitzi's praises sung.

ACT INTERRUPTED

During our whispered conversation I chanced to look straight ahead and saw Mitzi standing in the opposite wing, waiting to go on.

"Why, there's Mitzi now!" I exclaimed in a louder tone than I had any right using, for a dramatic sketch was in progress. Mitzi, at the mention of her name, looked up and came galloping over toward me, crossing the stage and almost bowling over the leading lady while the audience broke out into as hearty and prolonged a laugh as I've ever heard in the theater. The actress was furious, though I always thought her grateful; for Mitzi came very close to sending her into the arms of the man whose coldness she was lamenting when I arrived.

Alas, poor Mitzi! My latest information is to the effect that she was seen on Broadway in the spring of 1931 acting the role of sandwichman for a motion picture. Across her broad back (now almost seven feet high) was flung one of those big double signs heralding the arrival on the Great White Way of a picture that no one could afford to miss. So it goes in the animal world. Today a stage star; tomorrow a walking billboard.

TIGER CUB AMUSING

Mike was easily the tamest, most playful and generally the most amusing tiger cub I have ever handled. When he was about three months old I happened to pick him up, along with a number of other animals, on the Siamese border.

Not many days after I installed him at Singapore he was the pet of the compound. He was so tame I could safely give him the run of the place and it didn't take him long to strike up a friendship with everyone on the premises. He was the only animal I ever owned that mastered the fine art of scampering in and out of the house without irritating the servants. This was partially because Mike had the world's most disarming look. Just as you'd get ready to cuss him out about something he'd look up at you—and you'd change your mind.

There was something in his manner that made you feel that if you ever treated this chap roughly you'd feel so badly about it that to ease your conscience you'd have to call up the nearest S. P. C. A. or its equivalent, and have yourself taken in custody.

I don't mean to say that Mike was an angel. He wasn't. But he had an angelic look. And he had sense enough not to do anything unangelic around the house.

MIKE MAKES TRIP

After I had had Mike for about a month I found myself preparing to make a trip over to Borneo. The Christmas season was approaching and I'd received a cable from my friend, "Monk" Antrim, the most celebrated host in the Far East, asking me to spend the holidays with him. Antrim is the manager of the Manila Hotel, in Manila, which is subsidized by the Philippine government (as a guarantee of proper accommodations for visitors to the islands).

As there are good boat accommodations between Zamboanga in the Philippines and Sandakan, Borneo, I figured it would be a good idea to stop off and enjoy the holidays with my friend Antrim, and then proceed to Borneo.

I had grown so fond of Mike I decided to take him along. He was my notion of good company and he seemed to fit into the holiday spirit. Leaving the compound in charge of Ali, I set off for Manila with Mike.

Protest on A. F. L. Action to be Aired

Protests against exclusion of delegates who urged immediate relief and federal unemployment insurance at the Cincinnati convention of the American Federation of Labor will be voiced at a mass meeting tonight at Walton Hall, 220 Stanwix street. The speakers will include James Egan, of the plasterers' union, and P. J. Williams, of the painters and decorators.

'Jazz Statesman' Splits Vote in First Decision

SEATTLE, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Washington's next Lieutenant Governor, Vic Meyers, jazz band leader, has made his first decision as a political dignitary.

A Democratic caucus developed a tie over selection of speaker pro tempore for the State Senate. Meyers, who will preside over the Senate after his inauguration in January, was called upon to cast the deciding vote. The jazz band leader pondered. Then he said: "All right, I'll cast a half vote apiece."

Cold ABORTION

(with lemon juice)

Have you ever tried aborting a cold? When you abort your cold, it's gone; the system is rid of it! The lemon juice treatment will do it. Squeeze two full-size lemons in a large glass of very hot water and drink without sugar. First, take three tablets of Pape's cold compound an hour apart. This clears the head, dries the nasal passages, reduces any fever. The lemon juice then drives all cold symptoms right out of the system. Bedtime is best. This treatment will abort the worst cold overnight. One cold compound tablet will check a cold at any time, for several hours; then when night comes you can get rid of it by abortion. Any druggist has Pape's cold compound. It's perfectly safe. Try it, and you'll never go back to halfway remedies.

Ernest Truex Signed For Lasky Film

Ernest Truex has been signed by Jesse L. Lasky, independent producer for Fox Film Corporation, to play the husband in "The Warrior's Husband." Walter Lang will direct this production and also collaborate with Ralph Spence in making the screen adaptation from Julian Thompson's play.

"The Warrior's Husband" will be filmed following "Zoo in Budapest," which is now being prepared for production.

Time for Billiards Between 'Shots'

Ruth Weston, who claims she is the only real society girl in motion pictures, shoots a bang-up game of pool. Recently when Columbia was making "This Sporting Age," in which Miss Weston has a prominent part, she spent most of her time between "shots" playing pocket billiards with the set hands, and she beat 'em too.

Helen Chandler Owns 65 Handbags

Helen Chandler owns a collection of 65 different kinds of handbags to which she is constantly adding. She will be seen with Charles Bickford in Columbia's "Vanity Street."

Somebody's Wrong

Mary Carlisle, M-G-M player, got the wrong costumer, or cameraman, or something, preparing for this picture.

Plays and Players

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

"Biography," the new S. N. Behrman comedy that will be given in the Nixon next week, with Ina Claire as the star, is described as "a satirical study of American morals and all the drama that lies in the clash between the dogmatic point of view and the liberal one." Besides Miss Claire there will be a cast selected by the Theater Guild, producer of the new play. It will be the third in the subscription season of the American Theater Society, which still is receiving subscriptions for the remaining four plays in its series, including "Biography." Offices of the society are Suite 506 Nixon Building.

Hunter Gardner, who will be seen as a guest artist with the George Sharp Players in "The Devil Passes," next week's attraction, formerly was associated with the late Jessie Bonstelle in Detroit as leading man and director. In 104 weeks, from 1928 to 1931, he played in and directed 88 productions. His recent engagements have been in "The Weaker Sex," "Zombie" and "Cain's Sister." He also has headed his own stock company in several Southern cities.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stuart Given, of Dublin, are in Pittsburgh, doing preliminary work for the Irish Players from the famed Abbey Theater in their home town. They will be heard in a series of lectures pertaining to the productions of the Abbey company, now making a tour that will bring them here the week of December 12. This group of artists recently was rated by George Jean Nathan as 200 above a dramatic par of 300 in a list of contemporary offerings in which the nearest approach was 100 below par, according to Mr. Nathan's ideas, which appraise "The Good Earth" at 25.

Dialogue for "Moon Song," movie that will star Kate Smith, of the radio, has been completed by Lawrence Hazard, playwright, the scenario being the work of Dorothy Yost. Hazard now has been assigned to write dialogue for his own original story, "The Good Thing," to be produced as a photoplay by Paramount.

Ann Harding, who hasn't been getting the breaks lately in movie stories, will now have Gilbert Frankau's novel, "Christopher Strong," as a starring vehicle.

Gable Better And Parts Await

BY HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 30.

Still a little shaky from his attack of influenza, Clark Gable is back at work at Paramount and, from all indications, can expect no rest upon the completion of this picture.

Several directors are bidding for him on his home lot, but I have an idea that Howard Hawks will have first call for the Joan Crawford picture. Howard has wanted Gable from the first and the selection also would be pleasing to Joan.

Clark Gable

There is the time element to consider, but if Clark can finish at Paramount by Saturday or even the middle of next week, M-G-M can jockey the shooting schedule for the Crawford film to allow for the delay.

Another possibility for Clark is the Soviet story, for the direction of which Frank Capra has been borrowed. Jules Furthman, until recently assigned to the Von Sternberg-Dietrich story at Paramount, has come over from Columbia to make the screen treatment of this difficult theme.

KNOW HOW TO LIVE

Gene Towne wants to know if you've heard the one about the two down-and-outers who came upon a beautiful mausoleum in a cemetery.

"Who does that belong to?" asked the first.

"One of the Morgans," replied his pal.

"Gosh," said the other, "these rich people sure know how to live, don't they?"

Renee Adoree came up from the desert for the Thanksgiving holidays and if the doctor gives his okay she will remain in Hollywood for the rest of the winter. Renee has been pronounced completely cured of her illness, but went on an almond ranch to regain her strength.

It isn't signed yet, but Eleanor Boardman is being tested for the lead opposite John Barrymore in "Topaze" . . . The Melvyn Douglases (Helen Gahagan) are heading for Mexico City the first of the week and are thrilled about it. More and more of the film people are visiting the southern capital and all come back singing its praises. Richard Barthelmess, one of the best boosters, insists that no European city surpasses it for charm and atmosphere.

A studio call will bring Anita Louise back from San Francisco where she has been playing Billie Burke's daughter in "The Marquise." Anita is to have the best part of her screen career in the new Connie Bennett picture, "Our Betters."

Fifi Dorsay's Argentine escort has dwindled from four to two. The trio were out at the La Boheme cafe the other evening to see Karyll Norman's new "Barbary Coast" revue. Alison Skipworth, and this is the first time I've seen her at a night club, was another there. Also Lyle Talbot with a new girl, Glenda Farrell. . . . Frankie Albertson's illness (influenza) has been holding up "The Billion Dollar Scandal," but he is well now.

Alison Skipworth

It took Hollywood some time to make up its mind about Charles Laughton, but the doubters are now praising his sense of humor.

One of the English actor's pet aversions is posing for publicity pictures. The other day he was standing on the brink of the El Mirador swimming pool at Palm Springs when a still cameraman came up.

Mystery

Karen Morley is featured in "Phantom of Crestwood," mystery film showing on screens of Davis and Sheridan Square.

Thrill Film In Davis

By MARY SHINE

The Davis endeavors to bring you thrills and shudders with "The Phantom of Crestwood," in which much is made of a thunder and lightning storm, secret passages (and what mystery is complete without them?), death masks and bodies hurtling into depths. It opened yesterday for four days.

Ricardo Cortez plays the peppermint-eating amateur detective, in reality a crook hired to retrieve letters from Jennie Wren, played by Karen Morely. Ricardo and his gang arrive at a house party staged by Karen, at which she states intentions to blackmail the male guests. Just before Cortez arrives, Jennie Wren is found murdered by a feathered dart, then her maid is killed in the same fashion, and her sister is stabbed. The entire house party is under suspicion, and you'll have a difficult time discovering the murderer.

There are the blackmailed men to choose from; there is the friend of a boy who committed suicide because Jennie Wren refused to marry him; there is the young man in love with Jennie's sister, an expert in the game of darts; also the aunt of the young man who does not want Jennie's sister to marry him as she's strong on family pride and objects to having the sister of a notorious golddigger in the family.

Ricardo solves the crime to save himself from suspicion. Go to the Davis and see if you can find the murderer before the final reel. There also are an amusing skit by "The Lambs" and an animated cartoon to beguile you.

"Fine cast makes 'Show Boat' memorable at the Nixon. Flo Ziegfeld turned out a light opera masterpiece in this work. It is the best thing Ziegfeld ever did. If you feel the way I do about it, you'll go back and see 'Show Boat' again—and again."
George Seibel, Sun-Telegraph, says:
"You can't help loving this old-fashioned romance, magnolia-scented and honey-sweet. 'Show Boat' is likely to be to our musical drama what 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' was to the old theatre. Like 'Old Man River,' it will just keep rolling along. 'Show Boat' is five decades of American history set to music and put on parade."
Florence Fisher Parry, Press, says:
"The loveliest musical show of our day was returned to us last night at the Nixon Theatre. And those of us who sat there that other night, five years ago, when 'Show Boat' gave its first performance, were spell-bound with memories the like of which no modern musical comedy is likely ever to evoke again."

All in a Day

By Mark Hellinger

COLOMBIA HOTEL, GENOA, ITALY: Well, here I am. Why I'm here I do not know. All I know is that I'm sitting in an Italian hotel room, trying to regain my land legs and swaying in my chair as I attempt to write this column. It's not the first time I've swayed in a chair—but the sensation was always a little different.

This has been an exciting day. At 7 a. m.—which is about 2 o'clock Moore's restaurant time—the good ship Rex pulled into the harbor at Nice, France. We stayed there just long enough to drop a pilot and a few of the cash customers. I am sure that the sight was very beautiful and thrilling. If I hadn't been fast asleep, I might be able to tell you more about it.

Some five hours later—almost seven days to the minute since we left New York—the boat arrived at Genoa. By this time, much to my steward's surprise, I was on deck. I found out later that he was already making preparations to let me sleep through a return voyage.

I really anticipated a wild time in the harbor of Genoa. Here was the Rex, the pride of the Italian fleet, home again from its maiden voyage. I had visions of airplanes dropping flowers in its queenly path. I imagined that guns would boom and that soldiers would stand at attention all along the pier. I even visualized a procession of beautifully bedecked boats guiding us into the pier with Peggy Joyce as Queen of the May.

And what happened? Do I have to ask you? One lonesome airplane circled around the boat and then disappeared in the distance. Our boat gave three healthy, longing blasts. And while there were plenty of boats in the harbor, the only reply was the tiny whistle of a mangy tugboat. It was like an elephant talking to a mouse.

The only real excitement that I could find was distributed among the passengers. They kept glancing at their watches and assuring one another that we would land at 12 o'clock. Exactly why that 12 o'clock business was so important I do not know. But it seemed to be the one thing in the world that mattered at the moment.

As we were nearing the dock, it suddenly dawned upon me that I had neglected a very serious thing. I had neglected to learn how to say "soda" in Italian! If I wanted a brandy and soda in Genoa, I wouldn't be able to order it! That may seem very trivial to you—but it meant far more to me than all that "12 o'clock" business did to the rest of the passengers.

I hunted around and finally dug up a deck steward who had been most friendly during the voyage. I had never spoken to him and I didn't know whether he understood English—but his smile had been most encouraging.

"Pardon me," I said, "but I would like to learn something. You parlais English?"

He gave me that big George Marshall smile.

"Si," he replied.

"Good!" I cried. "How do you say 'brandy and soda' in Italian?"

He looked at me in the utmost amazement. One would think I had been talking Chinese to him. I tried again.

"Listen," I said very carefully. "You didn't understand. I said 'How do you say brandy and soda in Italian?' Cognac and soda. You understand?"

His expression changed. The look of puzzled bewilderment disappeared completely. He smiled happily.

"Si," he replied. "I understand now. Twelve o'clock!"

Once the boat docked, things were vastly different. On the pier, a band of soldiers was playing everything from "Ave Maria" to that new American song hit called "Everything Is Peaches Down in Georgia." I bet they could have played "Dardenella."

A serious note, though. As you looked down from the boat you were immediately impressed by the number of uniforms you saw. Not so many policemen as soldiers. Soldiers of every kind and in every type of uniform. Regardless of where you look, there stands a soldier of some kind.

The situation hits you immediately. As an American, I see very little of this. As a traveler, I see plenty of it. But nothing that compares with what I have seen in a few hours in Italy. Soldiers everywhere. Guns everywhere. Preparedness everywhere.

Are they wise? I think they are very wise. Far wiser, in fact, than America today . . .

But enough of that. The disembarkation from the Rex was the strangest I have seen in any land. When the gangplank was finally secure, the passengers were shoved into the background and practically the entire town of Genoa was permitted to board the boat. Everybody with a few whiskers was saluted by the entire crew. And the longer the whiskers, the bigger the salute.

And what was Hellinger's luck? You guessed it. I had picked out this particular morning to get a close shave!

Eventually, though, the passengers were allowed to leave the boat. The customs officials were the most courteous I have encountered anywhere, and their methods gave you a decidedly good first impression of Italy.

If you are an American, they do not open your baggage. The only thing in which they are interested is cigarets. That is their first and only question. Have you any cigarets? If you say no, your baggage is stamped okay.

This has been going on now, they tell me, for several years. They are still waiting for the first American who will say yes.

On an omnibus then, and so to the hotel at which I am now stopping. Inasmuch as I'm a regular tourist by this time, I've already hired a car for the rest of the afternoon. But I want to get this column off before getting my first real peek at Genoa.

Don't think I'll stay here long. I have a hunch that I'll linger on for a day or so and then hop a night train for Rome. Rome sounds interesting to me. Always wanted to hit that spot. I think I'll stay there at least a week or so.

Yes, my friends. Rome's the spot for this baby. That was the spot where Nero fiddled while Caesar burned, or have I got my geography mixed? I never was of much consequence when it came to historical dates. The only date I can recall is the year Columbus discovered America. And the only reason I remembered that one in public school is because it used to be our telephone number.

You think that stuff is of much use? I don't. Among the passengers on the way over was an intelligent bird who knew every date that ever amounted to anything. One of those pedantic goofs, you know, who liked to impress you with his knowledge. He knew the exact hour when John Keats died and the precise moment when Kaiser Wilhelm was born.

But what good was he in the long run? I asked him how many hits Ruth had made in the world series—and he didn't even know that the Yankees had played!...

Local Writers' Plays At Y. M. & W. H. A.

Three one-act playlets, the works of Pittsburgh authors, "Polling Place," by K. Emily Smith; "Off to War," by Herman Recht, and "Hello Pal," by Alfred Goldenberg, will be presented as a studio bill by the Co-operative Playhouse of the Y. M. & W. H. A. to Playhouse members only, in the "Y" auditorium, Bellefield avenue this evening. Persons interested in joining the Playhouse also will be welcomed.

Lucrezia Bori, Metropolitan artist, will give a costume recital under the auspices of May Beegle in Syria Mosque, Friday evening.

Asther Now Oriental

The make-up artist, generally, is no respecter of either age or race. He can make a Frenchman look like an Arab, or vice versa, in less time than it takes to decipher a time table. One inch of colored grease was all that the skillful fingers of Norbert Miles, Columbia's chief make-up artist, required to transform the fair-skinned Nils Asther, a Swede, into the Oxford bred Oriental, Gen. Yen. The transformation was made for Frank Capra's "The Bitter Tea of General Yen" in which Barbara Stanwyck is starred. The remainder of the cast includes Walter Connolly, Gavin Gordon, Toshia Mori and Richard oLo.

That inch of colored grease, combining the various shades and combinations of browns, reds, yellows, beiges, blues and greys, is applied with the same expert touch that an artist would employ on a painting, to produce the almond eyes, the high cheekbones and the flatness across the middle of the face that characterizes an Oriental.

Three hours were spent in the makeup room each day by Nils Asther before he could appear on the set. He, in fact, was the only member of the white cast who had to undergo this daily transformation as the remainder of the players all portrayed Americans.

Hit that COLD a Dempsey Blow!

Knock it out in the first round!

Don't take a cold lightly or treat it casually. A cold may easily lead to something more serious. Treat a cold quickly. Treat it seriously. Treat it decisively.

First of all, take a COLD remedy for a cold. A cold is a specific condition calling for specific treatment. A remedy that is good for half a dozen things can't be equally effective for a cold. Many people actually fool themselves with popular "cure-alls" because they constipate and make the system acid.

Second, take an internal medicine for a cold. A cold is an internal infection and calls for internal treatment. Local, or outside applications can't reach the real seat of the trouble and can't prevent the infection spreading within the system.

Four Effects in One!

Every requirement for quick and decisive relief of a cold is found in Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. Ask your doctor and he will tell you that no physician in the world can write a better prescription for a cold than Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. It does the several things necessary to thoroughly rout a cold. It opens the bowels, gently but effectively—the first requirement in the treatment of a cold. It kills the cold germs in the system, drives out the poisonous infection and reduces the fever. It relieves that headachy and grippy feeling. It tones the entire system.

Relief—Quick and Complete!

In a word, relief with Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is COMPLETE relief! The cold isn't merely suppressed, but driven completely out of the system and, at the same time, the system fortified against further attack. That's the relief you want for a cold or grippe. Anything less is only fooling yourself.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is non-narcotic and absolutely safe. It produces no bad after-effects—does not upset the stomach, nauseate, or cause ringing in the head. In dainty tablet form, it is convenient and pleasant to take, as well as effective. Handy, pocket-size boxes, cellophane-wrapped, for sale by every drug store in America.

For years Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine has been regarded as the "stitch in time" in relieving colds. For, a few of the tablets taken immediately when sneezing and headache begin is usually all that is necessary to expel a cold overnight. Any dealer who offers you a substitute is cheating.

The Sun-Telegraph Doll Lady Offers Your Choice of These Two Glorious New Dolls

THIS IS "DUCKY DARLING"

THIS IS "PRECIOUS" BABY

Here's Another Intimate Letter From the Doll Lady:—

DEAR LITTLE GIRLS:

I owe an apology to hundreds of you. I have been deluged with letters about my dollies, but I have been so awfully busy taking care of little girls who have already secured three subscriptions for the Sun-Telegraph that I really have not had time to answer them.

The rush for my dollies began early this year. I am glad that I have enough here to take care of the present demand, but the requests for "Precious" and "Ducky" are coming in so fast, and the dollies are going out so fast, that I am taking no chances. I am having my doll makers work day and night right up to Christmas so that there will be no disappointments—at least none in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

I am particularly delighted this year because so many of my little girls seem to prefer "Ducky Darling." You see, "Ducky" is the newest idea in dolls. She's made of rubber, all but her head, and she's more like a real live baby than any dolly I have ever before seen. She's one of those roly-boly youngsters, cute and plump. You can give her a bath just as you could your little sister or brother. And with "Ducky" you get a bathinette that holds enough water for her "tub," soap, sponge and powder, and a complete layette of dainty clothes.

Do you remember "Honeybunch?" Well, "Precious" is a twin sister to "Honeybunch." She is nearly 20 inches tall, has rubber hands and arms, rubber panties, an organdy dress with bonnet and stockings to match, opens and shuts her eyes, and cries like a real baby. Any little girl will fall in love with "Precious," and all of the little girls who come in to see me hesitate a long time before they make up their minds whether to choose "Ducky" or "Precious."

There is no reason why, however, you can't have both of these dolls. It only requires three subscriptions for each doll. Many little girls have already found it easy to get the first three. It will be just as easy to get the second three. Try it!

Well, my dears, the dollies are calling me. I must go back to them. I'll write to you again just as soon as I can find time.

Yours sincerely,

Sun-Telegraph Doll Lady

Star Wingmen Aid Pitt. Coast Team to Pick Foe. Elevens Make Grid Aces. | Maisel Last of Orioles. Fixed Bouts in England. Lining Up Fistic Cards.

BEST DUO SINCE HERRON AND CARLSON

FIND END PLAY was a big factor in the success of the Pitt football team this year. You've got to go back 16 seasons to find a Panther eleven that had a pair of wingmen to compare with Joe Skladany and Ted Dailey, not to mention the excellent service that Harvey Rooker gave as a reserve. Of course, this does not apply in an individual sense, as in the meantime Pitt had one of the greatest of the great in Joe Donchess, but as a terminal duo Skladany and Dailey surpassed any set to wear the Blue and Gold since Pat Herron and Cliff Carlson teamed it in 1914-15-16.

Joe Skladany

Really great ends have been scarce at Pitt, much scarcer than star tackles or guards, or even centers, though there could be only one center to a season. You will have named just about all the real topliners when you have mentioned Ted Perry, of 1904-5-6-7; Hube Wagner, of 1910-11-12-13; Pat Herron, of 1913-14-15-16; Joe Donchess, of 1927-28-29, and the present standout, Skladany, who has another year to go. There were many good flankmen among Carlson, Roe, Hoblitzel, Lindsey, Guarino, Gwosden, McMillin, Collins, Hirshberg and the rest, but the actual greats were confined to that first list of five. Dailey would rank, but for lack of staying qualities. He was not a full-game player, Skladany, 22 pounds heavier, was as good in the fourth period as in the first.

AMONG THE SPECTATORS when Penn and Cornell fought their annual grid battle were several former players who starred in the same fixture in the long ago. One of them was Charley Gelbert, old Penn star and father of the shortstop of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Gelbert shone at end for the Quakers in the Penn-Cornell games almost 40 years back, and was such a standout that he was named by Walter Camp on the all-America team three times in a row, 1894-95-96. Later he played on the D. C. & A. C. all-star pro eleven here, and his running mate at the other end was another all-America wingman, John Hall, of Yale, a Camp terminal choice in 1897.

THE MANNER IN which the participants in Rose Bowl games are selected appears not to be generally understood. It is not the Tournament of Roses committee that makes the final choice as to what Eastern, mid-Western or Southern team shall be invited to play the far Western representatives.

The Coast team itself has the final say, under the restrictions of a limited group. The committee first picks the Coast eleven and then submits to the latter the names of two, three or four teams in other parts of the country that have been selected as eligibles. From this number the Coast team picks its opponent. It is up to the Trojans named last night to make a choice among Michigan, Colgate, Pitt and Auburn.

AN INDIVIDUAL STAR may be just as good a player on a losing team as he would be on a winning outfit, but if his team doesn't win he often fails to place in the all-America bunk. Ollie Olson, of Northwestern, was in a strong spot for all-Conference fullback after the Illinois game by reason of his fine passing, kicking and plunging, but a tie and three defeats followed, and Olson, like Pug Rentner, went down with the ship. Rentner always took a sane view of the all-America honors he won last year. "I just had a pocketful of horseshoes," he would say. That applies to most all-America nominees. To get on, as a general rule, a man must happen to have the luck of playing on a strong team, where it is easier to stand out. That's where the horseshoes to which Rentner refers come in. Team success attracts attention to the player.

Honus Wagner

BASEBALL AT LAST may stir itself toward giving deserved recognition to Honus Wagner and other former players of note for the good they did for the game. At least, some of the magnates have promised to support at the coming league meetings a movement started in Washington to furnish employment for several of the stars of yesteryear.

The plan is to ask the major leagues to employ some of the old-timers as baseball missionaries, good will emissaries or contact men. They would preach baseball and do some coaching among college teams, semi-pros and sandlotters. Wagner, Walter Johnson, Tris Speaker, Ty Cobb and George Sisler are named. John McGraw, Col. Jacob Ruppert, Ed Barrow, Clark Griffith and Bob Quinn already have expressed their approval of the idea.

YOU CAN'T KEEP a squirrel on the ground, and neither could Wilbert Robinson be kept out of baseball. The old boy is back as head of the Atlanta club, purchased by his friend Maj. Huston.

A need for employment, as well as his love for the game, figured in Robbie's return. It is said he is not so well fixed as was believed.

WITH THE PASSING of Fritz Maisel from the managership of the Baltimore Orioles, the last trace of the great pennant-winning teams developed and managed by the late Jack Dunn has been wiped out. Dunn kept his club practically intact for many years, and during his regime won seven consecutive pennants in the International League, a record that probably will stand a long time.

THE SLIMY HAND of the fight fixer has been thrust into English boxing circles. England, ever famous for its control of the glove sport, evidently has not been able to keep out the fistic racketeers who have given the game in this country many a black eye.

Trevor Wignail, of London, one of Europe's leading boxing authorities, says that "in places where fight followers congregate, it is openly said that the business of pugilism is no longer straight, and that many contests are arranged," adding that in the last 12 months he has witnessed fights in London and on the continent that were so raw as to be laughable.

WIGNAIL SAYS HE could, if necessary, give a list of bouts in London and the provinces that were not on the level. But a peculiarity, he explains, is that these fights, while they lasted, were so good to watch that even those who realized there was something shady about them appeared to be satisfied.

Jimmy Johnston

Just as in this country, apparently, many an "act" is made to look like the real thing. English critics say they do not blame the boxers for obeying the orders issued to them, because if they did not they would quickly find themselves without employment. But the British board of boxing control is being panned for permitting the racketeers to get a stranglehold on the ring business.

THE FACT THAT there was no boxing at Madison Square Garden in New York last week doesn't presage a winter of famine. Jimmy Johnston assures, and as evidence he points to enough main bouts arranged or in prospect to run through December and January. To start it off, Fidel La Barba will try to take the featherweight title from Kid Chocolate on December 9. One week later Jimmy McLarnin will meet Sammy Fuller, to be followed by Ernie Schaaf and Stanley Poreda on December 23. Chocolate, if still champion, will meet Seaman Watson, of England, who recently beat Nel Tarleton, the British title holder, and if the Kid survives that engagement he will be tossed in with Tony Canzoneri.

WESTMORELAND GRIDDERS WIN NINE IN ROW

By JULIUS LEVIN

E. Markley Barnes, serving his first year as coach at Jeannette High School, co-champion of the W. P. I. A. L. class AA schools in football, lost little time in reaching the scholastic heights, judging from the record compiled by his Westmoreland County machine during the recent campaign.

Barnes succeeded Art Dahl as coach at Jeannette at the start of the 1932 grid campaign, and if anyone doubts that he made a complete success of the task, a glance at the nine-game schedule will be convincing proof.

FIVE CLASS AA FOES

Included among the nine victims of the Jeannette eleven this season were two class B schools, two class A schools and five class AA schools. Jeannette was one of the six class AA elevens to play five class AA opponents, one more than required by league rules, and it was the only school to score five successive victories.

New Castle and McKeesport, two schools which share the class AA championship with Jeannette, also were undefeated in the double A race, New Castle winning four victories, while McKeesport scored three triumphs and was credited with a forfeit over New Kensington as a result of a protest that was five weeks in coming to light.

UNIQUE RECORD

It is interesting to note Jeannette's brilliant record in the class AA competition. Barnes' eleven not only won all of its five games, but was unscored upon until the closing engagement with Greensburg on Thanksgiving Day, when Greensburg registered a touchdown. Only two others succeeded in registering points against Jeannette, Sewickley Township scoring a touchdown, while Latrobe managed to count a safety against the Barnes team.

One of the outstanding features of the Jeannette schedule this fall is the fact that Jeannette played its five class AA opponents in a row, Monessen, Wilkinsburg, Norwin, Turtle Creek Union and Greensburg were met in successive games. Barnes did not require any breathing spells to keep his champions on their toes throughout the season.

TITLE IS DIVIDED

Jeannette students and citizens would have appreciated an opportunity to play off for the championship of the class AA group in a post-season game, but this was out of the question when three schools presented claims to the title.

Jeannette, in scoring nine straight victories, ran up a total of 168 points to 14 for the opposition. Its record for the 1932 season follows:

Jeannette	21—Sewickley Twp.	6
Jeannette	20—Scottdale	0
Jeannette	28—Latrobe	2
Jeannette	7—Mt. Pleasant	0
*Jeannette	20—Monessen	0
*Jeannette	20—Wilkinsburg	0
*Jeannette	6—Norwin	0
*Jeannette	13—Turtle Creek Un.	0
*Jeannette	15—Greensburg	6
Jeannette	168—Opponents	14

School Notes

The Allegheny Valley will pay tribute to the Springdale High School football team, undefeated and untied in two straight seasons and co-champion with Glassport among the class B schools, at a banquet to be held in the Y. M. C. A. on Friday evening, December 9. All former graduates in that section, now playing college football, will be guests of honor.

The Charleroi High School football banquet will be held in Charleroi tomorrow night. As has been the case in past years, coaches from the majority of the Monongahela Valley schools will be among the guests. D. W. Copeland, faculty manager at Charleroi, is in charge of the affair.

The Little Presidents, of Washington High School, will hold their annual football banquet next Tuesday evening in the Trinity Parish House, Washington, Pa. Capt. Eddie Jurkovsky will act as toastmaster.

The South Hills High School football squad, 1931 city champions, celebrates the close of its football banquet tomorrow night in the High School dining room. A captain for next season will be chosen and letters awarded the members of the varsity squad.

Springdale High School wants to book basketball games for December 16, January 6 and February 3. Teams interested are asked to call Herb Ripper at Springdale High School.

P. G. A. to Finance Ryder Team With Golf Balls

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—A half million golf balls are going to send Uncle Sam's Ryder Cup team over to England in June for its biennial battle with the British.

Beset with financial worries the Professional Golfers' Association of America was wondering what to do about it when it was suggested that a surplus of a half million balls remained and the pros sell them to give the profits to the Ryder Cup team.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—The Chicago Black Hawks will return to the Chicago Stadium for the balance of the National Hockey League season on Sunday, December 4, when they will meet the New York Rangers.

Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, owner of the Hawks, and the Stadium Corporation, represented by Sidney N. Strotz, have reached a satisfactory financial arrangement, to end their eight-month battle over contract terms.

The question of a share in territorial rights, held by McLaughlin, for which the Stadium offered $100,000, was not involved in the settlement, which was effected yesterday.

The Ottawa Senators are in second place in the National Hockey League today, thanks to a 2-to-1 victory scored over the Black Hawks at Ottawa last night. Chicago was unable to hold an early lead.

The New York Rangers won a free-scoring battle from the Boston Bruins, 6 to 4, in Boston, the defeat being the first of the season for the Bruins on their home ice. The Cook brothers and Ching Johnson starred in the victory for the Rangers.

Montreal's Maroons are tied for second place in the Canadian division of the league today following their 5-to-3 triumph scored last night at Montreal over the Detroit Red Wings.

BIG TEN MAY LIFT RULE

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—A campaign to make it possible for Michigan to accept an invitation to meet Southern California in the annual Tournament of Roses football game January 2—which no one will admit having started—today appeared to be gaining real momentum.

The Trojans received and accepted the bid to represent the West Coast, and it was unofficially indicated that the Wolverines, champions of the Western Conference, and undefeated or tied, would be their choice as opponents. This would depend upon whether a Big Ten rule forbidding post-season contests, could be altered or suspended for the occasion.

There were rumors that a secret telegraphic poll of the Big Ten faculty committees on athletics, which would make the final decision on the question, was under way.

Regardless of whether the poll has been taken, the question will come before the faculty committee at its meeting in Chicago next Saturday.

MICHIGAN FAVORED

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—The latchstring to the Rose Bowl portals at Pasadena is out to Michigan.

The University of Southern California made this fact obvious last night in accepting the invitation to represent the West for the fourth time in the annual intersectional Rose Tournament football classic without comment as to its possible opponent.

Colgate and Pittsburgh, the East's potential candidates, have indicated a willingness to participate should the opportunity present itself.

Trojan officials will await possible action of the Big Ten Conference in its meeting this weekend on lifting the anti-post-season game barrier in favor of the undefeated Wolverines.

Under these circumstances the announcement of Southern California's opponent is not expected before late Saturday.

Ambridge High Coach on Seals' Bill Tonight

The football fans marveled at Colgate's record of no defeats or ties and no points scored against it during the season just closed.

In Western Pennsylvania, a high school team compiled a similar mark in 1930 and this season won the class A championship of the W. P. I. A. L.

Tonight, over WCAE, Maurice (Moe) Rubenstein, the coach of that team, representing Ambridge High School, will tell of his team's success and discuss high school football generally as a guest speaker on the weekly program of the Trained Seals of the Sports Department of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, with Julius Levin, editor of scholastic sports for the Sun-Telegraph, interviewing him.

Herb McGee will tell the story of the time the Volunteer Firemen played his amazing Siwash College baseball team and couldn't get the side out. Harry Keck, sports editor, will be master of ceremonies, and Miss Marian Salmon will be at the piano.

The program goes on the air at 7 o'clock.

Waynesburg Signs Paller as Coach

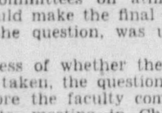
WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 30.—Walter Paller, of Nemacolin, Pa., graduated from West Virginia University last spring, has been named wrestling coach at Waynesburg College.

The first match of the season will be at home January 6 with West Virginia University. The same teams will meet at Morgantown five nights later, January 11.

LASKY STOPS SEKYRA

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Art Lasky, young Minneapolis heavyweight, has an important win to his credit today. He knocked out Joe Sekyra, of Dayton, O., 5-5 seconds after the opening of the seventh round in a fight scheduled for 10 rounds here last night.

ENGEL MADE CAPTAIN



GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 30.—John Engel, right guard on the 1932 Greensburg High School football squad, has been elected captain of the 1933 squad following a meeting of the lettermen. Engel succeeds Mitchell Medved, fullback.

MILLERS SIGN BANCROFT

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Dave Bancroft, former big league player and manager, today was named pilot of the Minneapolis Baseball Club, 1932 champion of the American Association.

Bancroft succeeds Donie Bush, who resigned three weeks ago to manage the Cincinnati Reds. A native of the Northwest, Bancroft played his first professional ball in the old Northern League. His home is at Superior, Wis.

Bancroft was one of the leading shortstops of the major leagues for several years, playing in four world series, in 1915 with the Philadelphia Nationals and on the New York Giants great pennant-winning clubs of 1921-22-23.

Dave broke in with the Philadelphia Nationals in 1915 to immediately become a star. He also starred in the world series, batting .294 in the five-game losing series with the Boston Red Sox. He stayed with the Phillies until 1920, when John McGraw traded Art Fletcher and Hubbell for him.

Bancroft stayed with the Giants until the close of the 1923 season, when he was traded to the Boston Braves to become their manager. He managed Boston through four campaigns and on his unconditional release in 1927 signed with Brooklyn, for whom he played shortstop through the 1928 campaign. He signed with McGraw as the Giants' first lieutenant in 1929. Last summer, when McGraw resigned, Bancroft retired with him to the comparative quiet of the front office and a few weeks ago resigned that post.

During his 14 years in the National League Bancroft engaged in 1,799 games, made 1,885 hits, scored 1,013 runs and stole 133 bases. His lifetime batting average was .277.

Mike Kelley, president and principal owner of the Minneapolis club, said Bancroft signed a one-year contract. He did not announce the salary, but sports writers said that it would be the highest managerial salary in the minors.

TOM COULTER TO STAY IN BACKFIELD

By JESS CARVER

Old Kid Football is having a merry time of it hereabouts sticking in the spotlight, what with the basketballers and swimmers and boxers unwrapping their overalls and sharpening their tools for the winter season. It looks like a pretty busy winter, too, for the basketball teams all are going to be strong and college boxing, like the automobile, looks like it is here to stay.

Coach Bob Waddell is having a tough time getting his Tartans pepped up for the game this week with Georgetown, the contest which will wind up the campaign for the Skibos. Tech came out of the battle last week with N. Y. U. pretty tired, for it was the second tough game in five days for the Plaid, Pitt having been met the Saturday previous. So Waddell rested his lads Friday, Saturday and Sunday, but had them at it again Monday and yesterday.

TRIP PLANS CHANGED

A change has been made in the going-away plans of the Skibos, by the way. Instead of leaving Thursday night for Washington, the squad will not entrain until noontime Friday, arriving at its destination that night.

No shifts are expected in the Skibo lineup. The same team that went to rags with New York University is expected to be hurled against the Hoyas. Tom Coulter will stay in there at left halfback, for while Bill Spisak's injured elbow is almost completely mended, the coaches do not wish to take any chances of aggravating the injury.

This Georgetown outfit is a tough one to figure. They dropped the Rockne system on the Hilltop in mid-season when Tommy Mills was booted out of the picture and Jack Hagerty, former Hoya star in the days of the Lou Little regime, was given the head coaching job. In the first game under Hagerty, Georgetown was beaten by West Virginia and in the second, by West Virginia Wesleyan, but the team rounded into some semblance of form to the Bucknell, a team to be rated on a par with either of the West Virginia schools.

PASSERS BUSY

To get back for a shot or two at the basketball situation. It looks like the boys here in the city were going to have a great winter. The three local varsities will be stronger than they were last year, and the fight for city honors is going to be very, very keen.

The season opens next week—my, how time does fly—when Pitt and Georgetown clash in the inaugural tilt of the Eastern Intercollegiate Conference. The contest will feature Dr. Cliff Carlson's third annual all-day basketball clinic. Pitt will play 22 games in all, Carnegie and Duquesne probably 16 or 17.

Out at Carnegie Tech, Ernie Sesto called out the Plaid ring candidates Monday. Sesto has two lettermen from last year's team on hand in Capt. Henry Carr, a 145-pounder and Ralph Atlas, who tips the scales at 125.

The Tipoff

The Wash-Jeff backfield situation isn't going to be so hotsy-totsy when Coach Hank Day calls his boys together for spring drill some time in April. Five of the boys who won letters as backfield men this fall will be among the missing, along with one lineman, Carl Johnson, an end. The backs will include Capt. Phil Port, George Shaffer, Gerhart Zagray, Al Romeito and Johnny Furiasic.

Had the reserves been more plentiful, Bill Amos figures he would have had a better season with his Grove City Crimsons. The Grovers played nine ball games, won three, lost five and played a scoreless tie . . . the tie being with Slippery Rock. Grove City also suffered considerably when it came to packing a scoring punch in that Chuck Baylor, the veteran fullback, spent most of the season on the bench keeping company with a tough charley-horse.

Cam Henderson takes his Scarlet Hurricane of Davis-Elkins to Dayton this week for a charity tilt with the University of Dayton. The Hurricane will show a star fullback, the best in the tri-state district, in Lester Corzine, a 190-pounder, who can pass, kick and run, to the Ohio fans.

They are picking 'em little for their basketball captains at P. M. C. this year. Willard Protten, who weighs only 150 pounds and is only five feet four inches tall, will lead the Military College passers on the court this winter. He's an all-round athlete, quarterback on the football team and an infielder in baseball.

The Tartans go up against a football player who might have been playing on their eleven Saturday as they tangle with Georgetown. Joe Kelleher, brother of the famous Babe, is being shifted about in the Hoyas backfield. He was all set to enroll at Tech two years ago, but decided on Georgetown at the last minute.

Titans Pick Squad For N. Orleans Trip

DETROIT, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Twenty-six members of the University of Detroit football squad will leave tomorrow for New Orleans, where they will meet Loyola Saturday.

The squad will include 10 backfield men, four ends, three centers, five tackles and four guards. Several of the players, including Capt. Johnny Metras, will be playing their last game as Titans.

SOCCER BAN LIFTED

The Valley Camp soccer team has been reinstated to the West Penn Soccer Association. The team plays at Morgan Sunday.

DENNY SHUTE CAPTURES TOP MONEY IN MIAMI OPEN

CLEVELANDER LEADS FIELD WITH 291

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Densmore (Denny) Shute, modest 28-year-old Cleveland golf professional, is $2,520.83 richer today and to Denny, the depression is just something one reads about. Denny won top honors and the sizeable purse yesterday by finishing ahead of the field in the $10,000 Miami Biltmore open golf tournament, carding a 291 for the 72 holes of play.

Shute survived hard going through to advance to first place. He fought a nip-and-tuck battle over the last 36 holes with John Revolta, 21-year-old Menominee, Mich., dark horse, and Ed Dudley, of Wilmington, Del., veteran of many golfing campaigns, before he finally scored his 291 to the 292 of Revolta and the 293 of Dudley.

RUNYAN FOURTH

Paul Runyan, of West Chester, N. Y., holding up the judges' final decision as to third place until darkness fell over the difficult Biltmore course, was in fourth place with a 294, while Gene Sarazen, unable to score his second Miami Biltmore victory in succession, and Al Aspinosa, of Akron, O., were in fifth place with 296 each.

Vincent Edred, of the Highland Country Club, Pittsburgh, took 311 and won $25.

Following are the pros who won $100 and more and their scores:

Denny Shute, Cleveland, O., 78-70-70-73—291, $2,500.
John Revolta, Menominee, Mich., 73-71-72-76—292, $1,250.
Ed Dudley, Wilmington, Del., 77-70-69-77—293, $1,000.
Paul Runyan, Westchester, N. Y., 75-72-73-74—294, $750.
A. Espinosa, Akron, O., 74-71-75-76—296, $600.
Gene Sarazen, Miami, 77-73-73-73—296, $600.
Billy Burke, Greenwich, Conn., 76-73-76-73—298, $350.
Joe Kirkwood, Chicago, 72-75-73-78—298, $350.
Al Watrous, Detroit, 71-77-73-77—298, $350.
Roland Hancock, Stoneham, Mass., 71-75-76-77—299, $131.25.
Craig Wood, Deal, N. J., 79-73-74-73—299, $131.25.
John Golden, Noroton, Conn., 78-72-72-77—299, $131.25.
Mike Turnesa, Elmsford, N. Y., 76-72-76-75—299, $131.25.
Walter Hagen, Detroit, 75-72-77-76—300, $112.50.
Tommy Armour, Boca Raton, Fla., 73-74-73-80—300, $112.50.
Tom Creavy, Albany, N. Y., 78-74-73-75—300, $112.50.
H. C. Picard, Charleston, S. C., 73-77-74-76—300, $112.50.
Tony Manero, Elmsford, N. Y., 75-74-77-75—301, $100.
Joe Turnesa, Elmsford, N. Y., 74-74-77-76—301, $100.

MINORS PLAN NEW RULES

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 30.—(AP.)—With the future of minor league baseball virtually hanging in the balance, members of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, will meet here next week in the role of consulting physicians to discuss remedies designed to put the ailing patient back on its feet.

Major league clubs also will be represented, since the meeting usually results in a number of deals between the big league and the minor league teams.

The association's executive committee has drafted a set of recommendations to be acted upon, including proposals that broadcasting of home games be discontinued and that salary and player limits for all classifications be reduced.

The committee also will recommend that major league clubs operating minor league, farms guarantee continuance of operation for a full season.

AGAINST SALARY CUT

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Nov. 30.—(AP.)—New York-Pennsylvania Baseball League owners have voted against the recommendation of the executive committee of the Minor League Association to reduce the salary limit of Class B teams to $2,000 a month. No acceptable limit was adopted, but President P. B. Farrell has been instructed to work for "a higher salary limit" at the minor league convention next week in Columbus.

Scranton Boxers Form Ring Union

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Steps for formation of what is believed to be the first organization of its kind in labor circles have been taken by 25 local professional boxers, who have banded together to form a boxers' union.

Frank E. Walsh, secretary of the Scranton Central Labor Union, will act as organizer and has announced that he will seek to have the union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The boxers charged that licensed promoters pay them only $7 in preliminary fights. The union will ask a flat rate of $20 for preliminary fighters and will seek an amendment to the State Boxing Commission law which will extend the duration of a fighter's license for one year from the date of issuance instead of for the calendar year in which it is issued.

Former Spar Mate Knocks Out Cohen

DENVER, Nov. 30.—(INS.)—Willie Williams, Negro trap drummer turned fighter, was the idol of Denver fight fans today.

Williams knocked out Mickey Cohen, Colorado lightweight champion, in the fourth round of a scheduled 10-round main event here last night.

A former sparring partner of Cohen, Williams earned the right to meet his master in a main event when he knocked him out in an exhibition match a few weeks ago.

PROPOSED GAME OFF

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Nov. 30.—The undefeated Steubenville High School eleven has declined a post-season game with New Castle, co-champion of the AA schools of the W. P. I. A. L.

Perry High Champs Honored

DR. JOCK SUTHERLAND — JIMMY MANNING — COACH CHESTER A. SMITH

The football players of Perry High School, on the North Side, were honored at an assembly in the school auditorium at which Dr. Sutherland, Pitt head coach, was the principal speaker. Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph picture shows the captain and coach of the city school champions being greeted by the mentor of the undefeated Panthers, collegiate champions of the city.

TRIOANO TOPS SCORERS

Waynesburg won the championship and Geneva's little halfback star, Guido (Shorty) Trioano, the individual high-scoring honors in the Tri-State Conference for the season just closed.

Trioano scored four touchdowns and kicked two goals for points after touchdown to aid the Geneva cause. Trailing his was Dick Thomas, Grove City quarterback, who scored three touchdowns, two of them in the final game of the season against Thiel. Art Grahame, Geneva's quarterback, kicked the only field goal of the season, a long dropkick against Waynesburg in the championship contest which the Yellow Jackets eventually won, 6 to 3. The scoring records follow:

Player	TD.	P.A.T.	Pts.
Troiano, Geneva	4	2	26
Thomas, Grove City	3	0	18
Staples, Westminster	2	1	13
Schemick, Thiel	2	0	12
Heffley, Geneva	2	0	12
Johnson, Geneva	2	0	12
Currie, Waynesburg	2	0	12
Grahame, Geneva	1	2	8
Holland, Waynesburg	1	1	7
Donnelly, Waynesburg	1	0	6
Snyder, Thiel	1	0	6
Arrowsmith, Westminster	1	0	6
Ketterer, Westminster	1	0	6

The Y. M. H. A. basketball team will be out for its fourth straight victory tomorrow night when the Penn-Drake Five, of Butler, will be the attraction on the Y. M. H. A. floor.

The local passers defeated the Butlerites in a thrilling duel on the Butler floor Saturday night.

The Y. M. H. A. Varsity B quintet will meet the I. K. S. Little Varsity in the preliminary game.

MANAGER RELEASED

OAKLAND, Cal., Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Carl Zamloch, manager of the Oakland baseball club since 1930, is looking for a job today. He was released yesterday by A. Robert Miller, president of the Coast League team.

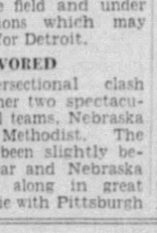
AUBURN, GAELS FAVORED BY ANDERSON

ANDERSON'S CHOICES

Alabama Poly over South Carolina.
Detroit over Loyola.
Nebraska over Southern Methodist.
St. Marys over Alabama.
Tennessee over Florida.
Tulsa over Mississippi.

By HEARTLY W. (HUNK) ANDERSON,
Notre Dame Football Coach

The waning football season still has some punch left in it, and some teams are just warming up to the real tough parts of their schedule at this late date, when others have packed their moleskins away for another year. Saturday's card is dotted with outstanding games between some of the strongest remaining teams in the country.



Hunk Anderson

The following Saturday also will have enough football to keep the average fan alert, and other teams still will be playing New Year's Day and later.

Probably the country's outstanding game Saturday will be the St. Marys-Alabama game at San Francisco. St. Mary's has lost only to Fordham's strong aggregation and has been tied by California. This is a remarkable record for a small school, and one Coach Slip Madigan can be proud of.

Alabama has lost only a couple of games while playing a tough schedule, and should give the Gaels a great battle. However, I pick St. Mary's to win by a close score.

AUBURN AIMS AT TITLE

Chet Wynne's Alabama Poly team, known more familiarly as Auburn, should win over South Carolina. Auburn is one of the few teams left in the undefeated class, and I don't think South Carolina has the stuff to stop them now.

The University of Detroit has played great ball all year, losing only a couple of close games, one of them by one touchdown, to Michigan State's fine eleven. Detroit will play an intersectional game with Loyola at New Orleans. This is an annual highlight and might go either way. I pick Detroit, despite the fact that Loyola will have the advantage of playing on its home field and under weather conditions which may make it harder for Detroit.

NEBRASKA FAVORED

Another intersectional clash will bring together two spectacular and powerful teams, Nebraska and Southern Methodist. The Mustangs have been slightly below par this year and Nebraska has been going along in great shape, listing a tie with Pittsburgh among its accomplishments. For this reason, I pick Nebraska by a close margin. Climatic conditions again will hamper the northern team, but I think Nebraska can overcome the heat.

Tennessee, with a great ball team, will invade Florida in another outstanding intersectional clash. I pick Tennessee to continue its great record. Florida has been going fairly well this season, but Tennessee will have too much power. It should be an easy game for Tennessee.

Woman Grappler Tosses Male Opponent

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Just by way of showing what women can do in the manly art of wrestling, Miss Barbara Ware, of Kansas City, last night tossed Tommy Rosco, of Omaha, in six minutes with arm scissors and an arm bar. She weighed 140 pounds and her opponent 130.

She demonstrated a number of holds before applying the combination which floored Rosco.

P. G. A. RULER RAPS HARLOW

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Albert R. Gates, business administrator of the Professional Golfers' Association of America, just puffed away on his big cigar as he heard reports of rebellion within the ranks of his organization.

The administrator was appointed to gain better working conditions for professionals as well as to promote tournaments. The "rebellion" consisted of a movement by a score of leading money players of American golf under Robert Harlow to form an independent tournament bureau for promotion of bigger and better shows in the United States and Canada.

Harlow's activity in the movement, however, drew the fire of the administrator, who has been the recognized czar of American professional golf for the last three years. Gates remarked:

"This so-called revolt, or rump organization, is largely the work of one man, Bob Harlow, our former tournament manager. He was released from that job last May for what we believed to be good and sufficient reasons. Since then he has been trying to get the job back, writing a letter only recently to a P. G. A. official, suggesting he be reemployed as tournament manager and editor of our official magazine. Failing in his quest, he has lured many of the best golfers into an independent tournament bureau."

LAWN BOWLERS ELECT

The Schenley Park Outdoor Lawn Bowlers have organized a permanent club with the following officers: Dr. R. McGowan, honorary president; William Munro, president; Dr. J. D. Singley, secretary; J. Means, treasurer.

MITCHELL, HOYT RELEASED BY GIANTS

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Clarence Mitchell, last of the southpaw spitball pitchers, and Waite Hoyt, the "boy wonder" of 15 years ago, have been cast adrift by the New York Giants as a part of Manager Bill Terry's rebuilding program.

Given their unconditional release under the 10-year rule, the two veteran moundsmen today are free to negotiate with any club for their services. The releases were announced yesterday.

Mitchell has pitched for six major league clubs since joining the Detroit Tigers in 1911. He spent this year coaching the Giant pitchers.

Hoyt's major league career during the last two years had been one of ups and downs. Following 10 years of brilliant pitching for the New York Yankees, Hoyt was traded to the Tigers in May, 1930. A year later he was released to the Athletics.

After being given his unconditional release by the Athletics, Hoyt signed a contract with Brooklyn last spring and made unusual efforts to get back into condition. He reduced 30 pounds by dieting, but failed to recover his former effectiveness. He won only one game before the Dodgers released him in June. He joined the Giants soon afterward, winning five and losing seven. His complete major league record shows 196 victories and 141 defeats.

Eight Teams Join Catholic Floor Loop

The newly formed Catholic High School Scholastic Athletic League will operate during the coming basketball season with an eight-team circuit. Final arrangements for the opening contests are being made and it is planned to extend the operations of the circuit to football next fall.

The following teams are members of the new loop: St. Justin, St. Veronica, of Ambridge; St. Joseph, of Natrona; St. Peter, of McKeesport; St. Thomas, of Braddock; St. Francis DeSales, of McKees Rocks; the Duquesne University Preps, and St. Lukes, of Carnegie.

DUKES ARRANGE STRONG FLOOR SCHEDULE

PITT AND TECH ON CARD OF BLUFFITES

Duquesne University is going out after not only the city but the tri-state district college basketball championship this winter in a big way. With a veteran team and a schedule composed almost entirely of opponents from the tri-state sector, the Red and Blue will have a fine chance to hang the area's championship pennant if the team is successful in its contests.

Only two fives from out of the district will be opposed by the locals and there will be no trips taken away from the immediate vicinity of Pittsburgh. The two outsiders to show here will be Adrian College, of Michigan, in the season's inaugural on December 20, and the game with George Washington University in the Bluff gymnasium on January 9.

MEET PITT, TECH

Two games will be played with both Pitt and Carnegie Tech, as well as home-and-home duels with Geneva, West Virginia, Wash-Jeff, Grove City and possibly Westminster. There are two open dates on the Duquesne card as announced by Graduate Manager John Holohan, on January 3 and February 4, and it is likely that these will be filled with the colorful Westminster outfit.

Last the Dukes earned the title of city champions with their victories over Pitt and Carnegie Tech, defeating the Panthers in their lone engagement and dividing with the Tartans.

SQUAD POWERFUL

Coach Chick Davies will put in his ninth season as head coach with the finest squad it ever has been his good fortune to handle. Jim McDougal, Art Feldman, Joe Zerilla, Irving Brenner, Marty Reiter and the incomparable Dudey Moore, Audley Davies, Stubby Irwin and Capt. Bunk McGeever are back from last year's crack team, and the squad will be strengthened, though it hardly needs any boosting, by the addition of Frank Serany, Dave Cross, Gene Meyers, Bill Murphy, Paul Mirch and Oscar Schneider from last year's freshman team.

The varsity has been working out for a period of three weeks. Yesterday, Coach Aldo Donnelli, frosh mentor, called out the first year men and today will attempt to cut the huge squad to 27 men. The varsity schedule follows:

December 30—Adrian (Mich.) College, at Pittsburgh.
January 3—Open.
January 6—Grove City College, at Pittsburgh.
January 9—George Washington University, at Pittsburgh.
January 13—Pitt, at Duquesne.
January 27—Carnegie Tech, at Duquesne.
February 1—Geneva College, at Beaver Falls.
February 4—Open, at Pittsburgh.
February 7—Geneva College, at Pittsburgh.
February 11—West Virginia University, at Pittsburgh.
February 14—Grove City College, at Grove City.
February 17—Pitt, at Stadium Pavilion.
February 20—Washington and Jefferson, at Pittsburgh.
February 27—West Virginia University, at Morgantown.
March 3—Carnegie Tech, at Tech.

GIBB RECORDS LONGEST RUN

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Honors for the longest scoring run of the waning 1932 football season go to Robert Gibb, Nebraska Wesleyan back, who took a kickoff by Oklahoma City seven yards behind his own goal line and ran 107 yards for a touchdown.

Gibb's run was the highlight statistically of an interesting season which saw Thomas Cashill, of Nevada, dropkick a 55-yard field goal against California Agricultural College; Michael Schemick, of Thiel, run back a punt exactly 100 yards for a touchdown against Bethany, and Herbert McAnly, of Florida, run 105 yards from scrimmage for a touchdown against Sewanee.

Gibb's 107-yard touchdown dash was only one of many long-scoring runs from kickoff. George Melinkovich, Notre Dame's fullback, ran back a kickoff 98 yards in the Irish rout of Northwestern and Ralph McClure, the Colorado College back who later was fatally injured, ran back a kickoff 86 yards against Utah for his team's only score of the game.

Ace Hudkins Tamed By Wesley Ketchel

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—(INS.)—Sportdom today mourned the pugilistic passing of Ace Hudkins, one-time fierce Nebraska Wildcat.

The weary but wary Wildcat was decisively beaten by Wesley Ketchel, Tacoma (Wash.) southpaw, in a 10-round bout last night.

Hudkins' fighting heart saved him from a knockout in the tenth round when Ketchel landed a left to the chin for a nine-count.

Darting in and out with a wicked and punishing left jab, Ketchel kept Hudkins on the defensive throughout with the exception of the first two rounds, which Hudkins won on rushing and slugging tactics.

Fight Results

At Los Angeles—Wesley Ketchel defeated Ace Hudkins, 10 rounds; Bobby O'Hara drew with Johnny Martinez, 10 rounds; Fil Quintana defeated Artie Duran, 4 rounds; Frank Bowsey knocked out Dutch Weime, 4 rounds.

At Denver—Willie Williams knocked out Mickey Cohen, 4 rounds; Steve Trojack knocked out Bobby Caridiy, 1 round.

At Minneapolis—Art Lasky knocked out Joe Sekyra, 7 rounds; Buck Everett defeated Dick Daniels, 8 rounds; Frankie Knaurer defeated Harry Greb, 6 rounds; Fred Bloxidge defeated Mike Feser, 6 rounds.

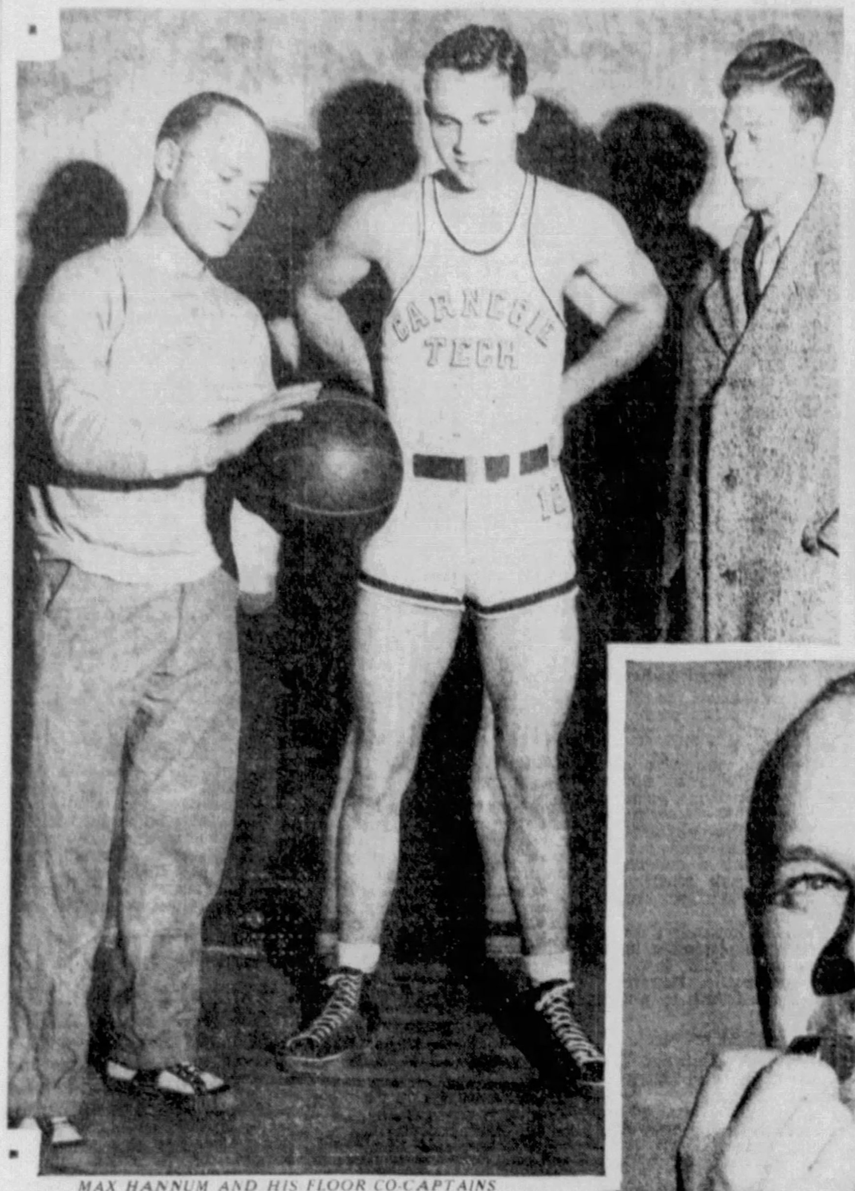
At Indianapolis—Tracy Cox defeated Harry Dudlasky, 10 rounds; Sob Dukesky won by a technical knockout over Jack Keye, 4 rounds.

At West Palm Beach—Cum Griffith knocked out Jerry Iavelle, 8 rounds.

At Jacksonville—Joe Knight won by a technical knockout over Nate Brown, 5 rounds; Johnny Miles and Joe Kinz drew, 8 rounds.

At New York—Kid Chocolate defeated Johnny Alba, 6 rounds.

Many-Sided Man Is Max, Tech's 'Triple-Threat' Ace



MAX HANNUM AND HIS FLOOR CO-CAPTAINS

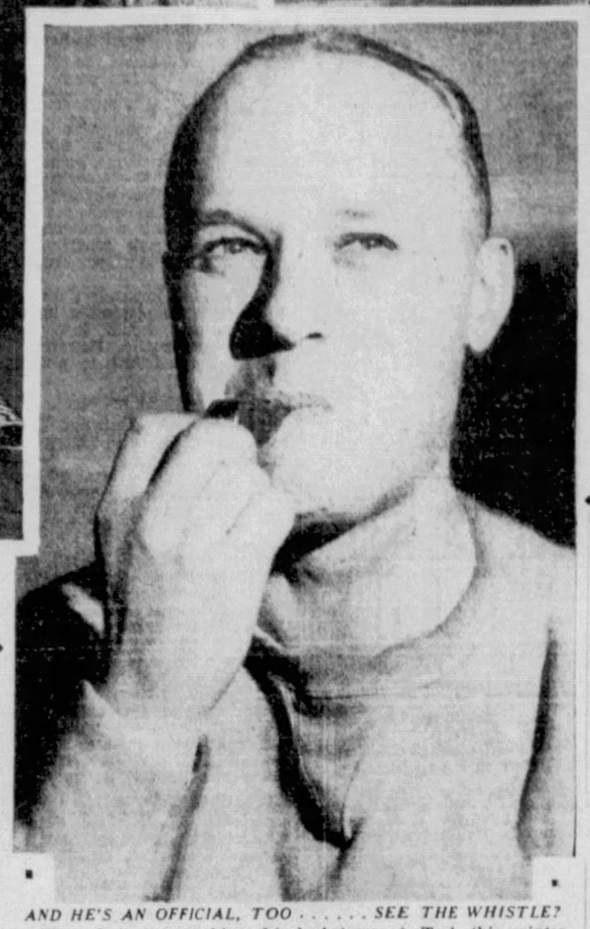
AS A SCRIBE

Max, a graduate at Pitt, carved a niche for himself as a local sports scribe before he left the newspaper business to become a sports public relations man for Tech. The basketball coaching job followed this year. Imagine Max's embarrassment if he has to write about himself this season, especially if things don't pan out just right with his passers!



AND HE'S AN OFFICIAL, TOO . . . . . SEE THE WHISTLE?

When he's not coaching his basketeers at Tech this winter, Hannum will serve as an official in floor games in the Pittsburgh district. He's one of the best game handlers we have. These are Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph pictures.

BOSTON PILOT AFTER STARS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Battling hard for his beloved Braves, Bill McKechnie said today he expects to be in the thick of the indoor baseball rushes slated for next week in Columbus, O. Judge Emil Fuchs, president, and Eddie Cunningham, secretary, will join up with Skipper Bill to look after the interests of the Boston Nationals at the big gathering of the clans.

McKechnie expects also to be a roving hazard at the major league sessions scheduled for the succeeding week in New York.

The pilot of the Braves ran into a series of misfortunes as the National League race began to jell this year. Bill was in a position to land in a first division berth, with better than a Chinaman's chance for the flag when his stars fell afoul of serious injuries.

McKechnie has nothing definite to offer in the way of swaps, but like every other manager in the league he is ready and eager to talk shop along certain lines. Bit by bit, Bill has been constructing a real ball team for the edification of the folks of the City of Culture and the fact that the fans come out in depression days to support the Wilkinsburg strategist is proof of his efficiency and popularity in the land of the cod.

McKechnie is in a much more settled condition at home owing to the return of Mrs. McKechnie, who was taken to New York some time ago for special treatment for a nervous ailment. The wife of the Wilkinsburg citizen is now able to be up and around and Bill is himself again. He brought Mrs. McKechnie home for Thanksgiving.

La Barba Trains In Hotel Room

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(INS.)—George Blake, of Los Angeles, manager of Fidel LaBarba, had pulled a new stunt on the fistic world today.

LaBarba, starting training here for his bout with Kid Chocolate, featherweight champion, took his first workout in a hotel room. Fearing an abrupt change from the tropical atmosphere of Honolulu, where Fidel has been vacationing, Blake thought a steam-heated atmosphere would be safer than a breezy gymnasium.

Cincinnati Fans Show Early Interest

CINCINNATI, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—The baseball clans are gathering already to see what Donie Bush will do with and for the Cincinnati Reds in 1933.

The club has announced 17,000 seat reservations have been made for the opening game, and ascribed most of them to interest in what the new manager will accomplish.

KEED EASY WINNER

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(INS.)—Kid Chocolate, world featherweight champion, easily defeated Johnny Alba, Filipino, in a six-round bout at Jamaica last night. Alba's left eye was almost closed at the finish.

ARMY 12-5 FAVORITE

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(INS.)—Army, ruled a 12-to-5 favorite in the betting, is due to defeat Navy in Saturday's football classic at Philadelphia.

MARCUS ASKS TOUGH FOES

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Amateur bouts at DuBois, Pa.
Maxie Rosenbloom vs. Fred Lenhart, (non-title), 10 rounds, San Francisco.
Dario Marreno vs. Johnny Mitchell, 10 rounds, Detroit.

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor

Joe Marcus, of Braddock, checks in with a complaint.

He wants to know why he can't get a match with a first-class opponent around here after his work during the months he has been in our midst.

The Leaping Lena of the ring started off here by checking the winning streak of Patsy Hennigan in a bout at Hickey Park.

Then he won over Johnny Datto at the Meyers Bowl.

Then he dropped a disputed decision to Battling Gizzy at the Arena.

Last Friday night he won over Jackie Willis at the Arena.

HISTORY OF BATTLES

For none of these battles did Marcus receive a fortune.

The Datto and Gizzy fights were bunched together, giving him little time to recover from the first and train for Gizzy.

The Willis fight wasn't anything to fall out of your seat about, but that was largely due to the fact that Willis is a tall, rangy youngster and a deadly counter puncher and would not lead.

Datto also was a dangerous puncher, who had Marcus on the floor. Gizzy is Gizzy, a tough gent to fight.

SEEKS HERRERA BOUT

Marcus believes he has demonstrated he possesses the experience to fight the best. He fought the best out West before coming here. Right now he'd like a crack at Tony Herrera, or some other top-ranking lightweight. Give him a fellow who'll lead into him and you'll see a fight, says Joey.

Well, that's something in this day and age. When a fighter wants to meet the tough ones, he ought to be accommodated. Most of them are backtracking in the other direction.

Another local fighter who believes he merits a break from the promoters is little Jimmy Thomas, the classy, hard-hitting Negro bantamweight, of the Hill. Jimmy can box and punch. He'd like to get a bout with the champion in his class or a fling at some of the real contenders.

Between Rounds

Billy Holt, Negro welterweight, of Homewood, would jump at another chance to box Ted Yarosz, whom he has met twice, once at East Liverpool, O., and the other time at the Meyers Bowl, the first time when he was only 16 years old. Billy has lost only two bouts out of 11 this year, to Jimmy Belmont and Jack King.

The McRae Post, No. 31, American Legion of East Palestine, O., will stage an amateur boxing show of eight four-round bouts in the K. of C. Hall, East Palestine, Friday night. Receipts will go to the needs of the community.

Sid Silas, local lightweight, is visiting back in New York this week. He plans to return here in time for a fight one week from next Monday.

Ray Alvis, replying to Ray Foutts' offer to permit Ted Yarosz to fight Jack King again provided Alvis will sign a contract calling for a Jackie Fields-Yarosz fight if Yarosz gets the decision over King again, writes from Chicago that a Fields ma on is out of the question because the welterweight champion is matched for a bout in Chicago and then will head for California to defend his title against Young Corbett, February 22. However, he will let Tony Herrera give away weight and fight Yarosz or stands ready to make another King-Yarosz bout any time.

Naming of the wealthy Pacan McFarland, former uncrowned lightweight champion, as a member of the Illinois Boxing Commission when the new Governor takes office in January, would prove a popular move with the oldtime fans, who remember McFarland as a great performer. Packey is only 43 years old. He was a contemporary of Joe Gans, Ad Wolgast, Battling Nelson, Jimmy Britt and other good ones.

Sunny Jim McVey, who boxes K. O. Johnny Roberts in the eight-round semi-final at the Arena, Friday night, turned in one of his best wins when he stopped Tiger Joe West at Hickey Park last summer. Roberts recently stopped Buddy McArthur.

The hottest thing in a fistic way in Philadelphia right now is Eddie Cool, as a result of his victory over Lew Massey, Monday night. Massey has shown here three times, snaring wins over Tony Herrera, Ray Miller and Johnny Datto.

Jackie Fields, the welterweight champion, who meets Tommy Herman in Chicago tomorrow night in a tuneup bout for his return match against Young Corbett, ranks his challengers in this order: Corbett, Lou Brouillard, Jimmy McLarnin and Andy Callahan. What—no Ted Yarosz?

Johnny Datto, Filipino lightweight, now making his home here, boxes Jackie Willis in Philadelphia Thursday night of next week.

Leo Clements, Jeannette heavyweight boxes Buddy McArthur in a 10-round bout at Fairmont, W. Va., tomorrow night. Bobby Ray and U. S. Carpentier will appear in preliminaries.

Johnny Peppe, Philadelphia middleweight, will be making his second trip to Pittsburgh for a single bout with Frankie Goosby, whom he meets in the main bout at the Arena, Friday night. He came here recently to sub on a short notice for Nick Venore, who was matched with Goosby, but, when he arrived, he was more than 10 pounds heavier than Goosby and the bout was called off. Now he's down to weight and in condition.

Sammy Paris, local bantamweight, is contemplating an invasion of California rings.

There will be no boxing show at Motor Square Garden next Monday night, but Matchmaker Jules Beck plans to operate weekly thereafter.

Willie Davies boxes Russ Fields and Matty Matheson meets Johnny Edwards in 10-round bouts at Youngstown tomorrow night.

GOLF, SHOOT ACE DIES

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—(AP.)—William Howard Buchanan, 48, who held the golf championship of the Bermuda Country Club for five years, died in New York Hospital today after an illness of ten months. As a marksman he won trophies at several national rifle association matches.

RAMS ELECT DANOWSKI

NEWYORK, Nov. 30.—(INS.)—Ed Danowski, triple-threat fullback, will captain the Fordham football team next year, Theobald M. Flynn, of Erie, Pa., was named manager.

All-Star Rating Means Little, Says Fesler

XENIA, O., Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Being an all-America football player, in the opinion of Wesley Fesler, former Ohio State University star, is all a bunch of hooey.

Fesler, who was honored with almost unanimous selection by pickers of all-star teams when he played end for Ohio State, told a high school football dinner gathering last night that recognition on mythical all-star football teams won't get you anywhere in the long run.

THE GREAT OUTDOORS

By GIB MARSH

Clad in their red-marked hunting togs the big game hunters are scattered along the mountains from Sullivan County in the northeast to Westmoreland County in the southwest section of Western Pennsylvania waiting for dawn to break to mark the opening of the deer shooting season in the state tomorrow. It is estimated there will be 300,000 nimrods take part in the opening hostilities on the wily buck. The limit will be one buck per hunter, and six head per hunting camp. The legal buck must have pointed antlers.

What a rude surprise those deer herds will be given as they return from their night's feeding to their favorite brush to bed down for the day. Many bucks will be bagged during the first hour of shooting. The bombardment will start the deer herds milling about the mountains and the driving crews of hunters will keep them moving all day.

Of course, thousands of deer will make for the game refuges, where they cannot be disturbed and there is plenty of food and shelter for them. There will be many illegal kills, resulting from thoughtless hunters. The "still hunters" will be on the scene in thousands, and, with the driving crews active, will bag many strong bucks fleeing from the noise-making groups. There is no doubt the season's kill will be heavy.

It is a sport which includes much excitement and provides the thrill which the hunter craves. Hunting camp life provides just the proper outing to forget cares and burdens. In recent years many permanent hunting camps, some of them elaborate, costing as much as $50,000, have been built. However, there were thousands of small, cabin-like, frame structures erected along the mountain ranges of the state. Formerly deer hunting included camp hardships, zero weather forcing hunters out of the mountains. Modern building science has provided proper cooking and sleeping facilities, assuring warmth and comfort even in extreme weather.

SCHAAF GIVEN TITLE

BOSTON, Nov. 29.—(AP.)—The Massachusetts Boxing Commission today authorized Champion Jack Sharkey to transfer the New England heavyweight title, which he won back in 1825, to Ernie Schaaf. The latter will risk his new honors in his 12-round return bout with Unknown Winston, of Hartford, at the arena next Monday. Sharkey and Johnny Buckley, his manager, own Schaaf's contract.

LOCAL GIRL HONORED

GREENWICH, Conn., Nov. 30.—(INS.)—Nancy H. Glass, of Pittsburgh, was one of the members of the first team to receive field hockey letters at Rosemary Hall, here, today.

ARMY COACHES SING BLUES

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Taking a leaf from Notre Dame's book, Army's football coaches are singing the blues this week. Notre Dame, it will be recalled, came to town just about a week ago, weeping copiously because most of her stars were suffering from influenza or hobbling around with injuries.

What the Ramblers did to Army a few days later now is history. Their cripples smashed the Cadet line to pieces; their influenza-ridden backs dashed madly through the Army line or around the ends as though they'd never heard of the word. When it was all over there was three touchdowns difference between the two teams but Notre Dame was not the loser.

Now it's Army turn. With the Navy game four days away, Cadet coaches point to an injured list that includes Ken Fields, Felix Vidal, Tom Kilday, Pete Kopcsak, Lincoln, and a few more.

Fields and Kilday both reported for practice yesterday but the other three still were under the care of the team physician.

CUBA TO JOIN NORTH TEAM

BALTIMORE, Nov. 30.—(INS.)—Nine more college football stars were added today to the Northern all-star team which will engage a Southern all-star team for charity here, December 10. They are: Lippoth, end, Columbia; Vovar, end, New York U.; Wilbur, tackle, Yale; Hickey, tackle, Villanova; Cuba, tackle, Pitt; Reese, center, Temple; Whittock, quarterback, Temple; James, halfback, Princeton, and Crowley, halfback, Yale.

Edmunson, center, West Virginia Wesleyan; Meade, guard, William and Mary, and Wood, end, Furman, were invited to join the Southern squad.

Alabama Arrives In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—The Alabama varsity football squad, which meets St. Mary's here Saturday, arrived in town this morning. Yesterday was spent in Los Angeles, where the Crimson Tide worked out on the U. S. C. L. A. field.

Coach Frank Thomas said the team was in good shape, except for a few mild cases of influenza and that Harry (Hurry) Cain, star fullback, was greatly improved.

Former N. D. Stars To Play for Charity

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Twenty-two former Notre Dame football players have agreed to take part in a football game here December 18, for benefit of the Boys' Club of St. Louis, according to Father Charles P. Maxwell, executive secretary of the club.

They include Jack Elder, Bucky O'Connor, Moon Mullins, Tom Conley, Tommy Yarr and Jack Cannon.

FREE GOLF AT YALE

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 30.—(INS.)—Sons of Old Eli today had an opportunity to correct that slice—free of charge. Every Yale undergraduate, it is announced, can take free lessons from Ben Thomson, coach of Yale's golf team.

GRIDDER DIES

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Injured in a sandlot football game, George Kampar, 21, died last night. His skull was fractured in scrimmage Sunday.

BUSINESS

Rate of Trade Gain Is Slower Says Review

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

BUSINESS WAS somewhat better in October than in September. There has been improvement in each month since July, but the rate of increase has slowed up noticeably in the past five or six weeks.

This summarizes the progress of general business as shown by the monthly review of the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Pittsburgh.

In speaking of activity in October the review said that certain of the major consumption goods industries—textiles, food products and shoes—continued to show the greatest activity during October, although there were gains in the production of iron and steel, cement, and plate glass. Coal mining was materially accelerated during the month, the gain in output of both bituminous and anthracite being more than seasonal. A significant revival in gold mining has occurred in recent months also. Freight carloadings reached the usual seasonal peak in the latter part of October, but the peak was considerably lower than it was in October last year. Electric power sales were up again during the month. It is apparent, therefore, that improvement since the middle of the summer, although irregular, has extended to many industries.

* * *

Employment Remains Gravest Problem

IN COMMENTING on the problems facing business today the review said:

"Despite these encouraging developments, business is still faced with a number of difficult problems, one of the most important being the vast numbers of unemployed. Although some of the unemployed have gone back to work during the last three months, by far the larger proportion of them are still without jobs. The problem is even more critical when it is remembered that many of the unemployed have exhausted their savings, and they must, therefore, depend on charity. Moreover, technological improvement in industry is expected to continue replacing workers. The price situation, owing to unequal price drops, is still severely out of adjustment; raw commodities, especially, have declined much more than have finished goods. This has reduced the purchasing power of all those groups engaged in the production of raw commodities, not only in the United States, but in many foreign countries.

* * *

Finance Developments Continue Uncertain

THE REVIEW FINDS that during the past month or two, financial developments have been both favorable and unfavorable. On the favorable side may be listed a further gain in gold holdings, continued low interest rates, strength of the dollar in foreign exchanges, and growing excess reserves of member banks. On the other hand, some of the unfavorable developments were the continued decline in commercial loans at banks, an excessive accumulation of funds in the larger financial circles, an increase in bank failures, a weakening tendency in the bond market in all groups except government issues, and renewed commodity price weakness.

In commenting specifically on Pittsburgh business the review said:

"In the Pittsburgh district, business reflected a further gain, but the improvement was less impressive than it was in September. Moreover, the weekly index of business activity has shaded off perceptibly since the first week of November. The monthly index increased from 45.4 (revised) in September to 46.2 (preliminary) in October. In October last year, the index stood at 59.8 and in October, 1930, at 91.4. The improvement in business activity in the district was due to gains in production and shipments, since the volume of trade and the volume of business settlements were reduced."

SLUMP TURNS SPOTLIGHT ON RUSSIA

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The present halting movement of the economic machines in so-called capitalist countries has spotlighted the Russian experiment in a planned economy.

Furthermore, the current fashion of debt default has to a degree tended to lift Russia out of the outlaw class in connection with the Soviet's repudiation of the debts of earlier regimes to private investors.

Mr. Rukeyser

Accordingly Elisha M. Friedman, trained in capitalist management and finance, who has just written a thoughtful appraisal entitled, "Russia in Transition: A Business Man's Appraisal," is hopeful of readmission of Russia into the family of nations. He indicates that such a development could give economic stimulus to the rest of the world.

Hitherto all too much of what has been written about the economics of the Soviets was confused by prejidice, propaganda and the astigmatism of observers. Mr. Friedman, former business associate of Eugene Meyer, Jr., governor of the Federal Reserve Board, has done a notable job in expressing the accomplishments and weaknesses of the Soviet in terms of authentic bookkeeping. The result is useful, particularly since Russia has already tried numerous experiments, which are being proposed elsewhere.

In presenting his conclusion and forecast, Mr. Friedman indicates that the Russian experiment may terminate in "the greatest economic crash in the world" unless greater outside co-operation is given. He contends:

"The world is an organic unit. When one nation is suffering, be it Germany or Russia, the world as a whole must suffer. And the restoration of Russia to economic life as a member of the family of nations should stimulate industry everywhere. The opening of our West created a boom for our industrial East, indeed for the whole country. Similarly, the economic building up of Russia should stimulate the manufacturing nations, indeed the world as a whole. A world conference on Russia, involving some reasonable settlement of debts, on a basis similar to that now likely to be offered to the other defaulting nations in Europe and South America, should precede any plan for full readmittance into the family of nations. That Russia is likely to accept any reasonable terms is obvious. With credit costs ranging around 30 per cent per annum as a burden on a total foreign trade of about $1,000,000,000, Russia is virtually paying interest on the total of her defaulted debt without receiving any benefit therefrom. A composition with her creditors would restore her credit, facilitate her foreign trade, and do much toward restoring world prosperity."

STOCK PRICES SINK UNDER SELLING

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—The stock market slipped through the lower limits of its recent trading range today.

The market picked up a little speed on the decline, but there was nothing to suggest more than normal-sized offerings, presumably by tired investment and speculative holders who had been holding patiently for weeks without evidence of gains in values. Rails, which in the early dealings were up nearly a point on the average, were sold rather freely. Santa Fe and Union Pacific lost 3 points or so. New York Central, Pennsylvania and Southern Pacific declined about a point. Favorite industrial and utility stocks during the September rise were among the heavier shares.

Mid-week business indices again attested to the seasonal recession of trade, although electric power production and car loadings, after allowance for the Thanksgiving Day intermission, made fairly favorable showings. While New York Central's loadings were down to 78,936 cars, against 90,697 the week before, the road reported its best 1932 weekly comparison with the corresponding 1931 week for the year to date. Volume was off only 7.2 per cent, compared with 1931, against 10.4 per cent last week.

Considerable interest was shown in the prospect of a fairly early report next year from the National Transportation Committee, which will recommend legislative changes aimed at a better coordinated and controlled transportation system. The committee will meet again next week, at which time the railroads will submit their side of the case. This prospect, while generally regarded favorably, was somewhat offset by the deferment of action on the Burlington dividend, which again called attention to the low earning state of the carriers even under slightly improved autumn traffic conditions.

Commodity prices as a whole showed a fairly steady undertone, although there was a slight weakening of copper quotations, presumably influenced by reports of a rift in the international copper conference now under way. Standard Oil of New York announced a reduction in gasoline prices in sections of its eastern territory.

SELLING WAVE HITS COTTON

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Cotton futures opened steady, 6-9 points advance, in response to higher Liverpool cables and on the advance in sterling exchange. December, 5.92; January, 5.94; March, 6.03; May, 6.12; July, 6.19; October, 6.36.

The early upturn attracted increased southern selling and realizing and prices reacted to the previous close or lower.

The March position advanced to 6.03c at the outset and reacted to 5.94c, or 1 point under the previous close.

The decline extended to losses of 10 to 17 points from initial levels under southern, New Orleans and local selling, the latter being promoted by easiness of the stock market. Trade buying was less activity. March contracts sold off from 6.03 to 5.89, with the general market establishing net losses of 2 to 7 points. Selling pressure tapered off at these levels and around mid-day prices were 1 point net lower to 2 points higher.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 30.—Cotton, 5,000 bales, including 4,200 American. Spot in fair demand; prices three points higher. Quotations in pence: American, strict good middling, 6.08; good middling, 5.83; strict middling, 5.58; middling, 5.38; strict low middling, 5.23; low middling, 5.03; strict good ordinary, 4.88; good ordinary, 4.58. Futures closed easy—December, 5.03; January, 5.06; March, 5.08; May, 5.10; July, 5.11; October, 5.12.

DIVIDEND NEWS

G. W. Helme Extra.

The G. W. Helme Company declared an extra dividend of $2 in addition to the regular quarterly of $1.25 on the common, payable January 2 to record of December 10. The company usually declares an extra dividend in November.

* * *

No Action on Burlington.

Burlington Railway directors took no action on the dividend at today's meeting. It was stated that a further meeting of the board will be held later in the year at which dividend action will be considered. The stock, owned jointly by the Great Northern and Northern Pacific roads, pays $3 semi-annually.

Professor of Economics New York University.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Our present monetary situation is the result of part economic ins.

During the war and there- ter, we plunged into inflation, e had much gold, but on top that we piled a mass of dit, as usual in great war iods.

The banks had most of the gold. t they used it as a basis for panding loans and deposits. he volume of checks drawn in- reased enormously, and checks on bank deposits are a sort of credit currency, or paper money.

All this went along with great and widespread overspending by the people, and a huge mass of debts accumulated.

Of course, prices were rising, as both the volumes of money and the rapidity of its circulation were greatly increased.

It is necessary to understand this, because today we are paying the price for the preceding credit spree. The over-expansion of credit currency (including bank checks) is being corrected. The "water" is being squeezed out of currency and securities.

At the same time prices have come down, chiefly because the inflated credit structure has been deflated, and as bank deposits decline the volume of checks declines.

DEFLATION AT WORK

We got so much gold during and after the war that our prices would probably have risen even if we had stuck more closely to gold and had not so greatly increased our credit money. But with the piling up of credit dollars on the gold base, prices fairly soared.

Now they are coming back to earth. The general price level is probably not far from what represents a normal relation between gold and other commodities.

But those who got into debt during the war and post-war credit spree, are in bad shape. They find dollars harder to get, not because there is less gold—we have, perhaps, too much of that—but because their credit is poor and prices are low.

So, many people who are in debt figure that if we would manufacture more money they could get some of it more easily. They figure that if we would, they would only have to pay their creditors half as much gold.

Now if we could make two assumptions, this notion might not be so bad. If all people were debtors or creditors, and if all debts were made when prices were high and dollars worth little, the argument would be stronger.

But I am neither a debtor nor a creditor. I am just a salaried man with a little money saved in the bank and a small amount of life insurance. I think most of my readers are in about the same fix.

SEES "MIDDLE CLASS" HURT

To us, the devaluation of the dollar could easily mean ruin. That is just what devaluation meant to large classes in foreign countries. It would cut our money, salaries and wages in two. It would cut our savings and our insurance policies in two.

All fixed or relatively fixed incomes would be reduced in purchasing power.

Most empahatically I deny that we should try to relieve the farm debtor by tinkering with our standard money in a way that would hurt all of us.

It is highly probable that a threatening move to devalue the dollar would at once plunge business into a crisis. Creditors would at once make strenuous efforts to collect their debts so they could get rid of their dollars before these are cut. All business arrangements would be disrupted in the general crash, everybody would be hurt.

The greatest sufferers would be the wage earners, salaried men and the middle classes in general. The purchasing power of their incomes would be reduced.

The "dollar revaluators" are much like Bryanism in the nineties. The free silverites wanted more money and to reduce the importance of gold. These notions always crop out in major depressions.

World Zinc, Lead Output Increases

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Signs of resistance came into the bond market today and a number of recently depressed issues steadied with little pressure apparent. Foreign bonds generally responded to the rebound of sterling. United States government obligations were quiet and rather dull.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows (000 omitted in sales column; United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

POWER OUTPUT DECLINES

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP.)—Electric power production in the week ended November 26, which included Thanksgiving Day, decreased somewhat more than at the same time a year ago, but at a slightly slower pace than in either 1929 or 1930, the National Electric Light Association reported today.

Last week's production was 1,475,268,000 kilowatt hours against 1,531,584,000 in the previous week. For the corresponding 1931 weeks, the figures were 1,599,900,000 against 1,655,051,000.

Production for the week was 7.8 per cent below the corresponding 1931 rate. The week before, the margin of decline was 7.5 per cent, which followed two weeks when the decrease stood at 6.3 per cent.

In comparison with the 1931 period, gains were shown in the Atlantic seaboard states and in New England alone, but these increases were more than counterbalanced by a slight decline in the Pacific coast states and a rather sharp contraction in the Central industrial area.

COURAGE URGED ON INVESTORS

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(Universal).—An upward turn in business is indicated for 1933 and resulting profits will go primarily to firms exhibiting superior management, Merryle Stanley Rukeyser declared in a radio broadcast last night.

Rukeyser, nationally - known financial authority and columnist for Universal Service, in the light of this prediction urged the investor "to get out of the storm cellar, and have the fortitude to act—not on his own hunches, or anyone else's, but in accordance with actual data adduced from a careful and conscientious analysis."

Speaking over WINS, New York, in the first of a series of Tuesday evening addresses designed to inform the layman about current investment conditions and opportunities, Rukeyser said:

"Business volume and profits have sunk so low in 1932 that it would appear that the line of least resistance next year would be moderately upward."

Oil Production Off, Gas Stocks Increase

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Domestic crude oil production during the week ended November 26 averaged 2,099,250 barrels daily, a decrease of 11,850 barrels daily from the previous week, according to the American Petroleum Institute.

Total motor fuel stocks in the United States increased 700 barrels during the week to 50,160,000 barrels.

New England Roads Cut Pick-Up Rates

BOSTON, Nov. 30.—A reduction in rates by which pick-up and store-door delivery of less than carload freight will be handled at standard railroad station-to-station rates will be established on all the Northern New England railroads on January 1, it was announced by the Boston and Maine Railroad.

THREE WOMEN

A Story of the Conflicting Natures Of Different Generations

By FAITH BALDWIN

Basil Goes to London When His Father Dies, But Plans to Return

CHAPTER XXXV.

Elizabeth knelt by her bed, she prayed. She asked a God grown very remote if it were her fault. She pondered on the heritage with which she had, perhaps, burdened her child—an inheritance of secrecy and passion.

She saw beauty in that heritage, but a shameful beauty. She was afraid.

Had Basil Staines asked Joyce to marry him? Had he? Would she?

But she could not ask the girl. Joyce, had her mother known, had not thought of marriage. After that first revelation, that day there in the little winter of the park, she had remembered in a disturbed amazement. Then it passed. This was 1926. Men didn't propose nowadays, not as they had in the earlier eras, when they had asked and been answered before they took their betrothal kiss. Now—well, sometimes you married and sometimes you didn't, but you kissed all the same.

Did she want to marry him?

Basil, for his part, pondered no such question. He was in love with Joyce. That was all there was to it. He'd been in love before, but never like this. Now and then he was faintly agitated by the thought that the protestation had a new ring to it, the ring of sound metal.

Marriage had not entered into his scheme of things. He was not the marrying type, he thought. He was too young, there was no money.

RETURNS TO ENGLAND

He gave no consideration to Joyce's financial prospects. His mother was an American, she had brought a dowry to her husband. But the dowry was not the main thing, and the Staines name was of not enough importance to offer for exchange in the open market.

He wanted Joyce.

Nowadays, one wanted and one had, quite often. Basil's youth was a matured youth. He had grown up overnight, it seemed, in the forcing-house atmosphere of England after the war.

One wanted, and one had. Nice girls, girls with background.

It all boiled down to one thing. He was not sure of her. He could not say, "She belongs to me. The rest is technicality."

Then, in the early spring, a cable reached him that his father was very dangerously ill and he sailed for home. He sent Joyce a wire before he left and a letter from the ship. He had not seen her for several days previously; it would be long before he would see her again.

Joyce went on with her work. She went on with it with a new wonder, a freshness of dedication. Something had gone from her which left her empty, unsatisfied, aching with loneliness, which left her clearer of vision, more herself. She felt like a person who had been ill for months, who rises free of fever, who looks upon the world with new, recovered eyes, who is weak and uncertain yet who possesses a new hold upon life.

BASIL'S DAD DIES

She worked herself weary. She had taken on new subjects at the start of the term, she was gaining, very slowly, a step on her long, difficult road. There were long hours during which she forgot Basil entirely. But there were others when, relaxed, unutterably fatigued, she would lie through the darkness of the nights and remember his face in unappeasing flashes, remember his kisses and cry for wanting him near. Nights when she said, "I love him—I can't endure it." And days when she woke and went to her work and asked herself, "Do I love him—after all?"

Basil Staines' father died before he reached England. Arriving, he found himself just in time for the funeral and the dreaded post-funeral routine. His younger sister, Muriel, was home from her Paris school, his brother, Julien, now head of his house, was there with his young wife. Basil had never been very intimate with Julien, although they were so nearly of an age. Prowling restlessly around the London house with its atmosphere of closed doors and conferences, Basil wished himself away again. He had loved his father, he would always regret that he had not been in time, but his nerves had been badly shaken by his loss, he had all youth's intolerance of the general settling down into an acceptance of bereavement, of the whole tedious business of readjustment.

Basil had been his father's favorite, and Staines had left as much as he could to his son. The estate was entailed. Julien came in for the lion's share, a very modest share in these days. Sally Morgan had always had a substantial income of her own, until the war. Then with certain losses in investments, increased living expenses, she found herself much curtailed financially.

FRED HELPS

It was agreed that Basil should return to New York. The family had been convinced by Van Alstyne that there he would have more opportunity. Fred, out of his affection for the boy, his long friendship with Lady Staines, had organized the small import company, made Basil head of the New York office, solely with a view to Basil's future.

Basil's mother sat in her morning room with him, some week or so after his arrival. The room was pleasantly furnished in old pieces and gay chintz, and a feeble light, rapidly strangling with mist, was coming in at tall windows. Sally, very plump these days, pale in her black frock, sat before her desk and looked at her son with some uneasiness. Her round face was growing lined, there was a permanent pucker between her brows, but her hair was as unsynthetically golden as ever, her eyes as clear a gray, she had retained her engaging dimples.

"When do you sail?"

He named the date.

"Basil—you're altered."

"Am I?"

He seemed morose, distrait. She spoke of Van Alstyne who had been exceedingly helpful to her during the last weeks, who had come back from Paris on her cable, bringing Muriel with him. She said, hesitatingly,

"He believes in you. I want you to justify that."

SURPRISES MOTHER

Basil nodded. He had seen Fred twice, would see him again.

A silence fell between them. From the hall he could hear his sister talking in her light, rapid voice to Julien's wife.

Suddenly Sally laughed a little, very softly. She had discovered, she thought, the reason for Basil's moods. Such symptoms had long been familiar to her, but in the general sorrow and disturbance she had failed to diagnose them. Now she did, looking at him with affectionate, tired eyes in which a spark of unquenchable merriment still shone.

"You're in love again!"

He did not speak to deny it.

"An American?" she asked.

The inarticulate growl passed for assent. She asked, not laughing now, a little worried, "Who? Is it—serious?"

"Her name is Joyce Sheldon. You know her people."

"Not Lennox Sheldon's daughter?"

"Yes."

Lady Staines was silent. She was accustomed to think of herself as Charles' wife—as the mother of Julien, Basil and Muriel. But Lennox Sheldon had not aged with herself in her memory, he had died young, he remained in her recollection as she had last seen him, a slim, eager boy, younger than herself. For a moment she closed her eyes and was little Sally Morgan again, the ice smooth and perilous under her feet, a boy's arm holding her safely. She was back in an ornate nursery in an old-fashioned house, listening to a graphophone. She was dancing.

WANTS TO MARRY

With an effort she brought her mind back to the less distant past but still so far away. She pondered on Lennox's marriage, his death.

"Have you a photograph of her?"

Basil shook his head.

"Describe her then."

He made a gesture of futility. It was so hard to put Joyce in words, to cage her lovely vitality in a phrase.

"She's tall, she has dark hair—it curls all over her head. She's slender and her eyes are so blue they're black."

After a moment he added, "I want to marry her——"

During the pause which followed he was astonished at himself. But it was true. He wanted to marry her, to have her for his own, to get fine, laughing children by her, to grow old, with her beside him. He had missed her so, since leaving her. She had grown into a part of him, a dearer part. His other affairs had been serious enough, emotionally, but they had left him empty, not desolate, but drained. Some had been passionate and unculminated flirtations which had evaporated into indifference, or even friendship. Others, a few, had reached a specific climax—and had ended in the same way. But this was different. Of course he had said that before, but this time he was sure that he was sure. He looked at his mother with that little-boy appeal in his eyes which never failed to move her.

"Does she love you?"

"I think so."

"An American," mused Lady Staines, who had married an Englishman shortly after her seventeenth birthday, at the very beginning of her first London season.

RECALLS MRS. SHELDON

Basil laughed at the very slight tone of disapproval.

"What are you, darling?"

She looked up at him, smiling.

"I suppose so—but then, I've lived here so long. I became so identified with your father, his interests, his country." Her voice failed her here, she paused a moment before she went on, "And when I was a girl in New York, things were very different. Of course I was very young, a child really—but girls were different, the older ones."

"So are English girls now, Mother."

"Yes," she admitted, "the dreadful war."

"You'll wish me luck?" he asked her after a moment.

She rose then, came and kissed him.

"With all my heart. Is she like her father? I never knew her mother."

"Fred says she's very like

"Tell me more about Joyce," his mother said.

Sheldon. You knew the old lady, of course?"

"Mrs. Sheldon?" Lady Staines remembered. "Yes, she was a friend of my mother's, although somewhat older—a very strong character."

"That's a polite way of putting it." Basil agreed. "Of course if Joyce marries me I'll have to accept the dowager as my real mother-in-law."

"But Joyce's mother—?"

"Doesn't count."

"No, I can see that she wouldn't," said Lady Staines, thoughtfully.

"I like her," Basil pursued. "She has something very charming about her. She's like a small, very gentle little ghost. What a horror that house of theirs is, inside. It hasn't changed since you were last in it, I am sure of that. I hope Grandmother doesn't demand that we live with her."

"Tell me more about Joyce."

"I—can't," he confessed, and his mother, recognizing a new note in his voice, Basil, always so ready to talk, was growing reticent, "But she's all I want. You understand." He paused and laughed, a little. "She's in college now, Barnard, taking some extraordinary courses. You wouldn't believe it if you could see her—biology and all that sort of thing. But she's immensely, amusingly serious about it all."

"Why amusingly?" asked Lady Staines, in arms for her sex.

"Oh, why not? A little sweet thing like that fooling around in laboratories? But, she'll soon get over it."

His jaw set. He looked very like his father at the moment, much more than dark Julien. He was more like him, thought Lady Staines, and for a brief moment she both envied and pitied Joyce Sheldon.

In common with many articulate people Basil wrote a charming letter, in a readable, small hand. He wrote Joyce almost every day so that several letters would come for her at a time. Such letters—ardent, unrestrained! Joyce read and reread them.

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

Evelyn Parker, "official reporter" of the Manor Chapter of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, sends in the following items about the members: The members of the Tau Alpha Beta Sorority, an organization composed of members of the Manor Chapter, are planning to hold a show for the needy families of their district. Those taking part will be: Melva Malcrauer, Evelyn Parker, Helen Ranch, Marcella Rice, Ruth Golomb, Thelma Nathan and Rose Lichstein.

When Manager Joe Blowitz announced at the meeting Saturday that Herbert Reich, of Woodmont street, was recovering fast from his recent appendicitis operation, all the members stood up and cheered. Herbert is one of the most popular members of our club.

Chicago's gain will be our loss. Another popular member, Jack Louis, resigned from the club last week. His parents have moved to the Windy City, taking Jack with them, of course. Some of the members gave him a farewell party last week.

Many new faces were seen around the theater last week. Manager Blowitz reports that the number of youngsters enrolling in the club is the greatest since the club was organized. Louise Koman, Elaine Brecko, Donald Levine, Ralph Weiner and Jean Schwartz are just a few who joined last week.

Last week the people living in the 5500 block on Wilkins avenue, wondered what all the "kiddies" were doing standing outside of 5530. They were the classmates of Marcella Rice who has been confined to her home for the past 10 days with a severe cold. However, she is much improved and expects to attend the meeting this Saturday.

Rose Bagran, who spent the Thanksgiving holidays in New York, wrote to the members that she was having a grand time and that her mother took her shopping twice and she has nearly all her Christmas presents bought. Lucky Rose!

Jean Ramber, of Wightman street, recently injured in an automobile accident, is rapidly recovering and hopes to be back to school and the regular meetings by next week.

Here's good news! Maxine Ranch, who formerly live in this district and who was a member of this chapter, is moving back to Pittsburgh from Indiana. She writes that one of the first things she is going to do, even before she unpacks her dollies, is to rejoin the Manor Chapter.

Bert Unger for the boys and Jeanie Coury for the girls were the winners in the balloon blowing contest Saturday, while Julian Hoechstetter and Dorothy Mintz won the cracker eating contest.

Manager Joe Blowitz plans a big surprise for the members at the meeting this Saturday, and if you don't want to miss it, be at the theater promptly at 1 o'clock.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAYS

Congratulations to the following boys and girls, all members of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, who are celebrating their birthdays today:

The Bridge Falls on Horatio

Here's a testimonial wreath of razzberries for the penny-a-pointers.

A penny-a-point ain't much when you're buying railroad spikes. But it's quite a lot when you're purchasing pins or playing contract bridge.

And here's the good bulletins for the bridge tenders. If you get embezzled 13 tricks on a grand slam, doubled and redoubled, you are set for 20,600 points.

Figure that out on your yearly budget. At a penny a point it is two hundred and six dollars. Therefore, my old contract addicts, you had better be careful these long winter nights.

Creep along slowly in your bidding for the next rung may be missing.

Don't bid any gorgeous slams or grand slaps. And if your opponents double, don't take in too much territory. Stop and ponder. Don't look at your partner. Even Mussolini can't help you.

Just figure the penalties. Then reach for the checker board and go back to some reliable game like water polo or wide end run.

The penny-a-pointers have been the snooteriest people of the suburbs. But they ain't going to be so aloof since the Prophet Ely got through changing the rules. It is going to stop shooting at the moon. And even the wildest bidder is going to incorporate his bidding and try to bring himself back alive.

Two hundred and six beanoros is too much rolling stock to invest in one hand of contract bridge. We all like to trumpet the arrival of the grandiolent slam and plaster the re-double on the double.

From now on, we are playing one-tenth-of-a-penny a point. And if we had our way we would shove the decimal dot further over toward the setting sun.

When you start figuring pennies out in dollars you are swimming in the red. And The Bug thunders at you from his collapsible pulpit.

At that rate it is no longer amusement. It becomes a new way of stampeding the rent money.

LAMAR CRIME WAVE NIPPED IN THE BUD.

(From the Lamar, Mo., Democrat)

Nightwatch Dick Staatz arrested the bicycle of Charlie Gardner Monday evening. Dick said he had been telling Charlie to get a light for his bike, but Charlie would only answer tantalizingly, and fail to get a light. Another boy was riding the bike, when Dick saw it. He took possession of the wheel, and started for the calaboose with it. The officer said Charlie gave him a good cussing out, whereat the officer slapped him. He locked the bike in the calaboose, and told its youthful owner he could have the wheel when he got a light for it.

Show Him Who Is Boss

Mayor Kline's Defiance of the Taxpayers Calls for a Demonstration of Their Power.

Tacked up on the wall in the offices of humorously inclined gentlemen one used to see a placard with a legend something like this:

"If you want to know who is boss around here, start something."

Mayor Charles H. Kline has started something. Disregarding the citizens' warning that taxes must be reduced, he has submitted to Council a budget that calls for a four-mill increase in the levy on land, indeed a seven-mill increase if the current deficit is to be wiped out.

Mayor Kline has calmly ignored the advice of taxpayers' organizations who, after months of study by experts, had pointed out where economies could be effected.

He has brushed aside the recommendations of the Building Owners and Managers Association by which savings could have been effected in the administration of the public buildings.

He has given no heed to the carefully prepared reports of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board's Community Research Bureau.

He has turned a deaf ear to the appeal of the Chamber of Commerce, and of every other civic and trade body which has prayed for relief from the tax burden.

The Mayor calls for increases in the appropriations of nine of the bureaus. He allows the payroll to stand virtually intact, with wages and salaries at the peak of prosperity level. But the people less able to pay taxes than they were in 1929, he asks them to pay more.

Taxes must come down.

It is up to the taxpayers to let Mayor Kline and the Council know who is boss.

More Election Fraud

Judge McNaugher, Who Showed Leniency to Violators of 1931, Hears of Fresh Tampering With Ballots.

Judge W. H. McNaugher heard testimony yesterday that the ballot box in the Fourth Ward of Stowe Township was broken open after the recent election and 100 straight Democratic votes altered in favor of Republican candidates. He heard similar testimony as to the Third Ward.

Judge McNaugher sat in many cases in which persons were accused of law violations in last year's election. Verdicts of guilty were obtained against 12 defendants, but Judge McNaugher showed leniency to them all. Paroles were granted in eight cases, new trials (subsequently nol prossed) in three, and sentence was suspended in the twelfth.

Judges E. W. Marshall and Heber Dithrich and Visiting Judges Hildebrand, Smith and Henderson also showed leniency to violators of the election laws. In fact, of 77 persons who were either convicted or pleaded guilty, only 22 were given jail sentences, and of these 22 seven were paroled before serving a day and the 15 others before they had completed their terms.

The Prothonotary of the Supreme Court is responsible for the assignment of visiting judges.

The widespread fraud at the recent election may well have been the fruit of that mistaken policy of leniency in the cases of the crooks of 1931.

Philippine Independence

American Sovereignty Should Not Be Relinquished Until The Country Understands the Effect.

In their permanent influence upon the future of the American people as a great and powerful nation, the most far-reaching legislative proposals to be seriously considered by the Seventy-second Congress at its coming and concluding session have to do with the independence of the Philippine Islands.

No Senator or Representative in Congress, Democrat or Republican, will be true to his oath of office who fails to study carefully the ultimate effect of this legislation upon his own country and the world.

And any Senator or Representative in Congress, Democrat or Republican, who votes for or against this legislation as a political partisan will demonstrate his unfitness to discharge the responsibility of a national legislator.

Both the Hare bill, which the House passed at the last session under a gag rule limiting debate to 45 minutes, and the Hawes-Cutting bill, which it is predicted will be jammed through the Senate by cloture at the coming session, have as their common purpose the setting up of an independent republic in the Far East, or Western Pacific.

Hauling down the Stars and Stripes throughout the Philippine Islands will be an event of grave international concern whenever it occurs. In view of the chaotic condition created on the mainland of Asia by China's civil war and aggravated by Japan's aggressive intervention in Manchuria, the gravity of such an event will be enormously increased if it occurs at the short session of the Congress.

This event will be of direct concern to the United States, whether viewed from the standpoint of national interest or international morality, because of the sole responsibility of the United States for the alienation of all the territory included in the Philippine archipelago which the present Congress threatens to make.

Only three times since the Civil War has the United States taken action comparable in international importance with the abandonment of American sovereignty over the Philippine Islands for which the pending Philippine bills provide.

These three acts were:

First, the Spanish war with the subsequent establishment of an Independent Cuba.

Second, the suppression of the Philippine insurrection and the taking over of the Philippines, an act which gave to the United States the right to speak, as in its own house, on Far Eastern questions.

Third, the entry into the World War, with the consequences that have ensued.

Because of the proximity of Cuba to the United States, and the Platt Amendment reserving certain American rights and making it incumbent upon the United States to extend to Cuba a helping hand, the establishment of an independent government in Cuba was of far less world significance than the establishment of a republic of the Philippines would be at the present time.

In view of the outstanding significance and the far-reaching consequences to the United States and the world which the setting up of an independent republic in the Far East would now involve, it is imperative that both Houses of the present Congress weigh all pending Philippine bills with the utmost care, examine them thoroughly and impartially, and debate them until the country clearly understands what the immediate and ultimate effect of this legislation will be.

Obviously no Congress can give at a short session adequate consideration to the pending proposals for Philippine independence—least of all a "lame duck" Congress facing the paramount duty of waging war on starvation and clearing the way for the return of 10,000,000 jobless Americans to work and for the revival of normal prosperity.

Can't Get By With That!

By Nelson Harding

The armament is much too large
For he who brings that plea to barge
Through doorways at a rapid rate
Of speed designed to crash the gate.

The opening is not so wide
That plea and gun can get inside,
Nor can the visitor ignore
The notice seen beside the door.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Every Woman's Problem

Every man has what he thinks is a "method" with woman; and nearly every man fancies that he has found the key to the feminine heart, or at least the surest approach to the feminine imagination.

* * *

A woman, on the other hand, soon discovers that every man is a brand new study in psychology and fits her "method" to the individual. Like the clever costumer, she studies each man's style and type—and "cuts her cloth," accordingly.

* * *

The three most popular and successful methods of breaking down a man's resistance, in these days are: (1) Getting into his imagination. (2) Backing him into matrimony. (2) Hunting him down.

Some men have to be won with applesauce, coddling and tactful sympathy. They never actually discover that they are in love until they wake up some morning and suddenly find that all the little acts of thoughtfulness, with which a woman has surrounded them (and lulled their caution to rest), are absolutely necessary to them. Nobody is so astonished as a man who discovers that some harmless-looking little thing has gotten into his imagination; and that he is dependent upon her for everything, from companionship and understanding to the aspirin.

* * *

Another kind of man would shy and break for the open at the first hint of "mothering." He has to be blindfolded and backed into the shafts. Perversity is his ruling passion. The only way to hold him is to hold him OFF. And the only way to catch him is to pretend to run away from him.

Still another kind of man (although not so numerous, in these days) must be hunted down and held up. He simply cannot be coaxed, flattered or fooled. A girl might feed him banana-oil all evening, without filling him with anything except suspicion.

* * *

But, once she looks him in the eye and calmly INFORMS him that he loves her and that everything is settled, he will meekly accept her ultimatum. What he has been waiting for is a COMMAND—and he will obey it like a good little soldier.

* * *

There are, of course, a dozen other methods—the "good-pal" method, the "helpless" method, the "yes-and-no-keep-'em-guessing" method—and all their variations.

* * *

But, first, know your man—and don't get your methods mixed!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—A private opinion, herewith publicly voiced, is that much of the theater's trouble is not altogether inroads of the talkies, the dearth of good plays or a confusion of et ceteras. The truth is: The times have changed but actors have not.

There was a yesterday when Ethel Barrymore's tremulously throaty: "That's all there is, there isn't any more!" might have been—although I think it debatable—superb acting. Today it would sound 100 per cent ham. Yet talented players continue to bite chunks out of the scenery.

The theater, along with banking, skyscraper building and the like, is at grips with a universal demand for restraint. The tempo is pianissimo. I notice that dramas lingering longest are those cozily simple outputs stressing a naturalness among the players. Pauline Lord in the "Late Christopher Bean," for instance.

Also, a pronounced example of this muted motif is "Another Language." Its emotionalism is dishwashy, and it brings not a single smart line to the theater. It reveals a cross-section of middle-class New York life, without an exaggeration or strain for anti-climax.

Life itself has drenched its surfeit of melodrama. Few illusions surpass the bleak realities of the past three years. That, so it seems to me, is the why of a tug for unashamed simplicities. The theater feels, too, Ariel's age-old jibe: "Your swords are too massy for you strength."

In an authentic tip-off, I learn one of my favorite movie stars, Lionel Barrymore, is an accomplished steel etcher, a dabbler in water colors of distinction, and, now and then, fashions a merry roundelay. But, poet, artist, painter and actor he may be, he's discouraging at parties. He falls asleep before 10.

At the Racquet Club—I pop in, now and then, for a few rubbers of squash—they discussed old-time wine agents of the days when Manny Chapelle would drop in and buy for the house. There was one—Kessler by name—who furnished excellent reason for adopting his calling. "I'd have to buy it anyway," he explained.

A social snigger of the season was a radio broadcast from a private house in Greenwich. Graham McNamee was present to announce that it was the first experiment in broadcasting from domestic privacy. He introduced, with flowered rhetoric, various guests over the microphone. One grew steamy about his valor during the war. When all finished, McNamee shouted: "There is no hook-up. You mugs have been talking to yourselves." And took it on the lam.

A few years back, Texas Guinan would announce nightly: "And now a dance by Georgie Raft!" He was a slick-haired, nimble hoofer with a dead pan, but that was all—a fill-in. Today he's one of the movie's best bets. And I wonder if others notice the composite likeness of Raft to Jack Pickford and Valentino.

The youthful glum Howard Hughes confounds older and wiser at movie conferences. Shrewdly conscious of juniorship, he talks little, but listens. Asked why, he said: "If you keep quiet long enough, you win." It often takes a lifetime to learn that.

A celebrated boulevardier has, for 30 years, arisen at 3 p. m., walked through Central Park to a mid-town restaurant where he breakfasts at 4. Later, he goes to a gym for a workout, rides horseback and, at 9, is ready for wassail in a big way, often winding up leading a jazz orchestra at dawn. For years, he has squired selective beauties of Broadway here and there. The other night, he appeared alone, outfitted with an ear telephone. "Anyway," chirped the observing Watterson Rothacker, "he has wound up with his own telephone number."

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Are women better sports than men?

Do they stand disappointment and humiliation more gamely? Are they better natured and more patient when their egotism is nicked?

If you're a male reader you're going to snort an indignant "No!" to each one of those questions. You're going to point out the fact that females have always been considered peevish and unreasonable; alluring but weak cry-babies, who must be protected against the hard knocks of life.

Sure, they have—by the males! But, cutting out tradition and getting down to brass tacks, who's the better sport, judged by actual performance—the modern man or the modern woman?

Says young Mrs. Ben Reynolds—

But read it for yourself:

Dear Miss Robinson:

Why can't men be good sports? Yes, of course I'm meaning my particular man, but I guess we're a typical young couple.

I'm 23; Ben's 25. We've been married two years, and for the last eight months Ben has been out of work. He isn't lazy. He has honestly tried to find it, but you know how it is.

Well, fortunately I have kept my job, so we're able to get along, and the fact that I'm carrying the load doesn't bother me a bit. But it burns Ben up. Honestly he has me so it's awful to live with him. He is so sorry for himself that he whines and sneers all the time. No one can mention any subject that Ben doesn't twist it around to his own bad luck, and the fact that he's got to be "supported by a woman."

Naturally he does some of the housekeeping when I'm out. There isn't much. We have only two rooms. But to hear him tell it, you'd think he was serving a jail sentence.

I've tried to talk to him to show him what a grouch he's getting to be, but he just answers that he isn't whining. He says it is all because he loves me and can't bear to see me work.

I tell him it's a mighty funny way to show his love—being so disagreeable that I hate to come home. It isn't the job that's hard to stand. It's his nagging and self-pity.

Then he gets madder and says it isn't self-pity. He says it's a "man's pride," and that a woman can't understand how a man's pride is hurt when he has to let a woman pay his bills, while he does the housework.

Well, last night I blew up! I had heard that story about "man's pride" about a thousand times, so I asked him did he ever stop to think about woman's pride, and how a modern woman feels when she has to give up her job and stay home and take what a man hands out to her?

I said that maybe once women didn't mind staying home, because they had no place else to go; and housekeeping was more of a job in those days, because there were interesting things to do. But nowadays it is all different.

Nowadays a girl is as proud of her job as a man is of his—and likes her freedom just as much. Moreover, it burns her up just as much to give up the excitement of office life and stick around in a couple of lonesome little rooms, while she watches other girls go to work, as it does a man. Yet, in spite of that, girls are marrying every day and going domestic "with a smile."

SO I SAID THAT, FROM WHAT I'M SEEING, I BELIEVE WOMEN ARE REALLY BETTER SPORTS THAN MEN.

Of course, we've always heard different. We've always heard how brave and game men were. But I guess that was just because they were having everything their own way, and leaving all the really tiresome, monotonous, humiliating, painful jobs to the women.

BUT NOW THAT WE'RE ALL EQUAL, AND MEN HAVE TO STAND WHAT WOMEN HAVE ALWAYS STOOD, THEY ARE SHOWING WHAT BAD SPORTS THEY REALLY ARE.

That's what I told Ben last night, and he's still so mad he won't speak to me. I feel terribly, but I still bet I'm right. What do you think, Miss Robinson?

THELMA REYNOLDS.

Lady, this is one of those times when a smart girl doesn't think. So I'm passing it on.

YOU tell her, Stranger, and we'll do the broadcasting.

And the lucky winner of the battle will win a full size, double-thickness, triple-riveted suit of armor. He, or she, will need it!

A Definite Position On Debts Taken

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

The famous conference between the outgoing and incoming Presidents has passed to history, and nothing very tangible has been accomplished. Whatever may have been Mr. Roosevelt's contributions to the discussion, he emerged without commitments of any sort—which is proper. On the heels of the conference, President Hoover issues a statement, and, having read it, Mr. Roosevelt makes a statement of his own. In these two statements one may easily read the difference between the two men.

The statement of President Hoover has much to commend it, albeit there is much in it that does not run in harmony with some of his actions in the past. His assertion that there is no necessary relation between reparations and the debts is sound; but that position, which we had assumed through three administrations, was compromised by the moratorium, in theory, if not in fact. Everywhere among the debtor nations it was hailed as a recognition of a necessary relationship.

* * *

Case Stated With Fairness

But no one has stated the case with more force of fairness than does Mr. Hoover when he says:

"In the matter of reparations and other intergovernmental debts arising from the war, our position is entirely different from that of governments that are both creditors and debtors. Since we owe no obligations of any kind to others, no concession made in respect of a payment owed to us could either in whole or in part be set off or balanced against claims owed by us to any other creditor of our own country. On the contrary every such concession would result in the inevitable transfer of a tax burden from the taxpayers of some other country to the taxpayers of our own, without the possibility of any compensating set-off."

At last we have it!—the use of the word "transfer," on which we have insisted in these columns for more than a year, instead of the use of the misleading word "cancellation." We cannot "cancel" our obligations created to get the money to make the loans; we must pay all if others owing the debts pay none; and, to the extent that we further reduce the transfer burdens from others to ourselves.

* * *

Cites American Taxpayers' Burden

The President reinforces this viewpoint with quotations from our government from the end of the war on. It is the American view.

And in discussing capacity to pay, President Hoover says something we believe has not publicly been said before by any spokesman of the administration, when he points out our own rather desperate condition, and adds:

"The effect upon the American people as taxpayers of any modification with respect to the debts due this country must not be disregarded. Other nations have their budgetary problems. So have we. Other people are heavily burdened with taxes. So are we."

He might have added that the budgetary problems of most of the debtor nations are not so serious as ours, and that the taxes in few of them are so burdensome today.

All of which enters into our "capacity" to pay all or part of the debts that none of the other nations may be burdened with the necessity of paying any. And to a lesser degree, of course, reductions mean the same thing.

Again the President properly interprets the viewpoint of the American people when he says that the question of disarmament enters also into their impatience with the proposal to transfer the debts. But "disarmament" is a strong word and does not mean what it says. Actual disarmament is not proposed. Only a reduction in armament is urged. And until some advocate of the transfer of the debts explains why nations giving more than 80 per cent of their budgets to war purposes cannot reduce this sufficiently to get the 2 per cent necessary for the payment of the debts without endangering the country, few will be impressed by the necessity.

* * *

Right of Debtor To Make Appeal

On one point, the incoming and the outgoing Presidents are in agreement. They agree that any debtor, public or private, has a right to appeal to a creditor for easier terms. But they disagree as to method. Mr. Hoover would re-establish the debt commission for the purpose; Mr. Roosevelt, insisting that we should deal separately with the debtor nations, can see no reason why conversations cannot be carried on through the usual diplomatic channels.

They agree naturally that nothing can be done about the debts except through Congressional action. This is the American way. The power of initiating tax bills was lodged by the Constitution with the House rather than the Senate on the theory that the power should be with those most speedily amenable to the people who pay the taxes. To permit the executive to increase taxes, directly or indirectly, would be a negation of our system.

* * *

Likely to Ask Debt Commission

It appears certain that President Hoover will recommend to Congress the creation of a debt commission; and just as certain that Congress will refuse. The leaders are convinced that the debtor nations can pay—have the capacity to pay. It is significant that this view was expressed both by the Democrats and Republicans who participated in Mr. Hoover's conference with members of House and Senate. The congressional stand is made and here it is:

There shall be no extension of the moratorium.

There shall be no cancellation of the debts.

There shall be no further reduction of the debts at the expense of the American people.

There shall be no revival of the debt commission.

Since this is the fixed determination of Congress at this time, and it is agreed that nothing can be done without congressional sanction, it would seem that, for the moment at least, the debt question is disposed of.

If a plan can be worked out in the line of exchange that will lighten the burden of the debtor nations without imposing new burdens on the American people, something may be accomplished later; but on December 15 the debtor nations will make their unconditional payments under their contracts or default.

* * *

English Attitude To Be Regretted

Under these circumstances it is regrettable that England is planning to send a second note reiterating its request for another postponement in payments due and proposing an international debt conference. How lovely it would be for the United States to enter the room with all the debtors with common purpose, working in close co-operation with each other against our interest! Of course Congress will not consent to anything of the sort; and Mr. Roosevelt has clearly stated his opposition to anything of the kind.

Now that the British government knows the unanimous opinion of the congressional leaders who conferred with the President; now that it knows nothing could come from a second note except agitation and the hardening of opposition in resentment, it is hoped that no second note will be sent.

Once Overs

By J. J. Mundy

If you have ever had a serious illness you can remember your convalescent days as times when you made resolutions as to your future conduct.

First of all you'd live a better life, everything considered.

You'd be more generous, more lenient, more forgiving of others' frailties and more liberal in your efforts for those who could not care for or defend themselves.

But as strength returns what do you do?

Complain about the food offered—the way it is cooked and served.

When there is a little noise—a slight disturbance in the house—you call it a "racket that would raise the dead."

Convalescent resolutions are forgotten and you revert to your fault-finding attitude not only with members of your family, but friends who drop in.

If you'd carry out some of the good thoughts you planned for action when you were ill, you'd be happier yourself and your family might get more pleasure out of living.
